Brutal Murder and Robbery of Aged Recluse Believed Solved by Arrest of Pair.

$27,000 IN CASH FOUND IN ROOM

Confession Tells of Slugging Grandmother of One at Zwingle, Ia., De- tectives Assert.

The solution of a brutal robbery and murder of an aged woman resident of Zwingle, Ia., was solved today, police believe, with the arrest of two nattily-dressed youths, who say they are Leonard Cota, 19, of Bettendorf, Ia., and Harold Kramer, 19, of Great Falls, Mont. In their hotel room police found $27,000 in cash, and a large amount in securities.

They admitted to detectives at Police Headquarters, Chief Kaiser reports, that they slugged, bound and gagged a Mrs. McKittick, who is Cota's grandmother, and robbed her of $27,000 in cash and a large amount in securities.

Police searching the room occupied by the two young men at the Commodore Hotel found the money in portfolios, as well as deeds of trust to property in Iowa, and Iowa.

Word was received from the police at Dubuque, Ia., that Mrs. McKittick was found dead in her cottage at Zwingle, and that she had been strangled. Her grandmother, Cota, was suspected as he disappeared shortly after the crime.

COOLIDGE FAVORS REPEAL OF U. S. INHERITANCE TAX

Believes Federal Government Should Relinquish This Revenue in View of States' Increasing Need for Money.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge favors repeal of the Federal inheritance tax, it was said today at the White House.

The President's position was made clear even while a heated controversy over the inheritance tax was going on before the House Ways and Means Committee.

He believes, as the Treasury recommended, that the Federal Government should withdraw from the field of taxation to permit the states to have this revenue to care for the increased cost of State government.

With the provision allowing the states 50 per cent of this tax, the President believes that it becomes a minor revenue measure and that the states should have the entire benefit of this form of taxation.

2 FALL JURORS SAY THEY WERE APPROACHED

Men Who Heard Oil Conspiracy Trial Evidence Tell of Remarks Directed at Them.

SECOND SINCLAIR EXECUTIVE CALLED

Sheldon Clark, Questioned by District Attorney on Shadowing in Case, Will Go Before Grand Jury.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Two of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy jurors who appeared today before the grand jury said they had been approached during the trial by men who sought to draw out their viewpoint.

The jurors are John J. Costinett and Gardner P. Grenfeld, both of whom said they had been talked to by persons whom they did not know outside of or near the District of Columbia Supreme Court building during the noon recess of the trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall on criminal conspiracy charges.

Costinett said that about a week before the case ended in a mistrial, he was leaving the court-house when a man fell in step with him.

"Say the Government has not got a thing on these fellows, have they?" Costinett quoted the mysterious stranger.

Costinett said he wheeled around and informed his questioner he was a member of the jury trying the case and could not discuss it.

Grenfeld's statement was that he was in a cigar store directly across the street from the court-house when he was approached.

"There has been quite a busy morning in the court," Grenfeld said. "Yes," the juror said he replied.

"What sort of a fellow is this Judge Siddons? Is he a square man?" the juror said he asked.

Costinett said he did not know the fellow, but he did not hold the position he held. Grenfeld said he then left the store, only to be accosted again on the street by the same man.

"Say, you don't think 't'll do anything with those two fellows over there, do you?" Grenfeld said he was asked. He added that he replied that he was a member of the jury and couldn't discuss the case.

Descriptions given by Costinett and Grenfeld of the men who approached them do not tally, indicating that the questions were posed by two separate individuals.

Another Set of Shadowers.
While Grenfeld and Costinett were before the grand jury at separate times during the late afternoon, C. G. Rudy, director of the crew shadowing the jury, and six of the Burns operatives were called in and lined up for possible identification by the jurors. Apparently none was identified as either of the mysterious men.

In the reports of the Burns' detectives seized by the Government in the raid on their headquarters, there is one in which Baltimore investigator H. A. reported on Oct. 20 and 21 that Costinett apparently was being shadowed by other men.

In his Oct. 20 report, the Burns man said he noticed another man follow Costinett, a tailor, to his store and remain in the vicinity about an hour, when another man arrived and remained in the vicinity until almost nightfall.

In the Oct. 21 report, it was stated that one man several times circled the block where Costinett's store is and that later another man loitered about the place for two hours. When Costinett went home a third man was seen standing there for some time.

Clark Excused Temporarily.
Further efforts to connect up Sinclair with the actual employment of the private detectives who shadowed the oil jury came in incidentally today but this phase of the inquiry will be gone into more extensively tomorrow, with Sheldon Clark, vice president and general manager of the Sinclair Refining Co., as the principal grand jury witness.

The prosecution contends that Henry Mason Day, a Sinclair associate, and Clark were "contact men" between Burns' detective agents and Sinclair.

MISSING U. S. FLYERS REPORTED SLAIN IN CAVE IN NICARAGUA

Reported Killed by Nicaraguans

THESE AMBUSHED THE TWO MARINES

Story Carried to Managua of Death of Lieut. Thomas and Sergt. Dow- dall of Aerial Bombers.

By the Associated Press.
MANAGUA, Nov. 8.—A report that Second Lieut. E. A. Thomas and Sergt. Frank Dowdell, American Marine aviators, who have been missing for more than a month, ever since they crashed in their plane while on patrol duty, were killed by followers of the Liberal Gen. Sandino, after a fight at a cave entrance, was received here today from Nicaraguans living in the Occidental region. The report is thought here to be authoritative.

The story of the last stand of the American aviators as plotted together on the advices received here was as follows:

Escaped With Machine Gun.
After bombing the Sandino forces on Mount Chipote, the American aviators found their plane out of control and crashed. Both escaped unhurt, but soon afterward the plane caught fire and was destroyed. Meanwhile, Lieut. Thomas and Sergt. Dowdell, the observer, had managed to get the machine gun from the plane.

The American flyers then escaped into a deep valley, eluding Sandino's followers, who immediately rushed upon the fallen plane in the hope of capturing the aviators. The country in this section is very mountainous and covered with a dense virgin forest, thus protecting the escape of the marines.

Captured Two Guides.
Following the valley some distance, Thomas and Dowdell encountered two men whom they made prisoners in order to serve as guides to Jicaral through the forest. While marching through Jicaral one of the prisoners suddenly turned on one of the marines, which one is not stated—and inflicted a severe wound upon his shoulder and neck with a machete. The unwounded American drew his revolver and killed the assailant. The wounded American was the remaining prisoner escaped.

The marines then continued down the valley. They took refuge for the night in a cave. In the meantime, the escaped prisoner reached Sandino and related what had happened. Sandino then dispatched a patrol of 30 or 40 men who picked up the trail.

Reaching the cave, Sandino's men concealed themselves nearby and opened fire on the marines as they left the cave for Jicaral. The two marines returned the fire and killed several Nicaraguans before they fell.

The State of Nueva Segovia, in which the fight occurred, is isolated, and the people dwelling in the mountains are more or less law unto themselves, resenting the intrusion of outsiders and holding little communication with the outside world.

Acts of Banditry Frequent.
Acts of banditry have been reported frequently in the region, by Liberal and Conservative bandits burning and pillaging the farm houses. Marine flyers said that they had counted 11 burning houses recently in the district.

Reports from the district say that men, women and children stick closely to the marine guards and those of the Nicaraguan National Guard, frequently trekking from place to place in the hope of reaching security. A considerable number of former residents there

LOBBYISTS PACKED HEARING ON TAXES CHAIRMAN SAYS

Leader of House Committee Accuses Witness of Gathering Allies to Attend Parley on Revision.

BURST OF APPLAUSE BRINGS STATEMENT

Charge Is Made That Big Lobby Is Financing Effort to Repeal Inheritance Legislation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The charge that advocates of the repeal of the Federal inheritance tax had "packed" the House Ways and Means committee room was made today by Chairman Green, during testimony of witnesses on tax revision.

A burst of applause had greeted a statement by John H. Kirby of Houston, (Texas), president of the National Council of State Legislatures, in favor of elimination of the tax, when Green leaned forward in his seat and declared: "This room has been packed by your organization."

Before the witnesses could reply, Green continued: "We know how they are gathered."

"I don't think you do," Kirby answered, "but let's come back to the merits of this legislation," adding that these present, like himself, always were ready to applaud patriotic statements.

Appeals to Texas Man.
Kirby directed his assault on the inheritance tax by appealing to Representative Garner of Texas, ranking minority committee member.

"John Garner," he said, "how can you support a law that would take away part of the estate of my wife and I have built? The history of the world, John, is the right of children to take the property of their fathers."

The witness said he always had gone along with Garner on good Democratic principles until recently, "when John began to wobble a little."

Leo Satterwhite of Texas came under the main fire of Kirby, who insisted on knowing whether a "Mrs. Darden" had given him a check. Garner asked Satterwhite who had paid the expenses on past visits to Washington.

Expenses Paid by Fund.
"My expenses were paid by a fund that had been accumulated," he answered.

"Who had charge of that fund. Didn't Mrs. Darden give you a check?" Mrs. Darden gave me one check."

"That's all," concluded Garner. Satterwhite then said he frankly admitted his expenses had been paid from a fund raised by subscription from all parts of the country.

"I have done nothing that should not have been done," Satterwhite declared. "I feel that if members of Congress feel we have not acted properly, they owe it to us to put us under oath and let us tell you what we know."

"Perhaps the only thing that I have done is once as a member of the Texas Legislature I helped John Garner take a few Republican counties out of his district so he could be elected to Congress."

Hints at Big Lobby.
After William H. Blodgett, Tax Commissioner for Connecticut, and spokesman for the organization, had urged elimination of the tax on the grounds that it infringed state rights, a number of committee members asked concerning the body and its financing. These questions were in line with charges that a big lobby has been organized to force repeal of the tax.

Representative Garner of Texas, ranking minority member of the Committee, asked what steps had been taken at an organization meeting in Washington to finance its work.

"So far as I know, there wasn't any matter of finance," Blodgett replied. "My State paid my expenses. It pays them every time I am called away on tax matters."

Tells of Council's Funds.
Under questioning by Representative Garner, Blodgett said the Council of State Legislatures was supported financially through contributions of $100 by each original member and subsequent subscriptions of $10.

Garner then turned the discussion to a letter written May 10 by Leo Satterwhite of Texas, a member of the council, calling a meeting to consider tax matters. Blodgett replied to Representative Garner of Illinois, a Democrat on the committee, that he had sent his

BURNS' BLUSTERY EXPLANATION BLOWS ITSELF OUT

Three-Hour Gale Fills Court House Till Charge of Federal Jury Tampering Falls Flat.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post- Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—William J. Burns has had to offer many an explanation in his time, but he never offered one that fared worse than the one he offered here yesterday.

Burns was called before the grand jury to tell why his agency was employed to shadow jurors during the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, which ended in a mistrial last Wednesday, partially as a result of those activities. He said that Sinclair's associates hired the Burns men to trail the jurors in order to prevent jury tampering by the Government.

In support of this astonishing explanation, Burns declared one of his men during the trial had detected Assistant Attorney-General H. R. Ladd in the act of following Juror Norman L. Glasscock to the Potomac Flying Field in an automobile, and there talking to him 15 or 20 minutes. He added that affidavits to that effect had been filed with Justice Siddons, the trial judge, last Friday.

His Explanation Fails.
It was a grand story while it lasted, and it took the grand jury fully three hours to blow it higher than the Pittsburgh ball club during a world series.

First, Lamb was summoned. He declared he had never seen Glasscock, had never been to the flying field in his life, and that on the day named his automobile was in a repair shop, and he was playing golf. This was corroborated by the mechanics who repaired his car, and by the friends with whom he played golf.

Glasscock was questioned. He said he had never seen nor heard of Lamb, that he had never visited the flying field, and that no one had approached him about the Fall-Sinclair case.

Judge Denies Filing of Affidavits.
Finally, Justice Siddons denied that any such affidavits had been filed with him, and the clerk of the court said he had not seen them.

Outside of that, Burns' story stood up fairly well.

There is no doubt that the Burns agency was employed by Henry Mason Day, one of Sinclair's associates, and there is no doubt that Burns' men did maintain an extraordinary surveillance upon the jurors during the trial. But then that was already known—and the information did not come from Burns originally; it was obtained in a raid upon the agency's headquarters in a hotel.

The burly, blustering, beetle-browed Burns made a characteristic appearance. He was red in the face and full of indignation. When he arrived at the District Attorney's office he at once approached a group of newspaper men and loudly announced that he had "nothing to conceal." He told them to wait until he came out of the grand jury room, and he would give them "a real story." Says Government Did Tampering.
When he emerged some time later, he at once addressed the reporters in a voice that could be

AUTO PASSING U. R. CAR ON WRONG SIDE KILLS MAN

Noah Scott Victim of Machine of Henry Elchinger, Who Blames Fog and Slippery Paving.

An automobile, driven past a street car on the wrong side today struck and killed Noah Scott, 21 years old, 2016 Hickory street, on the Chouteau avenue viaduct east of Vandeventer avenue.

"Not a pipefitter, on his way to work, alighted at 715 a. m. from a westbound Manchester car, crossed in front of it and was struck by a westbound automobile.

The driver, Henry Elchinger, electrician, 2242 Montana, street, was arrested. He blamed the fog, and slippery pavement for the accident. He said he was driving behind the street car when it stopped suddenly. He could not stop, he said, and rather than turn to the right where passengers were alighting from the street car, he passed on the left, and did not see Scott in time to avoid an accident.

Mrs. Scott, at home with a 5-year-old daughter, collapsed when told of her husband's death.

While marching through Jicaral one of the prisoners suddenly turned on one of the marines, which one is not stated—and inflicted a severe wound upon his shoulder and neck with a machete. The unwounded American drew his revolver and killed the assailant. The wounded American was the remaining prisoner escaped.

The marines then continued down the valley. They took refuge for the night in a cave. In the meantime, the escaped prisoner reached Sandino and related what had happened. Sandino then dispatched a patrol of 30 or 40 men who picked up the trail.

Reaching the cave, Sandino's men concealed themselves nearby and opened fire on the marines as they left the cave for Jicaral. The two marines returned the fire and killed several Nicaraguans before they fell.

The State of Nueva Segovia, in which the fight occurred, is isolated, and the people dwelling in the mountains are more or less law unto themselves, resenting the intrusion of outsiders and holding little communication with the outside world.

Acts of Banditry Frequent.
Acts of banditry have been reported frequently in the region, by Liberal and Conservative bandits burning and pillaging the farm houses. Marine flyers said that they had counted 11 burning houses recently in the district.

Reports from the district say that men, women and children stick closely to the marine guards and those of the Nicaraguan National Guard, frequently trekking from place to place in the hope of reaching security. A considerable number of former residents there

Story Carried to Managua of Death of Lieut. Thomas and Sergt. Dow- dall of Aerial Bombers.

By the Associated Press.
MANAGUA, Nov. 8.—A report that Second Lieut. E. A. Thomas and Sergt. Frank Dowdell, American Marine aviators, who have been missing for more than a month, ever since they crashed in their plane while on patrol duty, were killed by followers of the Liberal Gen. Sandino, after a fight at a cave entrance, was received here today from Nicaraguans living in the Occidental region. The report is thought here to be authoritative.

The story of the last stand of the American aviators as plotted together on the advices received here was as follows:

Escaped With Machine Gun.
After bombing the Sandino forces on Mount Chipote, the American aviators found their plane out of control and crashed. Both escaped unhurt, but soon afterward the plane caught fire and was destroyed. Meanwhile, Lieut. Thomas and Sergt. Dowdell, the observer, had managed to get the machine gun from the plane.

The American flyers then escaped into a deep valley, eluding Sandino's followers, who immediately rushed upon the fallen plane in the hope of capturing the aviators. The country in this section is very mountainous and covered with a dense virgin forest, thus protecting the escape of the marines.

Captured Two Guides.
Following the valley some distance, Thomas and Dowdell encountered two men whom they made prisoners in order to serve as guides to Jicaral through the forest. While marching through Jicaral one of the prisoners suddenly turned on one of the marines, which one is not stated—and inflicted a severe wound upon his shoulder and neck with a machete. The unwounded American drew his revolver and killed the assailant. The wounded American was the remaining prisoner escaped.

The marines then continued down the valley. They took refuge for the night in a cave. In the meantime, the escaped prisoner reached Sandino and related what had happened. Sandino then dispatched a patrol of 30 or

FLOOD RECEDING; VERMONT TOWNS STILL INUNDATED

Loss of Life in New Hampshire Not as Great as Reported—Connecticut River Falls.

NEW ENGLAND DEATH LIST TOTALS 150

86 Drowned in Winooski Valley Alone—Agencies Turn From Rescue Work to Relief Task.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Nov. 8.—New stories of distress came from Northern Vermont today with additions to the list of fatalities of the flood which has claimed around 150 lives.

The city of Newport, in North-eastern Vermont, which had been reported on the verge of a famine, got in touch with the outside world today and gave the cheering news that there had been no fatalities there and the distressed were able to get all the food they needed.

New Hampshire's loss of lives is not so great as had been thought. In Connecticut the river has begun to recede.

Springfield, Mass., was also comforted by the continued fall of the Connecticut. City inspectors are making an examination of all flooded houses before allowing their reoccupation.

In Vermont, however, the full blow of the storm fell, and there a situation persisted today that state officials and others did not attempt to minimize.

86 Drowned in Winooski Valley. Other stories of acute suffering and immediate need came from the Winooski Valley where 86 persons are known to have perished. A rendering plant was offered more than 3000 dead cows from the little area embracing the towns of Richmond and Williston and their environs.

Now added to the difficulties of relief by making the roads more treacherous for relief trains. To add to the general apprehension, Lake Champlain today was above its usual spring flood level and still rising.

Bolton and Waterbury, Winooski Valley towns, are extraordinary precautions to prevent the spread of disease and conserve food. At Waterbury a detachment of the third cavalry took charge and a drastic order was issued making all meals in the town church compulsory. No eating in private homes is allowed. Food is issued only to those having official tickets.

Help to Outlying Districts. Steel cables were stretched across the Winooski and Little Rivers to send food and clothing to the needy in the outlying districts.

At Bolton, where 28 persons were believed to have lost their lives, the first relief party to break through carried a large supply of embalming fluid but found only seven dead. They reported a fair amount of food left in the town from a quantity floated down the river from Waterbury on a raft.

States and railroads face the task of restoring shattered or undetermined highways, hundreds of bridges and steel trestles. Major-General Preston Brown, who made a survey of the devastated territory, asserted the losses would run into unestimable millions.

Damage at Rutland $5,000,000. Damage at Rutland was estimated by Gen. Brown at $5,000,000. Montpelier appraised its cost at $3,000,000. An indication of the extent to which railroads were affected was the statement of New York Central officials that repairs to the right-of-way of the Boston & Albany and Rutland railroads would reach $750,000.

Agencies lending a helping hand have turned from rescue to relief. Efforts to feed and clothe the sufferers have increasing fruit today as those on the outside seeking to help the victims fought and won over many obstacles.

Trucks supplemented airplanes which played a lone hand in the first succor, flying with medicine and food to dozens of towns. There are no roads in many places for the trucks but they pushed on anyway and relieved several acute situations where food was at a minimum.

Troops Aid in Relief. Troops are assisting civil authorities and the army is furnishing blankets, bedding and food.

MRS. ARTURO PERALTO RAMOS.

The efforts of all relief agencies were centered today in the Winooski Valley where the need was greatest.

Weeks of work lie ahead of repair workers who are trying to patch highways and piece together broken stretches of railroad track. Marooned passengers have been brought from the stalled railway trains and many of them sent on their way by improvised routes. Thirty-five passengers fled from a train at Mount Holly, Vt., when the flood waters approached and found safety in a farm house on a hill.

Coffins Used for Rescue Work in Bolton, Vt.

By the Associated Press. BOLTON, Vt., Nov. 8.—In this little town seven bodies have been recovered from the Winooski river and 28 are believed to have died. Bolton is completely cut off from the world for vehicular traffic, and even to get in by foot is a difficult task.

An Associated Press reporter who made the journey from Burlington to Montpelier, was told by inhabitants that they had played a part in the saving of life.

When the flood came, there was not one boat in the village. But there happened to be four rough coffins at the undertaker's and they were lashed together to make a raft to rescue many.

Coffins were again used to get a messenger to Waterbury. He only got food, but he was able to give instructions how to get it to Bolton. Food in watertight containers was lashed to the raft and was floated 10 miles downstream to Bolton.

Lone Man Fails in Trying to Rescue Trapped Residents.

By the Associated Press. WATERBURY, Vt., Nov. 8.—The story of a battle for life fought near the graves of the dead was told by relief workers here today. When the flood struck this village its greatest force was in the region of the cemetery, beside which are several houses.

In those houses several persons were trapped and an attempt at rescue was made by a villager in a collapsible canvas canoe, the only boat in town. Directly over the graveyard, where headstones were being wrenched loose, the canoeist paddled toward the screaming inmates of the houses. The water was 18 feet deep. The canoeist fought bravely, but wind and waves were too much for him and he was unable to reach the trapped victims of the flood.

The names of some of those persons appeared on the list of dead or missing, but the majority was saved by the strength of the houses in which they were caught.

The iron bridge that connected this village with the twin communities of Duxbury and North Duxbury was carried away by another which the flood had borne 25 miles.

The "traveling bridge," sank after cutting off the 200 inhabitants of the twin villages from Waterbury, their only source of relief.

Damage in Montpelier, Vt., Estimated at $3,000,000.

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Flood loss in Montpelier, Vt., will exceed $3,000,000. Mayor Edward Deavitt of that city told a reporter for the Albany Knickerbocker Press. The Mayor declared that 1000 persons were homeless.

Train With Passengers Stalled in Water Four Days.

By the Associated Press. CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 8.—Aerial observations of Randolph, Vt., yesterday disclosed that a messenger train isolated by the rushing waters four days ago still was surrounded by water and that the passengers had remained aboard.

The aviators saw a man standing in the door of the baggage car, while the passengers could be seen in the

MILICENT ROGERS WEDS ARGENTINE

Former Countess Salm Is Bride of Arturo Ramos at Southampton, L. I.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Millicent Rogers, heiress to the $40,000,000 estate of her father, Col. H. H. Rogers, and former wife of Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraten, was married yesterday to Arturo Peralto Ramos, handsome young son of a wealthy Argentine family.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph Kelly in the parish house of the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary, in Southampton, L. I.

Col. Rogers and Robert Coe Jr., cousin of the bride, were witnesses. The small group in attendance included the 3-year-old son of the bride, Peter, and Adrian Jarbin, personal attorney for Rogers. Mrs. Rogers' mother was not present, being in Europe.

It was apparent from the haste with which the ceremony was arranged after a dispensation had been issued by the Roman Catholic Church, of which the bridegroom is a member, that the pair had been awaiting only this permission.

The serious illness of George Hilliard, Benjamin, maternal grandfather of Miss Rogers, caused the ceremony to be hurried as much as possible, it was explained.

The pair will sail Thursday for Valparaiso, Chile, and will cross the Andes to the Argentine capital, where they will spend part of their honeymoon with the bridegroom's relatives.

The engagement was announced Aug. 1 by District Attorney Gordon. It was indicated that Clark was questioned along lines similar to those used when Day was called to testify. Later Clark was excused temporarily so he could advise with his counsel.

New efforts to connect the wealthy oil operator directly with the employment of detectives were seen in the summoning of Harry Jeffreys, chief clerk of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Co. of New York, who, the prosecution has been told, actually engaged the services of the Burns agency.

One of the props under the Burns charge that the Government itself tampered with the Fall-Sinclair jury gave way this morning when a Burns' detective was unable to identify the Federal officer mentioned as having conferred with a juror before the trial was ordered.

W. V. Long was the detective and H. R. Lamb of the Attorney General's office, was the Government agent. Brought face to face, Long said Lamb was not the man, adding this evidence to denials previously made by Lamb and Norman Glascock, the juror involved.

This development took place in the quiet of a courthouse corridor. Lamb was lined up with others for the inspection of the detective, and later Glascock and Lamb were brought together and it was agreed between them that they had never seen each other before.

"Do you know this gentleman?" Assistant District Attorney Burkinshaw inquired of Glascock, indicating Lamb. "I never saw him before," Glascock said. Lamb then said he had never seen Glascock before.

The Two-Toned Roadster. George Aikens, automobile mechanic, who was repairing Lamb's car on the day long claimed he trailed it to the Potomac Flying Field, said the car was not at the flying field on Oct. 22. "I had that two-toned roadster from Friday afternoon until about 2 o'clock Saturday," Aikens said. "Most of the time it was not even in running condition. I did not deliver it to Mr. Lamb until about 2 p. m. of that day."

"Were you at the flying field on Oct. 22?" Aikens was asked. "I've never been on that field in my life," was the reply.

The automobile repair man Lamb and Glascock all were sent into the grand jury room together, and there the detective was given another opportunity to see if he could identify the man he claimed had talked to the juror.

Still After Missing Witnesses. As the grand jury inquiry went forward, Government counsel made application to Justice Siddons for new subpoenas for Harry M. Blackmer and James E. O'Neill, wealthy American oil operators now sojourning in Europe. Efforts would be made by American Consuls to serve them abroad.

Blackmer was subpoenaed for the trial which he failed to appear. He refused to appear and he was in contempt of court is now pending before Justice Siddons. A hearing on that will be had later. O'Neill, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., could not be located by Consular officers in advance of the Fall-Sinclair trial.

Day "Ready to Answer Charges, the Quicker the Better."

Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Co., who is under bond of $25,000, as a result of the present grand jury inquiry, was confronted with a charge of having received reports of Burns agency detectives engaged to shadow members of the trial jury. He refused to testify.

Day, through his counsel, has reiterated previous assertions that nothing unlawful, and had not been "a party to any unethical practices."

He expressed surprise at the interpretation placed on his refusal to testify before the grand jury, saying that, on the advice of counsel, he had declined "to be a witness on an imaginary charge, without a possible chance to answer" on his own behalf. He said he was ready to answer to any charges at the "proper time and place," adding, "the quicker the better."

heard all over the courthouse. Waving a fat fist, and striking an oratorical pose he belittled:

"The public has been led to believe that we had no right to shadow those jurors. We were clearly within our rights. The defense has the same rights as the prosecution. We had no right to approach a juror, and none of our men did so."

"We discovered that the Government itself was tampering with the jury."

He paused to let this sensational announcement take effect. Then he continued:

"Yes sir. One of our men followed an automobile that was trailing a juror. The juror got out at Potomac Flying Field, and a man got out of the other car and talked to him 15 or 20 minutes. Our agent looked up the license number of the car, and found that it belonged to a Department of Justice operative. The agent reported to our manager, and two affidavits were filed with the court last Friday."

Here Burns handed out what he said were copies of the affidavits. "I have been shadowing jurors for the Government for 38 years," he went on. "I have sent big men to prison. It is me they are after—not the Burns agency. All the radicals are out to 'get' William J. Burns because he put them out of business. That's what this is all about."

He was asked who employed the Burns Agency, and he replied that "Mr. Day did."

"Just what was Mr. Day's interest in the trial?" he was asked. "He was connected with the Sinclair interests, and naturally he was interested. With all the prejudice here against Fall-Sinclair and Doherty, and with Congress passing special laws to help the prosecution, the defense had a right to take whatever measures were necessary to insure a fair and impartial trial."

Burns seemed somewhat taken aback when he was reminded that Day had refused to testify before the grand jury on the ground that his answers might incriminate him, but he rallied and said:

"Well, if I had been in his place I would have walked up to the grand jury door and cried to get in. My policy is to lay the cards on the table."

Didn't Lay Cards on Table. He did not vouchsafe any explanation of why he failed to "lay the cards on the table" until the Government had obtained information about the shadowing of the jury which resulted in the raid.

He declared it was not unusual for the Burns agency to be employed in shadowing jurors, although he said he was not aware of its employment in this case "until this thing blew up." He added that he had surrendered all his interest in the agency to his brother and son, and no longer owned a share in it. However, he is sometimes called into consultation, he said.

One of the Burns operatives referred in his report to "Principal W. J. B." just as all the operatives referred to Charles G. Ruddy, the manager, as "Principal C. G. R." When this was called to Burns' attention, he said it referred to his son, W. Sherman Burns, and that the middle initial was a "typographical error."

Burns Failed to Explain. He did not explain why the Burns men, in "protecting the jury from tampering by the Government," found it necessary to look up a mortgage on Juror Kern's home, or why they tried to ascertain the financial condition of the jurors, their religious and fraternal connections, the standing of their friends and neighbors, and their own personal habits.

When asked about some of those things, he replied: "Why, a newspaper man went to one of the jurors and tried to get him drunk. He talked to him about the case. If

Navy Department Has No Confirmation of Flyers' Death.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Although the Navy Department today had received no word of the reported death of the marine aviators, Lieut. E. A. Thomas and Sergeant Frank E. Dowdell, it was about ready to give up hope that they would return from the Nicaraguan jungle. Lieut. Thomas, whose home was at Richmond, Ind., was commissioned in the marine corps in 1924, after having served in the corps and the navy since 1918.

a Burns man had done that he would be in jail now."

He referred to Donald King, who has told how Juror Edward Kidwell boasted that he intended to vote for an acquittal, and get "an automobile a block long." King was present, and one of Burns' men pointed him out.

"You should have been arrested and brought into court," shouted Burns, shaking a menacing finger at King, and said he appreciated Burns' thoughtfulness, but was afraid it couldn't be arranged.

"In court cases, coming on appeal, worry me more than anything else," he remarked.

MAN KILLS SON, 4, AND SELF

Denial of Custody After Divorce Believed to Have Caused Poisoning.

RICEVILLE, Ia., Nov. 8.—A father's love for his 4-year-old son whose companionship was denied him by the divorce court two years ago, is believed to have prompted Emil Whittinger, 35 years old, to poison the son, Rolland, and himself.

Their bodies were found late yesterday with a note, apparently written by the father, stating the boy died at 8 o'clock Sunday. The father, under the terms of the divorce decree, was permitted to have the son every second Sunday. When the boy was not returned to Mrs. Whittinger yesterday, she requested an investigation.

When Lamb arrived presently, in response to a summons, he said that the license number was that of his car. He added that he sometimes left the door of his garage unlocked at night, and that he suspected this had enabled someone to obtain his license number.

Summons of Glascock, the automobile mechanic and others who corroborated Lamb's denial, followed in short order. There followed, likewise, the statement of Justice Siddons that no such affidavits had been filed with him. By that time, however, the bell case, bullying Burns had departed, and there was no opportunity to confront him with more embarrassing questions.

Soon after his departure, however, Kidwell appeared on the scene with an affidavit, charging that his reputation had been damaged by the statements of King and Edwin Akers, the street car conductor who introduced King to him, after hearing Kidwell boast of what he intended to do.

When asked who had advised him to take this action, he declined to answer any questions. The affidavit was handed to Justice Siddons' secretary.

You've got to use common sense in those cases, but it's hard to do that without having some way talk about push or pull or something."

"The fact is that in 50 per cent of these cases, someone talks to the judge. They say this is a good sort of person, never committed any wrong in his life, and 'Can't you do something for him?'—not only politicians, but good citizens, business men, substantial business men, and housewives."

"Perhaps there's nothing wrong in that, in itself. But it's true that I have more outside people come and ask me favors than politicians or bondsmen."

"I've got a case right now that worries me. To think that that caliber of people will do that! The very people that sit in their chairs and say anybody who does that ought to be sent to the pen!"

"If these people ask me, 'Can't you do something for him?'—not only politicians, but good citizens, business men, substantial business men, and housewives."

"I can tell a politician in a minute there's nothing doing. Or I can tell him yes. But when it's that sort of people who are watching you all the time when it's not their own people concerned—when it is their own, look out."

"Absolute careless driving and drunken driving," he continued, "are two offenses I cannot tolerate. If a driver is drunk I want him to go to the workhouse, with the exception that if I get a young man, I can't bring myself to send him there. I've been down there and seen that institution—which is better than many such workhouses—and I just can't bring myself to do it. I don't know of a case like that where a parole has failed to make a young fellow behave himself."

"You read a lot about people charged with driving while intoxicated being turned loose in my court. If it isn't shown that a driver was drunk, I can't say a man is to go to the workhouse, with the exception that if I get a young man, I can't bring myself to send him there. I've been down there and seen that institution—which is better than many such workhouses—and I just can't bring myself to do it. I don't know of a case like that where a parole has failed to make a young fellow behave himself."

DISMISSES ATTACK ON COUNTY ELECTION LAW

Attorney - General Removes Legal Danger to Proposed Bond Issue.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.—Danger to the proposed $12,750,000 bond issue for public works in St. Louis County from legal questions over validity of the last registration of voters was eliminated today by Attorney-General Gentry's dismissal of a suit in Supreme Court as to validity of the law under which the last registration was made.

The suit, filed by Gentry last December, attacked validity of the St. Louis County registration law of 1923, as amended in 1925. The 1927 Legislature repealed the former law and enacted a new one, most identical in form, that corrected the defects in the old law, Gentry said. For this reason the suit to test the old law was a dead issue, Gentry said.

Constitutionality of the old law was attacked on the ground it was a special law, applying only to St. Louis County, and violated the constitutional provision prohibiting special or local legislation.

The St. Louis County Board of Election Commissioners recently refused to call a new registration of voters for the bond issue, which will be voted on in a special election Nov. 29, on the ground it might be invalidated by the court's decision on the law under which the present registration lists were compiled.

There is insufficient time to hold a new registration before the bond election, it was said at Clayton today by Election Commissioner Hiller.

contribution to Satterwhite. Rainey has announced his intention to ask Congress to investigate charges that a lobby is being maintained here to obtain repeal of the estate levy.

Returning to the estate tax, Blodgett argued that there was a "twilight zone" in taxation where the Federal Governments should stop.

"In other words," Chairman Green interrupted, "You believe Florida should be able to enact laws to attract wealthy people."

Asks of Lobby's Expense. Representative Rainey, who intends to ask for a Congressional investigation into charges that a lobby is being maintained here to obtain repeal of the inheritance tax, brought Blodgett back to the subject of the Council of Legislatures.

Blodgett said he could not give any information about the number of council delegates here, and the dinners, breakfasts and sightseeing excursions arranged for them. He declined to agree with Rainey when he suggested that the expense must be around $50,000.

Blodgett said Connecticut had no personal income tax but he knew of no one who had moved there because of that.

INDICTMENT FOR COMPLICITY IN $14,000 HOLDUP DISMISSED

George Duros Freed Because of Continued Absence of State's Principal Witness.

An indictment charging George Duros with complicity in the $14,000 holdup of a messenger of the Union-Trust Co., June 22, 1926, was nolle prossed yesterday by Assistant Circuit Attorney Stack because of the continued absence of the principal State witness, Gus Joseph.

Indictments against five other defendants were continued generally last June when it became known Joseph had left the city. Joseph, a waiter, had implicated himself and the others, and without his testimony the case was weak.

Through an error in transcription, the indictments charged the defendants with threatening their own lives, instead of the bank messenger's, but the fault was known to Stack, and he intended to amend the wording, had there been a trial.

INDIANAPOLIS CITY COUNCIL ELECTS L. ERT SLACK MAYOR

Permanent Successor, Democrat, Chosen to Claude E. Negley, Who Displaced Convicted Executive.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—L. Ert Slack, Democrat, today was elected Mayor of Indianapolis by the City Council on the thirty-eighth ballot in its voting to name a permanent successor to Claude E. Negley, temporary Mayor.

Slack formerly was United States District Attorney for Indiana. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate in the 1926 primary. He is a lawyer and has been identified with local and State Democratic politics many years.

Negley came into office as a result of the conviction of Mayor John Duvall, Republican, of violation of the corrupt practice act.

COURT FREES PRINCIPAL HELD FOR WHIPPING PUPIL

Declares Cruelty Charge Against C. W. Martin of Wood River Was Not Proved.

C. W. Martin, principal of Lincoln School at Wood River, charged with cruelty in beating an 11-year-old pupil with a strap, was discharged today by Police Magistrate Wilson, who had the case under consideration since Friday.

Martin told the Magistrate he thought the boy's frequent misbehavior justified the punishment. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Robinson said the teacher's whipping left black and blue welts on their son's legs.

Magistrate Wilson said the punishment seemed severe, but cruelty had not been proved, as important witnesses, including the physician who treated the boy, had not been summoned.

REPLY HINTS AT HIGHER ST. LOUIS PHONE RATES

Bell Co. Implies It Will Seek Further Increase If City Pushes Inquiry.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.—A strong implication that the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will seek a further increase in telephone rates in St. Louis, if the City Legal Department pushes an application for another investigation by the Public Service Commission of St. Louis telephone rates, was made in an answer filed with the commission today by the company.

The answer was to a complaint filed by the city concerning an extra monthly charge of 25 cents for all automatic dials attached to individual telephones in private exchanges, in which the city urged the commission to institute, on its own motion, a complete investigation of costs, value and adequacy of telephone service in the city.

The commission was urged to "prescribe just and reasonable rates for all classes of service" after such an inquiry.

Company Says Rates Are Low. The company contended in the answer that the present rates were "unreasonably low" and were giving the company an annual return of only 4.7 per cent on the valuation fixed by the commission, although the commission had held in a previous rate case that the company was entitled to a return of 7 per cent.

The company was granted an increase in business telephone rates in St. Louis in July, 1925, for a test period of 13 months, and that increase still is in effect.

"An investigation should not be started," it was stated in the answer, "unless all parties agree to abide by the result, and in the event the investigation discloses the present rates are unreasonably low, the company should be permitted to raise its rates for the service which will be reasonably satisfactory and not unreasonably low as the rates have been during the last few years."

Asks for Full Return. It was contended the company had been willing to continue at the present rates, even though the return was below that authorized by the commission, until all the adjustments in connection with the merger of the Bell and Kinlock systems in 1923 are completed. If a new inquiry was ordered by the commission, the company should be given rates that would give it the full return authorized by the commission, it was asserted.

The 25-cent extra charge for dials on private exchange telephones had been in effect a year and was a part of tariffs approved by the commission, it was stated. It was contended this was extra service, furnished only on special request from users of private exchanges, and the charge was declared to be a lawful one.

GETS 10 YEARS FOR JAIL-BREAK

Emmett Wallace, one of seven men who escaped from the Clayton jail last December, after beating Deputy Sheriff Baumer into unconsciousness, yesterday was sentenced to the penitentiary for 10 years on his plea of guilty of robbery.

He was formally charged with having taken a small sum of money from Baumer's pockets, after Baumer had been beaten.

Of the seven men who escaped, three have been apprehended. One now is in the penitentiary for an eight-year sentence and another is in jail at Springfield, Ill., where he is serving a sentence following conviction on a burglary charge.

GENTRY DISMISSES SUIT ON PLUMBERS IN SUPREME COURT

Attorney-General Says Defendants Have Agreed to Cease Alleged Illegal Practices.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.—The Attorney-General's office, through Assistant Attorney-General David P. Jones today gave verbal notification to the Supreme Court en banc that the antitrust suit against members of the Association of Master Plumbers of St. Louis had been dismissed.

Gentry Explains Action. In commenting on the dismissal of the suit, Attorney-General Gentry said representatives of the 19 plumbers' association named as defendants had made a verbal agreement with him that the practices complained of in the suit had been abandoned and would not be resumed in the future.

The stipulation to be filed with the Court, he said, merely will be a formal dismissal of the case. He would not discuss the fact that some of the witnesses upon whom the State relied now are less positive in their statements about practices in the plumbing trade and alleged price-fixing, than they were when the investigation was begun in 1925.

In this connection, he said: "That evidence that the Attorney-General's office was able to procure after the case had lain dormant for a year was not of such sufficiency as to furnish legal proof of the defendants having engaged in such illegal practices."

Suit Dragged for Year. After the suit was filed in December, 1925, it dragged along without action until May of the following year, when one brief hearing was conducted in St. Louis. No further hearings were held until last May, one year later, because of lack of money in the Attorney-General's appropriation for antitrust suits.

Some of the provisions of the by-laws of the Master Plumbers' Association were objectionable, Gentry said. The association itself was not named as a defendant in the antitrust suit, and the proceedings filed in Supreme Court, as the association was not a corporation and could not be proceeded against by quo warranto.

The defendants in this case were unable to change the by-laws," Gentry said, "but believe they should be modified so as to conform to the desires of the Department of Justice of the State, as they allege that they have at all times attempted to comply with the laws of both the city and State."

Second Trust Suit Dropped. This was the second antitrust suit dismissed by Attorney-General

MOONSHINE STILL SEIZED AT IOWA FRATERNITY HOUSE

Liquor Found in Nearly Every Room at Ames — No Arrests Made.

By the Associated Press. AMES, Ia., Nov. 8.—Federal and State agents raided the Sigma Chi Fraternity House at Iowa State College here yesterday, confiscating a still found in the basement, and finding liquor in nearly every room, Federal agents announced.

No charges have been filed against any resident of the house. Sheriff Nebergall, who led the raiders, said between 35 and 40 students reside in the building.

County Attorney Earle Smith left for Des Moines soon after the raid to confer with Gov. Hammill.

YOUTH, 19, DIES OF POISON

Thomas Burr, 19 years old, of 566A St. Anthony street died at city hospital last night of poison, which, he said, he mistook for salts, Friday night. He was taken to the hospital Saturday morning.

Police were told by roomers there Burr lived that he had threatened suicide several times. A roomer, Mrs. Effie Rowe, took the poison from him, but not until he had swallowed some.

Gentry. The other was that against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and three other oil companies, alleging price-fixing and restraint of trade. The reason given for dismissal of this suit was that the allegations could not be sustaining in the face of a decision by the United States Supreme Court in another oil case.

Among other questionable practices alleged against the master plumbers were adherence to a "rule" requiring members to contribute 2 per cent of their contracts to a "kitty" for association expenses, the surplus of which was divided among other members; adherence to another by-law not to bid on work unless invited to do so; an alleged agreement between masters and journeymen requiring the latter not to work for other masters than members of the association, and an alleged combine of masters with supply houses, through which members of the association profited.

INCOME TAX MAN PROMOTED

Walter F. Freimuth, to Succeed Late Frank M. Kleiber.

Walter F. Freimuth, chief of field agents of the Internal Revenue Department here, yesterday was appointed Chief Deputy by Collector Becker, succeeding Frank M. Kleiber, who died last week after 13 years of service as executive head of the Internal Revenue office.

Freimuth, who lives at 5749 Kingsbury boulevard, Northwest, has been in Internal Revenue service for seven years, his chief work having been the direction of handling of income tax work. His old place will be taken by Harry W. Weill, special zone deputy collector, whose promotion also was announced yesterday.

RETURNS TO ST. LOUIS AS CONCERT SOLOIST

James Hagney, Bookkeeper, Left City in 1917 to Go to War.

James Hagney, who left a bookkeeper's desk in a railroad office here in 1917 to go overseas with the Eighty-ninth Division, returned to St. Louis yesterday to be the tenor soloist with the Symphony Orchestra Friday night in the Armistice day program of the American Legion at the Odeon.

An unflinching determination to develop his voice has kept him in France since the first Armistice day, and yesterday marked the first time he had seen his father, Dennis Hagney, 4119 Hartford street, or his brother, John, since he left St. Louis to go to training camp.

Overseas with the A. E. F., he was a Sergeant in the Headquarters Company of the 356th Infantry. With the close of hostilities, however, he saw that in France he had a good opportunity to develop his voice, an ambition he had vaguely cherished since the first time he had sung with the Knights of Columbus Choral Club here.

Accordingly, he obtained his discharge from the army to go with the Red Cross in post-war work in Paris. He began his studies at once and during the past several years has appeared times in the opera in Paris as well as in concerts in the principal cities of Europe. He returned to the United States two weeks ago, planning after his appearance in St. Louis to take a short vacation, then to go to New York.

$6500 FOR TORNADO RELIEF

St. Vincent de Paul Society Reports October Expenditures.

More than $6500 was expended by the St. Vincent de Paul Society in emergency relief work for tornado sufferers in parishes damaged by the storm of Sept. 29.

During October, the report states, the society cared for 510 families, among them those of storm sufferers. In these families were 2151 persons. For provisions, $3703 was spent, and for fuel, rent, clothing and other necessities, $2622. The society distributed 177 pairs of shoes, 353 articles of clothing and 158 articles of furniture.

Beat the Channel on LIPTON'S TEA

Here are her own words:

"My chief stimulant was tea. I had Lipton's Tea every two hours, and twice I had to call for an extra strong cup to relieve the coldness a little."

What clearer proof could you have of the invigorating and stimulating qualities of Lipton's Tea than the fact that the first two successful Channel swimmers this year—Miss Mercedes Gleitze and Mr. E. H. Temme—were both given Lipton's Tea by their trainers whilst in the water?

YOU, too, will find that Lipton's Tea is a delicious builder of energy. When you feel tired, or your nerves become a bit frayed, make a steaming cup of Lipton's Tea. There is no better natural stimulant or energizer.

VERDICT OF HOMICIDE IN KILLING OF WOMAN

Painting Contractor, Not Yet Arrested, Accused of Murder of Mrs. Anna Lauth.

An inquest verdict of homicide was returned yesterday in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Anna Lauth in a clubhouse on the Venice, Ill., river front Sunday night. The man charged with the shooting has not been apprehended.

The slain woman was identified by a son by a former marriage.
Testimony at the inquest was that the accused slayer frequented a river front shack each week-end.
No one was able to say whether he knew Mrs. Lauth and no one suggested any reason for the shooting.

Ed House, proprietor of the clubhouse where the shooting took place, testified that Mrs. Lauth was dancing with a man when the accused man entered with drawn revolver. Without a word he aimed at Mrs. Lauth and fired several times. One of the bullets struck the woman in the right side of the head, killing her, and another struck House in the neck, inflicting a slight flesh wound. The slayer then ran from the place and disappeared.

House's clubhouse is about two blocks south of McKinley bridge.
Both he and the man accused in the inquest verdict are painting contractors.

$9,000,000 MERGER OF EIGHT BISCUIT CONCERNS PROPOSED

Chicago Carton Co. Also Figures in Consolidation Involving St.

Louis Company.
The Union Biscuit Co., 1101
North Sixth street, seven other biscuit factories and a carton company figure in a proposed $9,000,- 000 merger now under consideration by stockholders.

The new organization, essentially a holding company, would comprise the Union Biscuit Co., Sawyer Biscuit Co., Chicago, and Lakeside Biscuit Co., Toledo, all now operating as the United Biscuit Co.; Strietman Biscuit Co., Cincinnati;
Fisher Biscuit Co., Columbus, O.; Merchants' Biscuit Co., Denver;
Manchester Biscuit Co., Fargo, N.
D., and Sioux Falls, S. D., and Chicago Carton Co., Chicago.

The various factories would retain their separate names and offices, but would have headquarters at Chicago as the United Biscuit Co. and would rank as the third largest biscuit company in the country.

MISSING BOY SCOUT FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN FOREST

Youth Believed to Have Been Shot by Playmates in Woods Near La Grange, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Police today sought a solution to the killing of Elmer Kihn, 13 years old, of La Grange, a suburb, by questioning Boy Scouts.

The body of the boy, who disappeared Sunday, was found yesterday in a deserted section of the forest preserve near La Grange, with a bullet hole in the head.
Nearby was a small rifle and a signal flag of the type used by Boy Scouts, of which organization the victim was a member.

A police theory was that the boy had been shot accidentally by playmates, who feared to notify the authorities.

Directory Drops Saloon Keepers.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The classification of saloon keeper does not appear in the fall issue of the business section of the Bell Telephone Co. directory for Philadelphia. It is the first time this classification has not appeared, and Philadelphia is said to be one of the last big cities to drop it.

DIAPESIN KEEPS APPETITE YOUNG

If you have to force yourself to eat, and invariably get indigestion, sluggish headaches, and you are losing weight, excessive acidity is ruining your stomach.
This excess acid sours your food, turns it into sour bile and foul gases, and you are constantly nervous and upset.
Thousands of people credit their good health and young appetite to Pape's Diapiesin. It dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach so you can eat anything you want.
That's why 3 million packages are sold every year. Chew one or two of the tablets after meals, and you will never have indigestion, or be bloated.
All drug stores have Pape's Diapiesin.

EXPLOSIONS WRECK THEATER IN INDIANA

Church Across Street at Hammond Damaged by Blast; Loss Set at $500,000.

By the Associated Press.
HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 8.—A series of mysterious explosions, which the police attributed to black powder bombs, wrecked the State Theater here at 3 a. m. today, damaged All Saints' Catholic Church across the street, blew down trolley and telephone poles and broke plate glass windows for blocks around. Damage was estimated at $500,000.

The theater in the rear of the street-story brick State block, which costs $1,500,000. The blasts blew out the theater walls on State street for almost a block, demolished the roof, balcony and stage, which crumbled into a twisted mass of bricks, masonry and steel. The bombs apparently had been placed in the Sibley street entrance to the theater, where steel doors were blown in. The first blast was followed by two more. As the theater walls crumbled, trolley and telephone poles tumbled into the street in front of the block and windows and part of the roof of the church across the street crashed down. Fire which followed was extinguished quickly.

Owners of the theater could assign no reason for the bombing, stating they had had no labor troubles and knew of no enemies. The State Theater seated 3500 persons. It was one of the largest in the State. The building is owned by a syndicate of Hammond business men and the theater was operated by William Klehege, who controls most of Hammond's theatrical enterprises. There was no one in the theater, the State block or the church at the time of the blasts.

DEFENDANT DIES IN COURT

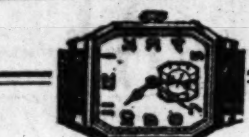

Frank Skala, 68, Succumbs After Pleading "Not Guilty."

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—In a faltering voice, Frank Skala, 68 years old, gasped out a plea of "not guilty," and dropped dead before the judge's bench when he appeared in court yesterday.

"Write in the record that he was not guilty," said Judge Harry Hamlin, as they bore the body away. Skala was charged with disorderly conduct. A heart attack caused death.

YOUR ST. LOUIS How Well Do You Know It?

Moon Motor Car Company

Founded in 1906 by the late Joseph W. Moon, THE MOON MOTOR CAR COMPANY has enjoyed twenty-one years of phenomenal success and today is recognized as one of the foremost automobile manufacturing organizations of the world. From one small building occupied by the company in 1906, the Moon factory has grown into a great manufacturing group embracing five modern buildings and employing almost 1000 people.

During the 21 years of its existence, the personnel of THE MOON MOTOR CAR COMPANY has practically remained intact, many of the earlier employees having risen to high positions of trust and responsibility.

THE MOON MOTOR CAR COMPANY has played a very important part in making St. Louis a great automobile center and carrying the name "St. Louis" to the far corners of the earth. In pioneering the manufacture of automobiles in the City of St. Louis credit is due the Moon organization for the coming to St. Louis of other great automobile manufacturing organizations, whose executives were quick to see the tremendous advantages offered them in the strategic position of St. Louis, "The City Surrounded by the United States."

Every day this space will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dynamic growth of St. Louis.

SPANISH KING'S COUSIN ARRESTED AS VAGRANT

Duke of Dural Held for Failure to Pay Hotel Bill in Paris.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEJAN, France, Nov. 8.—Don Fernando de Bourbon, Duke of Dural, a cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, is in jail here charged with being a vagabond without visible means of support.

He was arrested on the complaint of a Fontainebleau hotel keeper when he was unable to pay his bill. The police at first hesitated to arrest such a personage. They made inquiry, however, and learned that there were several warrants out for him at Nice on similar charges and for passing worthless checks.

The Duke is the son of Prince Pedro de Bourbon, Duke of Dural, by his morganatic marriage with Maria de la Caridad Madan of Cuba. It is understood that he became involved in politics in Spain and incurred King Alfonso's displeasure. He was requested to travel around the world, which he has been doing in the cabinets of Paris. He also visited America and England.

Don Fernando's wife is the daughter of a wealthy Barcelona manufacturer and is in Italy in waiting to Queen Victoria of Spain. She remained in Madrid with her three daughters. She is said to have paid Don Fernando's debts several times to get him out of similar scrapes. At one time she induced him to go to a sanatorium at Lausanne, Switzerland, but he soon left.

CITY ACTIVITIES TO CEASE FOR ARMISTICE DAY FRIDAY

Schools, Courts, Markets and Banks Also Will Close; Legion to Parade.

Armistice day will be observed here Friday with a partial cessation of daily activities and commemorative ceremonies. The public schools, the courts, markets, banks and city offices will be closed. Retail stores affiliated with the Associated Retailers will not close, but will pause for two minutes at 11 a. m. in observance of the Armistice Day custom.

The principal events of the day will be the American Legion parade at 2 p. m., the International Good-will Congress noon session at the Merchants' Exchange, at which former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker will speak, and the evening concert of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at the Odeon. James Hagan, tenor, a St. Louisan and Legionnaire, will be the solo artist at the concert. Edward E. Spafford of New York, national commander of the Legion, will be here for the Armistice Day celebration.

WASHINGTON U. GETS READY FOR ITS HOMECOMING DAY

Mass Meeting at Francis Gymnasium Friday Evening Will Open Annual Festivities.

A mass meeting at Francis Gymnasium Friday evening will begin Washington University's annual homecoming festivities. The meeting will be followed by a bonfire on the campus with the freshmen in a shirt-tail parade.

An automobile parade through the downtown section at 11 a. m. Saturday will start the ceremonies of that day. A luncheon for all letter men of the University at the Commons is set for noon. Open house at sorority and fraternity houses in the afternoon, the football game against Grinnell and a dance at Francis Gymnasium in the evening will complete the schedule.

No Trace of Reported Fallen Plane SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Reports were received by Thomas F. Burke, Chief of Police of San Mateo, last night from residents saying they had observed a large monoplane fall into Inner San Francisco Bay. A search of the bay failed to reveal any trace of the plane, nor were any missing or reported overdue at local airports.

U. S. SENDS FRANCE NEW NOTE ON TARIFF

Explains Technical Points to Clear Way for Treaty Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The State Department's answer to the last French communication on the tariff controversy was dispatched to Paris late yesterday after a conference between Ambassador Claudel and Department officials. The communication is understood to be confined to an explanation of technical points it was found necessary to clear up as a preliminary to the opening of negotiations between the two Governments for a commercial treaty that would regularize tariff relationships.

Washington officials were hopeful that the new note would be the last with France and that provisional tariff agreement between the two countries which will endure for the period of the treaty negotiations would be put in effect without delay. It was explained that there appeared to be no further obstacle to the opening of the treaty negotiations that could not be dealt with informally. In the course of his conference with Assistant Secretary William Castle Jr., it is understood that Ambassador Claudel made it clear that the French Government was not greatly concerned over the question of American countervailing duties on French imports and that there would be no additional delay on that score.

The new American note explains the operation of American tariff law in regard to these duties, which prevents their complete withdrawal.

$20,000 FOR STOLEN FURS

Parisian Furrier Sought to Erase Paying American Owner.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).
 PARIS, Nov. 8.—A Parisian furrier who tried to avoid paying for the theft of furs left in storage by an American client on the ground that the foreigner had no rights, has been forced by a French court to pay not only for the missing furs but punitive damages as well.

Isabelle Carl, divorced wife of John Warden of New York, had confided chinchilla and sable coats to the Maison Gruenwaldt. The warehouse, filled with hundreds of millions of francs worth of furs, was robbed. The firm paid French losses, but declined to pay foreigners. The court ordered payment of $20,000 francs ($30,000) to Mrs. Carl.

LAWRENCE CANVAS TO U. S.

Metternich Portrait Reported Sold to Americans for $250,000.

By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—"Prince Metternich," a canvas by Sir Thomas Lawrence, companion portrait to one which hangs in Windsor Castle, England, was brought here yesterday on the liner New York, having been purchased at a reputed price of $250,000 for an American whose name was not given. It was the second Lawrence painting brought to this country in recent years, the most notable being that of "Pinkie," which sold for nearly $400,000 and now is in the Huntington collection.

IN TRAM SERVICE 71 YEARS

J. E. Flynn, 84, Dies; Traveled 5,000,000 Miles.

By the Associated Press.
 ELGIN, Ill., Nov. 8.—After traveling 5,000,000 miles by railroad during 71 years, John E. Flynn, 84-year-old conductor and engineer, died here yesterday. He was considered the dean of his trade both in years and point of service. For the last 45 years he was with the Milwaukee road. He was the engineer of the first Union Pacific train out of Omaha west, in 1861, and traveled without an accident.

Here at Last Is the Relief
 You Have So Long Been Seeking

If you have catarrh you are in danger of losing your hearing. The first symptoms of catarrhal deafness are roaring or burning sensations and a stopped-up feeling in the ears. A neglected cold, or an uncurbed cold, leads to catarrh, and as everybody knows, catarrh affects the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs and frequently undermines the general health.

The secret of the successful medication of these hidden parts was discovered by Dr. Blosser in his medical practice. This remedy is applied by smoking a certain combination of medical herbs (containing not tobacco) in a pipe or cigarette. Dr. Blosser's Remedy produces a dense smoke vapor which is inhaled or forced into the Eustachian tubes leading to the middle ear. It penetrates to parts impossible to reach with balm, salve, sprays, douches, pills, tablets, liquids and so-called "constitutional treatments." This Remedy is absolutely harmless. You can get from any drug store a convenient pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

Mrs. Adelaide B. Bryan, 6117 Crescent avenue, was granted a divorce yesterday from George F. Bryan, son of P. Taylor Bryan, an attorney. She was allowed $50 a month alimony, and custody of a 3-year-old daughter. Bryan did not contest. They were married in 1920 at Cape Girardeau, and were separated last July. Mrs. Bryan alleged general indignities.

Restores Hearing With German Discovery

Science has made remarkable progress in making it possible for deafened people to hear. Recognized authorities on both continents consider a new discovery called the "Duotone," the most perfect means of making the deafened hear instantly. It is an entirely inconspicuous device and is so tiny the earpieces are worn in and not on the ear. Results are astonishing even in the most severe cases. Sufferers may acquaint themselves with the happiness the Duotone can bring by applying to A. S. Aloe Co., 513 Olive street.

WATSON PREDICTS U. S. WILL AID RIVER PLANS

Congress Will Do Everything Possible, Indiana Senator Tells Group.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Everything that can be done will be done by Congress in the solution of the flood problem, Senator Watson (Rep.), Indiana, told approximately 400 persons gathered at today's hearings of the House Flood Control Committee.

The nation has come to realize that the control of the Mississippi River's waters is a task of the national government, the Indiana Senator declared. Mayor Thompson and leaders of his Chicago delegation again were present today. The Mayor and his Executive Committee, together with others interested in flood control, attended a breakfast at the White House before the hearing. Judge A. G. Little of Arkansas the first witness called, told the committee that "the big flood is yet to come."

"Because of the heavy investments of Eastern and Northern interests and because of the menace to human life in the region, the flood control problem rightly must be solved by the national government," he said. Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, urged that all differences should be "composed and one comprehensive plan be accomplished." He joined Watson in the view that the Federal Government should assume full responsibility in curbing the river's high waters.

John Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, told the committee that union labor was in favor of the National Government assuming the task of flood control. Thompson Describes Flood.

Mayor Thompson, the first witness yesterday, described the hardships of flood victims which he witnessed while on a boat trip to New Orleans. He said the City of Chicago realized the necessity of an immediate remedy of the problem. Representative Reid declared that the "problem of flood control will not be solved by following any single theory or form of defensive work," and added:

"I believe that a combination of the best and most practical elements of the various plans that have been suggested will be found worthy of incorporation in a valley-wide national plan."

The committee chairman expressed the view that the plan should include "stronger levees, wider part in places, and standardized on the main river and its principal tributaries, spillways, outlets, by-passes and overflow reservoirs."

Would Use Dry Fund.
A suggestion that money for flood control be obtained by using appropriations now made for prohibition enforcement was made by Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook County, Ill., board. "It Congress," he said, "will appropriate as much to stop the flow of water in the Mississippi Valley as it has already appropriated to stop the flow of wine and beer in other parts of the United States, in five years the Mississippi Valley will be adequately protected."

REMUS TO PLEAD HE WAS INSANE WHEN HE SHOT WIFE

Tells Court He Will Contend He Has Regained Rational Mind Since.

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—George Remus said in court yesterday he will not plead that he is insane at the present time, but that he was insane at the time he killed his wife, Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, in Eden Park here.

The status of the Remus defense arose when Judge Shook granted Remus' petition to make known to the three court alienists appointed to examine Remus, the city chemist's report on the contents of a box of candy recently received by him, and which he believes was poisoned. The chemist has made no report on his analysis.

Attorney Charles Elston said in court Remus believed the sending of the candy was part of a conspiracy of long standing, to continually harass him, and which resulted in his mental condition at the time of the shooting.

SUSPENDS LIQUOR SENTENCE IMPOSED ON MOTHER OF SIX

Judge Hears That Mrs. Perroni, Deserted by Husband, Is Supported by Boys' Earnings.

Mrs. Rosa Perroni, the mother of six children ranging in age from 3 weeks to 15 years, today pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Faris to sale of liquor at her home at 1112 Biddle street. Judge Faris sentenced her to serve two months in jail, but paroled her, in view of her circumstances. Mrs. Perroni sold half a pint of liquor to two prohibition agents, directed to her home by an intoxicated man whom they met on the street. For the liquor they paid 25 cents, concerning which Judge Faris remarked that she "could hardly be said to be selling for profit if the Court is correctly informed on market quotations."

Since the sale, her counsel told the Court, Mrs. Perroni's husband has deserted her and she is supported by the earnings of her two oldest sons as newsboys.

A Great Financial Organization Waiting to Serve You

THE life-blood of any bank's business is the money it receives from depositors—the money in Savings Accounts, in Checking Accounts and on Time Deposit.

Here is a giant financial organization, composed of the First National Bank and two affiliated institutions—the First National Company and the St. Louis Union Trust Company. Three great institutions operating as one tremendous departmental organization, under one roof.

It is the largest financial organization in St. Louis. One of the reasons why it has attained that place of leadership is because so many people have seen fit to entrust their financial affairs to its care.

It serves as banking headquarters for scores of the largest and best known firms and corporations, not only in St. Louis, but in the surrounding territory; banking headquarters, too, for hundreds of smaller businesses and for thousands of individuals.

To its depositors—individuals, firms, corporations, acknowledgment is hereby made of assistance they have given in building St. Louis' Largest financial organization.

And to you—whether or not you are at present a customer—is extended an invitation to use the unequalled Banking service, Investment service and Trust service offered by this organization. It has been built for you. It is here, waiting to serve you.

MAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS DIES

An 11-year-old boy will be held today in the death of Lewis Grazioplene, a carpenter, who died last night at City Hospital. He was taken to the hospital after being found unconscious in bed at his room at 1118 North Eighteenth street, Sunday afternoon. His skull and pelvis were fractured and both shoulders were broken. A pool of blood at the foot of the stairs led police to believe he suffered his injuries in a fall downstairs.

The 20-Year War on Fat
Mark the results

In the early part of this century research men discovered a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of certain elements required in proper nutrition. They found a way to supply those elements, and many tests were made. First on animals, then on people. The results established a new method of combating excess fat. That method was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. For 20 years the world have used them—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. That is one reason why slender figures so prevail today. No abnormal exercise, no starvation diet. Moderation helps, but radical methods are not advised. Users of Marmola take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, then they stop. Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. Users know just what they are taking, and why. So they have no fear of harm. If you are overweight, try this scientific method. Do it because the results it has brought to so many, for so long. Do it for new beauty, new health and vitality. Start today. Give Marmola a chance to show you what it does. Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his supplier.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

AUTOMATIC SIGNALS CUT TRAFFIC MISHAPS

97 of 129 Accidents at Grand and Washington Occurred Before Installation.

A marked reduction of accidents as the result of installation of four automatic traffic signals at dangerous street intersections is shown in a study of motor accidents in St. Louis since July 1, 1924, presented today by the St. Louis Safety Council.

Over this period the greatest number of accidents, 129, occurred at Grand and Washington boulevards. Ninety-seven of these, or 75 per cent of the total, occurred before the automatic signals were installed in August, 1925.

"There have been but 24 accidents at this intersection in the two years that have elapsed since installation of the signal," the council comments.

Grand and Chouteau Road. In contrast is the intersection listed as having the second largest total of accidents, Grand boulevard and Chouteau avenue, where there is no automatic signal. Of the 123 accidents counted at this intersection since July 1, 1924, 79 have taken place since Aug. 15, 1925, resulting in the injury of 23 persons and death of two others.

Between July 1, 1924, and Aug. 15, 1925, 14 persons were injured in 52 accidents. This intersection leads in the number of collisions with a total of 99, according to the study.

A summary of the period under study disclosed a total of 24,548 motor accidents in which 572 persons were killed, 14,040 were injured and property loss as estimated by the police totaled $2,470,000. Of the total accidents, 12,552 in which 318 persons were killed and 5128 were injured occurred at street intersections. Of these 9725 were collisions between motor vehicles, 1744 collisions between automobiles and pedestrians and 247 were collisions between automobiles and children.

The Dangerous Intersections. Broadway and Washington avenue, fourth in the list of accidents with a total of 119, led in the number of persons injured with a total of 68. Chouteau and Twelfth boulevard, third in total accidents, was second in the number of persons injured, 65. Other intersections leading in accidents were Jefferson avenue and Washington, Delmar and Union boulevards, Chouteau and Jefferson, Grand and Olive street, Delmar and Kingshighway, Locust street and Twelfth, Grand and Russell boulevards and Easton and Taylor avenues. Collisions between pedestrians and automobiles were most numerous at Grand and Olive and at Jefferson and Lafayette, each listed as having 22.

Using $10,000 as the minimum value of each life lost and adding cost of injuries and litigation, the council figures the total loss over the period would be more than $14,500,000, or nearly $4,700,000 a year, approximately double St. Louis' $2,400,000 fire loss last year. The per capita loss as result of highway accidents last year to St. Louisans was figured at $5.60.

As a remedy the council reiterates its warning: "Slow down at crossings and corners."

Dr. N. J. Lynot Heads Dentists. Dr. Nicholas J. Lynot was elected president of the East St. Louis Dental Society at its annual meeting last night. Dr. W. A. Allen was named vice president and Dr. W. C. Smith secretary and treasurer.

FINDS BARON WED HEIRESS BY FRAUD

Referee Recommends Marriage of Miss Florence Clendenin Be Annulled.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Recommendation that the Supreme Court annul the marriage of Miss Florence Marjorie Clendenin, heiress, and Baron George Tornow, Russian refugee and former officer in the Czar's army, performed despite objections of her father, Dec. 1, 1926, was filed in White Plains yesterday by former Deputy Attorney-General
Clifford Couch, referee in the case.
It was only a few hours after the wedding ceremony that the former Miss Clendenin, daughter of Joseph Clendenin, vice president of the American Smelting and Refining Co., left her titled husband. A few days later she brought suit for annulment, on the charge of fraud.
The report sets forth that the plaintiff was tricked into marriage to a penniless alien, who remained unlawfully in this country, had maintained a mistress in Paris three years, and at the time of the marriage was engaged to another woman.

Stating that "the plaintiff became acquainted with the defendant about three weeks before the marriage through some friends," the recommendation continues,
"these friends made representations to the plaintiff of the desirability of the defendant as a husband whereas during such time each of said parties well knew that the defendant was not desirable as a husband for the plaintiff."

It states that "before the introduction of the defendant to the plaintiff the said parties had knowledge that the plaintiff was the beneficiary of a trust fund with the Guaranty Trust Co., New York, which they believed to produce an income of $15,000 a year."

The Baron, the recommendation states, for a considerable time before the marriage was in destitute financial circumstances, with no regular employment, living through assistance given by friends. A subject of Russia, he had fled to Paris after the revolution and during part of the time from 1919 to October, 1923, had maintained a mistress. Having come at the latter date to America on a visitor's pasport, he had remained here unlawfully following the allotted three months' period.

DENIES RAILROADS OWN TRANSFER FIRM

President Childress Testifies at Hearing on Columbia Terminals' Monopoly.

Denial that the railroads own the Columbia Terminals Co., or its stock, was made yesterday by L.
W. Childress, president of the concern, before Examiner Ames of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the hearing at Hotel Chase on the proposal of the railroads to give the Columbia a monopoly of the freight transfer business here.

Childress declared that, in addition to his oral declaration, he is willing to exhibit the list of stockholders of his company and he is expected to lay his list before the examiner.

Childress said that in only one instance had a railroad official owned Columbia stock. He was John Fitzpatrick, formerly with the Pennsylvania Railroad, but now retired. Fitzpatrick, he testified, bought stock from one of the stockholders about 15 years ago.

Two daughters of Edward Hart, a junior official of the Baltimore & Ohio, own 100 shares of common and 40 shares of preferred stock, he said.

Questioned further about his stockholders, Childress charged that certain dividend checks had been stolen from his office several years ago and that "someone on the other side knows about them."

On his statement a wrangle began between him and Paul Y. Versen, attorney for the Central Transfer Co., the Columbia's sole competitor, and Examiner Ames ordered Childress' charge struck from the record.

COOLIDGE SEEKS SUCCESSOR OF RETIRING I. C. C. MEMBER

Business Interests Expect President to Name Western Man for Henry C. Hall's Place.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Business interests are taking a great interest in the selection of a successor to Henry C. Hall of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who has informed President Coolidge that he desires to resign.
Influence is being exerted upon the President to name a man who holds "a national viewpoint" on transportation problems rather than one who would be governed by the needs of his particular section of the country. This argument has found the Chief Executive sympathetic.

It has been generally regarded that, since Commissioner Hall lives in Colorado, Coolidge will elect a resident of one of the Rocky Mountain states, but he does not feel himself bound to do so. If he should find no one there whom he considers qualified, it has be-said at the White House that whithe President would like to name a Western man, he would not hesitate to go elsewhere for the commissioner he wants.

To Keep that Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Don't gamble with your skin. Use only a true complexion soap

SKIN cleanliness is the modern basis of beauty. The rule for that schoolgirl complexion is never to leave powder, make-up or rouge on your face over night.

Now beauty experts urge careful washing with soap and water, regularly, each night.
But be sure you use only a true complexion soap. Be sure it is a beauty soap, one made for that purpose and no other. For otherwise you risk much.

Palmolive Soap has changed the world's conception of what a beauty soap should be. Before its creation all soaps were adjudged too harsh for women's faces.

pose, to protect the skin, Palmolive is the most widely urged soap in the world today for complexion care. In Paris it is supplanting domestic soaps.

For true skin beauty, get Palmolive today. Cleanse the skin with balmy olive and palm saponified, and particularly at night.
Do that for one week, and you will see the difference. Palmolive is the genuine Palmolive. One represented as of olive oils are not the same. The crude imitations. The

A definite program for the part to be taken by the United States in establishing world peace—a challenge to the churches, the people and the Government of this country—will be set forth by the International Good Will Congress, meeting in St. Louis, before its adjournment, Friday, Armistice day.

The Congress begins its sessions at Hotel Chase tomorrow, following a large meeting for young people to be held tonight in St. Louis University Gymnasium. Members of a special committee of the Congress, headed by President Donald J. Cowling of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., were in session last night until an early hour today when the Congress program will be presented. The committee will meet again tonight, and its report will be presented at Friday morning's session, which will precede the Armistice day observances at the Merchants Exchange and Christ Church Cathedral.

Fred B. Smith, chairman of the executive committee of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Church, outlined to a Post-Dispatch reporter today the scope of the committee's discussions, and his own report, made at last night's meeting, of his study of European problems in the last summer, and of the world-wide situation on a recent world tour.

"The people of Europe do not desire that American love peace," Smith said. Everywhere in Europe, it is acknowledged that our sentiment for peace is tremendous. But they ask, what is America going to do, how will it make its sentiments articulate and practical? That is the question this gathering in St. Louis must answer.

"The committee, at its meeting last night, got only as far as a survey of the situation, and it cannot be said just what its program for American action will be. But I can say what I believe it will not be. It will not be a recommendation that the United States enter the League of Nations."

Regrets Decision on League.
"The American people have decided not to go into the League," Smith said, and many others do, but it is up to us to find what the American people can and will do, and to present a program which can be realized.

"Thoughtful people in Europe, who acknowledge the strength of peace sentiment in the United States still are asking whether this sentiment is strong enough to lead this nation to make economic sacrifices, if necessary to preserve world peace. For instance, if a European Nation began an aggressive war, would we insist on our right to furnish the sinews of war to that nation? How far will we go to maintain peace and to outlaw war?"

Fred B. Smith, chairman of the executive committee of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, outlined to the Good Will Congress today the scope of the committee's discussions, and his own report, made at last night's meeting, of his study of European problems in the last summer, and of the world-wide situation on a recent world tour.

"The people of Europe do not want that Americans love peace," Smith said. Everywhere in Europe, he said, the sentiment of peace is tremendous. But they ask, what is America going to do, how will it make its sentiments articulate and practical? That is the question this gathering in St. Louis must answer.

"The committee, at its meeting last night, got only as far as a survey of the situation, and it cannot be said what its program for American action will be. I don't know what I believe it will be. It will not be a recommendation that the United States enter the League of Nations."

Smith's decision on League of Nations action was the latest he declared to go into the League. I regret that decision, and many others do, but it is up to us to find what the American people will do, and to present a program which they can accept.

"Thoughtful people in Europe, who acknowledge the strength of peace sentiment in the United States still are asking whether this sentiment is strong enough to lead the nation to make economic sacrifices, if necessary, to preserve world peace. For instance, if a European Nation began an aggressive war, would we insist on our right to furnish the sinews of war to that nation? If we do, we must maintain peace and to our own ruin."

Russia and Italy Menace.

Smith, in emphasizing the importance of the American position, said the people of Europe, eager for peace, still felt almost helpless in view of actual menaces to peace, arising from the present attitude of Russia and the apparent future of Italy.

"There is a great aroused hope for peace in Europe," he said. "The people of all countries, France no less than the others, earnestly desire to have no further war. But the Russian situation simply terrifies them."

"As for Italy, no immediate plan for a war of aggression can be discerned. But under the Mussolini regime, Italy is settling down to a world philosophy, to the effect that in time Italy will have to exist, whether it destroys world peace or not."

"People in Italy say, 'We don't wish to upset world peace, but what are we going to do, with our overcrowded population, if the nations try to put a wall around us?'"

Boundary Lines a Peril.

"In my view, abiding peace will be possible unless there is a revolutionary method of revising the old methods of armed revision. It is likely to be resorted to, for the deep resentment over these boundaries is not dying down. This is the fearful feeling about Russia, has a paralyzing effect on the peace sentiment of Europe, and makes people, in spite of themselves, join in repeating the old demand for 'security.'"

MOVE TO DRIVE IGNORANCE OUT OF NATION'S JURY BOX BEGUN BY SENATOR NORRIS

Plan for Congress to Work Out Broad Reform in Federal Courts, Which Could Be Adopted in the States.

By PAUL V. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—"A rule which makes ignorance a virtue and bars enlightened men from jury service is a stupid rule on its face and should be abolished without any more delay."

With this statement Senator Norris of Nebraska, who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, announced today that he intended soon to launch an inquiry before his committee aimed at broad reform in the rules governing the selection of juries in the Federal Courts.

His decision is a direct reaction to the spectacles afforded by the oil cases and especially by the conspiracy trials of Albert Fall and E. L. Doheny and Fall and Harry Sinclair. In both those cases the public was treated to the sight of jurors being chosen for the fact that they had never heard of these famous cases or had paid no attention to them. In other words, where information was a test of good citizenship, jurors were preferred for their lack of it.

"The time never was more opportune for reform," said Senator Norris, "and the necessity for it was never more apparent to the public mind. The more intelligent citizens simply have got to be brought to the responsibility of accepting jury service, and the rules have got to be amended so that their intelligence will not be a reason for excluding them."

"In New York the author of the Baumes law (providing a life term for the fourth offense under a felony charge) has pointed out that the mere fact a man has read the newspapers does not make him a juror. He should not disqualify him for serving on the jury which tries the case. Every intelligent person reads the newspapers. What becomes of the trial if a man is excluded from a jury because he has read the papers? If jury service is confined to morons and illiterates? It would be a good deal more sensible to make a rule that a man is ineligible for jury service unless he does read the newspapers."

Hearings Will Be Held.

Norris' method of launching a broad investigation of the subject before his committee is simple. He knows that several Senators intend to introduce bills of that character when Congress opens next month. These bills will be referred in the regular order to the Judiciary Committee and will then be subject to hearings.

Judges, leaders of the bar, teachers of law and others who are familiar with the problem, will be invited to appear before the committee and express their views. It is possible that Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court will be the first. He has expressed emphatic opinions on the subject on several occasions, the latest being last Wednesday, when he referred indirectly to the oil trials.

"I believe that the selection of the jury should be more under the control of the judge and less under the control of the attorneys," Senator Norris declared.

"I realize the objections which will be raised. It will be said that judges will be able to railroad men to prison by compelling the selection of juries that are likely to convict."

More Authority for Court.

"The answer, of course, is that you have to depend on the fairness and honesty of the judges when you want to railroad a man. A judge who wants to railroad a man can pretty near railroad him now. Fortunately he usually finds reliable."

"This man," Dr. Holt related, "said the Good Will Congress was just a piece of propaganda. When I questioned his statement, he said, 'You know who is financing it, don't you?'"

"I told him I thought I knew how the meeting was financed, but he asked his idea about it and he replied, 'The soviet government is paying for it.'"

Officers of the organization have stated that the expense budget of the convention will be not much more than $6000, of which about $2000 has been subscribed today. The World Alliance was founded by Andrew Carnegie, and receives part of its support from the Carnegie Foundation.

J. Lionberger Davis, St. Louis banker, presiding at the luncheon, told of having encountered the same idea.

"A man told me," he said, "that this meeting was for the destruction of national defense, and that one of its ideas was to break up the Boy Scouts as a militaristic organization. I found that he had received the idea from another man, and I hunted up the other man, talked to him and referred him to others acquainted with the purpose of the meeting, until he acknowledged his had been mistaken and promised to broadcast his retraction as widely as he had made his charges."

George S. Johns, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, said he conveyed "greetings from one group of war sinners to another, from the Press to the Church."

"The way is open for us all to repent," he added, and said the spirit of peace must be cultivated before the success of efforts for peace can be assured.

KITCHEN 3300 YEARS OLD FOUND IN PALESTINE

Sink and Forefather of Modern Teapot Unearthed at Beisan.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—A portrait of the builder of the Temple of Dagon, mentioned in the Book of Chronicles, and other important discoveries have been unearthed by archeologists of the University of Pennsylvania Museum in Beisan, the biblical Bethshan, in Palestine.

In a kitchen of the fourteenth century B. C., paved with brick, was found a stone water bowl sunk in a corner—the sink of those early days. In store rooms and pantries nearby were uncovered circular pottery ovens with ashes still in them, a grinding stone with quantities of grain, and a corn lying near it, pottery jars with the sesame seed used for oils and sweets, and a pot with a movable strainer, the forerunner of the modern teapot.

Details of the discoveries were disclosed in the first report for the sixth year of the expedition's work made public last night. A new form of ancient writing and relics identifying eight periods of history covering 33 centuries from the time when the Pharaoh Amenophis II ruled in Egypt.

MOVE RENEWED TO EQUALIZE QUOTA OF IMMIGRANTS TO U. S.

Committee Begins Fight for Repeal of "National Origins" Clause, Favoring Britain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The demand for the repeal of the "national origins" clause of the immigration act of 1924 has been renewed here today. A committee for the elimination of this legislation has established headquarters and is going to urge action at the coming session of Congress.

The purpose of this committee is to arouse the public opinion in opposition to the "restrictive and discriminatory legislation contained in the new immigration law by which the number of immigrants that may annually come from Great Britain is fixed at 100,000, without a single dissenting voice held that the law was illegal, and that it had been granted as the result of conspiracy and fraud.

Yet a jury of youthful clerks and mechanics chosen for service chief of the Immigration Service, who had never heard of the oil investigation, or had paid no attention to it, listened to the same evidence which three Federal courts found sufficient to convict a man of conspiracy, and then acquitted Fall and Doheny on a conspiracy charge. The Government did not prefer such jurors, but the defense, under the rules which exist, succeeded in disqualifying every talesman who admitted having any more knowledge of the oil cases than the fact that they were familiar with the facts and had any opinion on the subject.

While considering their verdict, the youthful jurors sang "Bye Bye, Black Bird" and shot craps, a circumstance which seems to have been an accurate measure of the seriousness with which they attached to their duty.

Only One Had Read Cases.

While the Government succeeded in obtaining an older and more serious jury for the trial of Fall and Sinclair, it was limited again to 10 men and two women of whom only one admitted having any more knowledge of the oil cases than the fact that they were familiar with the facts and had any opinion on the subject.

It was indicated today that the question had been discussed at that luncheon and that the President had seen difficulties in reconciling American points of view in such a way as to co-operate in international efforts for progressive warfare through application of economic pressure. The President was represented as having been much interested in Steed's suggestion but as reserving judgment.

COOLIDGE DOUBTS STEED'S PEACE PLAN IS PRACTICAL

Discussed Subject When London
Editor Was His Luncheon Guest at White House.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge has grave doubts of the practicality of peace proposals advanced in this country by Wickham Steed, British journalist, recently a luncheon guest at the White House.

It was indicated today that the question had been discussed at that luncheon and that the President had seen difficulties in reconciling American points of view in such a way as to co-operate in international efforts for progressive warfare through application of economic pressure. The President was represented as having been much interested in Steed's suggestion but as reserving judgment.

The Steed suggestion hinges on proposals that although standing aloof from European political controversies, the Washington Government might assist in the suppression of aggressive warfare by declaring a fixed policy of non-commercial intercourse with a State which had been found to be an aggressor and against which economic measures had been taken by its neighbors.

Robles praised Gomez highly, Senora Gomez Vicerra, widow of one of the slain men, was standing beside the open grave sobbing, became hysterical and began to scream as her husband's body was lowered. Several other women then became hysterical. None of them was a relative of Gomez or his nephew, however.

The coffins were carried from the gates of the cemetery to the graves on the shoulders of some of Gomez's closest friends. Many wreaths and flowers which accompanied the coffins were piled upon the graves after interment.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION INQUIRY Former Indiana Official Called Before Grand Jury.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—Frank Wampler, formerly a member of the Indiana Public Service Commission, appeared today before the Marion County Grand Jury, which is investigating charges of political corruption in Indiana.

Wampler was believed to have been asked concerning a charge of conspiracy to defraud the State of Indiana by Alvin J. Rucker, former Indianapolis corporation counsel, that public utility interests, including the Insull interests of Chicago, in 1924 contributed $10,000 to Gov. Jackson's campaign. Rucker, former Gov. James P. Goodrich testified yesterday.

patch, said he conveyed "greetings from one group of war sinners to another, from the Press to the Church."

TWO MORE GOMEZ LEADERS KILLED BY FIRING SQUAD

Execution of Fernando
Reyes and Silviano Garcia Leaves Two Chiefs of Recent Uprising Alive.

SEVEN SHOT FOR PART IN PLOT

Presidential Candidate Who Led Rebellion Against Calles Buried With Simple Ceremony.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.—Federal troops are rapidly cleaning up the remnants of the Gomez revolutionists in the mountains of Vera Cruz. Two more leaders, Fernando Reyes, and Silviano Garcia, it is officially announced, have been captured and executed. Including Gomez himself and the four executed at the same time, the total of Gomez leaders who have faced the firing squad since Saturday has reached seven.

Generals Almada, and Medina are being closely pursued by scouting parties under the Federal General Escobar, whose field operations have been directly responsible for the sweeping defeat of the revolutionary movement.

With the exception of Almada and Medina, no rebels remain in the Vera Cruz region where Gomez carried on his activities. The Federal Government considers that the only task yet left to be accomplished is the scattering or killing of various groups of regular bandits.

Gomez Followers Surrender.

Official announcement was made that Dr. Jimenez O'Farrell, a Mexico City physician who was in the field with Gomez, had voluntarily surrendered to the Federal troops. Prior to the execution of Gomez, the rebel leader had pleaded for clemency on behalf of O'Farrell, whom he said, he had inveigled into the movement, merely as a physician and surgeon, declaring he was innocent of any revolutionary conspiracy.

Dr. O'Farrell is being brought to Mexico City "to justify his conduct to the President of the Republic."

The bodies of Gomez, presidential candidate, and his nephew, Francisco Gomez Vicerra, who were executed several days ago, were buried yesterday afternoon at the end of a long row of graves in the French cemetery where lie the bodies of Gen. Francisco B. Serrano and several others who were slain in the recent Mexican attempt at revolution.

Serrano and 11 of his associates were buried sometime ago in a row side by side, with Gen. Alfredo R. Quijano at the end.

No Formal Services.

The bodies were lowered into the graves and the excavations were filled without any services or other formalities except a brief funeral oration by Vito Alessio Robles, an old friend of Gomez at whose residence the two bodies rested in state.

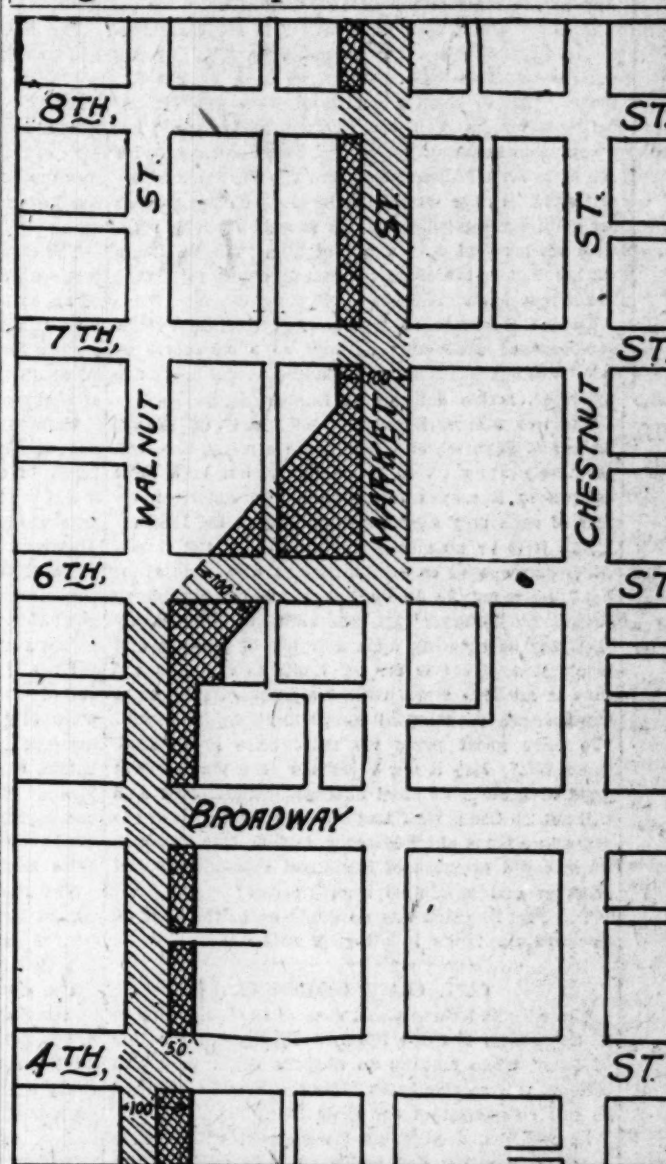

No close relatives of Gomez were present, but a group of young children, being in Los Angeles, Cal., and his mother at Navajon, Sonora. Several friends gathered at the Robles residence before the funeral procession, more at the cemetery and in addition to these there were present at the residence, along the route of march, and at the cemetery a number of spectators. There were no police or military guards present.

There were no demonstrations at the funeral procession and burial, although several women became hysterical at the graveside.

Robles praised Gomez highly, Senora Gomez Vicerra, widow of one of the slain men, was standing beside the open grave sobbing, became hysterical and began to scream as her husband's body was lowered. Several other women then became hysterical. None of them was a relative of Gomez or his nephew, however.

The coffins were carried from the gates of the cemetery to the graves on the shoulders of some of Gomez's closest friends. Many wreaths and flowers which accompanied the coffins were piled upon the graves after interment.

Diagram of Proposed Market St. Cut-Off

In addition to the widening of Market street to 100 feet, from Sixth street to Vandeventer avenue, the project, which may be started physically next year, will extend to Third and Walnut streets by way of the cut-off illustrated here. The heavily shaded area shows property under condemnation on the south side of Market, north side of Walnut and in a large triangular section of the city block bounded by Market, Walnut, Sixth and Seventh streets. The lightly shaded area indicates the rest of the projected wide traffic artery.

TROTSKY FOLLOWERS HOOTED IN MOSCOW JEWES FIGHT DUELS TO END PERSECUTION

Attempt to Arouse Enthusiasm for Him on Soviet Anniversary Fails.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Nov. 8.—The Stalin regime held firm as Moscow celebrated the tenth anniversary of the bolshevik revolution and not even the once powerful Trotsky, now a leader of the opposition, could pass the militia guarding the route of the parade. Trotsky, riding in an open carriage, attempted to pass a cordon, but he did not have a permit and was held up.

Opposition factions attempted to harangue the parading thousands at various points along the line, but loyal communists howled them down and the disturbances were short-lived and ended without police interference. Two opposition members, Preobrazhensky and Smilga, attempted to address the marchers from a hotel balcony. Boos greeted them, however, and they retired. Others, hearing plans for a Trotsky rally, attempted to cross Red Square. Reckless of the crowd forced them to withdraw.

The big parade ended last night with seemingly interminable processions homeward bound to the suburbs. Red Square continued a seething mass of celebrators listening to speeches and radio concerts. All the theaters and clubs gave gala performances and banquets for workers, soldiers and peasants' organizations.

Premier Rykoff was in Leningrad, where he reviewed a big parade, with the historic battleship Aurora participating in the celebration. The Aurora is anchored in the Neva, at the very spot where, in October, 1917, it fired upon the Winter Palace, forcing the surrender of the Kerensky government.

ACTRESS ENDS STAGE SEASON TO TAKE SEAT IN PARLIAMENT

Mabel Russell Resumes Her Place
as Member for Berwick-on-Tweed.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The problem of combining parliamentary and stage careers and at the same time of taking care of a family is easy for Mabel Russell. Miss Russell last night closed her stage engagement, which she filled during the recess of Parliament, and at 8:40 this morning was in her seat in the House of Commons to resume her parliamentary duties for Berwick-on-Tweed.

"I was playing on the stage until late last night and didn't get to bed until after midnight," Mrs. Russell (Mabel Russell) said. "But I thought I'd look in and stake a claim for a before taking my children to school."

LIBRARY OBSCURELY PLACED

LOUVAIN, Belgium, Nov. 8.—The much-assailed inscription chosen for the new Louvain library: "Destroyed by Teutonic Fury, Restored by American Gifts," is so placed on the structure that it will not be readily visible to the casual observer.

Many Americans had objected to the inscription as perpetuating World War hatreds. The legend will be in Latin, worked into the frieze so that even when the building is completed it will be nearly concealed from public view, and not decipherable to the eye.

"I was playing on the stage until late last night and didn't get to bed until after midnight," Mrs. Russell (Mabel Russell) said. "But I thought I'd look in and stake a claim for a before taking my children to school."

DICTATORSHIP IN RUMANIA AT HAND, NEWSPAPER SAYS

Premier Bratianu Reported to Have Submitted Such a Project to National Assembly.

MODELED ON THAT IN FORCE IN SPAIN

Censorship of Press Ordered Until Agitation in Favor of Restoring Prince Carol Dies Down.

By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, Nov. 8.—The independent newspaper Adevaru says this afternoon it understands Premier Bratianu is preparing to establish an absolute dictatorship throughout Rumania, patterned after that of Gen. Primo de Rivera in Spain.

"By the Prime Minister's order a project has been elaborated which will place Rumania under an exceptional regime in which draconian punishment will be applied to offenders," says the newspaper. "All essential public liberties which until the present existed at least on paper will be abolished by this project which will restrain the liberty of action of all citizens in intolerable fashion. The project has been submitted to the National Assembly."

Protests Against Censorship.

"If this news is inexact we await Government denial. If a denial is not forthcoming the opposition and all democratic interests should prepare themselves for a struggle to the bitter end against the factors which constitute disaster to the country."

"This is the last number of Adevaru which will appear without censorship. We protest against the suppression of the liberty of the press and the trampling under foot of the constitution by a Government which only a few days ago declared the Constitution inviolate."

Carol's Name Barred.

Beginning tonight and lasting until the Carolist flurry that resulted in the arrest of Manollescu, former Undersecretary of Finance, is over, censorship will be renewed for all Rumanian newspapers. The royal commissary notified editors of Rumanian papers today that they would not be allowed to mention the name of Prince Carol. The directors of these journals will meet tonight to determine what action they will take, if any.

The notification does not state whether the new order also applies to foreign dispatches.

Latest reports here are that Octavian Coga, former Minister of the Interior in the Averescu Cabinet, has been implicated in the efforts to restore Carol to the throne by the confession of a Miss, Grescoiu of Arad, who is believed to have received secret communications from Paris for Coga.

MARCONI ASSAILED IN COURT HEARING IN LONDON

Shareholder in Wireless Company Says He Accused President of Speculating in Its Stock.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 8.—At a hearing in Chancery today a shareholder of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. declared he wanted President Marconi cross-examined asserting that he had charged the president with speculating in shares of the company for many years and to a very great extent. Marconi was absent on account of illness attributed to nervous strain.

The hearing was on a petition by the company for an injunction of the reduction of its capital from £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) to £1,374,954 ($11,375,000), which was authorized by the shareholders last March to put the company on a sound basis.

Several dissenting shareholders and creditors of the company opposed the petition.

Wilfred Greene, one of the company's attorneys, said that opposition to the petition was based primarily on "a charge of fraud of the greatest possible description."

Counsel for Senator Marconi declared that the inventor had indignantly repudiated the charge of speculating in the stocks of the company and that the charge was now again denied by affidavit.

Wilson's Memoirs Escape Flames.

I know that my retirement will make a difference in its editorial principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privilege and class and public plunderers, never back sympathize with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely gristly news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Tornado Victim Thinks 1927 Taxes Should Be Charged Off.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My home at 4045 Cook was practically destroyed in the tornado and will cost $2500 to rebuild. I only had $100 tornado insurance which was paid on the basis of total loss. I received a tax notice this morning for $58.50 for 1927.

No doubt you know what a terrible hardship the tornado worked upon poor people, and people of moderate means and income. It seems to me that common sense and a spirit of sympathy should dictate the collector (if within his province) to charge off any and all taxes for 1927 of poor people who sustained great loss.

By using ordinary business methods and dispensing with one-third of the political soft snipe in the City Hall, the charge-off could be easily covered without detriment to the public business.

In answer to Good Driver, let me say if we Illinoisans were candid with some of our Missourians, perhaps it would lessen your concern. It is a common occurrence in Illinois on Sundays and holidays to see a Missouri car driving over the middle of the road as though it were the sole possessor—no doubt looking up some slight acquaintance or distant relative, over here where they may get a free meal.

And why mention the make of car, Good Driver? Is your own the next smallest made and you imagine you have a large one, or have you seen a Ford when your pocketbook calls for a Ford? The trouble with you Missourians is you think you are perfect and the whole world is your playground.

Scientists tell us that man during the process of evolution, has retained many of the characteristics of the various animals which preceded him in the evolutionary scale. For instance, here is a man who has all the ferociousness of a tiger, and there is a woman who has the slowness and spiritlessness of a cat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN appointing Jerry Mulloy as Judge of Division No. 2 of the Circuit Court of St. Louis County, Gov. Baker is running true to form.

Every loyal St. Louis citizen should keenly resent this reflection on the county bar which numbers among its personnel quite a few men who are thoroughly capable of filling the position in a highly creditable manner—men who have lived in the county long enough to call it home, men who have helped to make St. Louis County what it is today.

To our fairminded Governor and his confidential dictator, these things are as naught.

OUR ORCHESTRA'S NEW BIRTH.

The guest-conductor plan adopted by our Symphony Orchestra has had an auspicious inaugural. Emil Oberhoffer has done something more than charm the cognoscenti and thrill the untutored. He has convinced the critics by showing them what a conductor of authority, discipline and skill can accomplish with an orchestra of somewhat shattered morale in the brief period of 10 rehearsals.

Such genius, it may be assumed, is not exclusively Mr. Oberhoffer's. It is shared, supposedly, by the other conductors who will appear here during the season. All of them are men of high professional rating. Willem Van Hoogstraten has, during his seven years in the United States, been associated with the New York Philharmonic and the Portland (Ore.) orchestra. In the latter post he has won recognition for solid accomplishment. He is still a young man, with his greatest days ahead of him. The St. Louis engagement is, therefore, for him an opportunity that challenges his ambition.

Eugene Goossens of London and Rochester is a composer of distinction as well as a conductor of established position. His outstanding quality, we are informed, is his delicacy of interpretation.

The two others, Bernardino Molinari of Rome, Italy, and Schurich of Wiesbaden, Germany, are comparatively unknown in this country, but both have impressive European reputations. The American career of each may have its beginning in St. Louis.

And it is by no means impossible that the season which has opened so brilliantly and with such alluring promise may be an epochal year in our Symphony Orchestra's history. This institution, with its worthy past may be entering upon a future of prestige and inspiration. That is for St. Louis to say, and the time to say it is now. Walt Whitman's dictum as to another art is accepted as philosophically sound: "To have great poets we must have great audiences, too." May it not be equally true that to have great orchestras we must have great audiences? And will not St. Louis, shuffling off the mortal coils of the years in a blaze of adolescence, include fine music in its splendid program of industrial expansion, social progress and municipal beautification?

The Post-Dispatch has no doubt as to the answer. Forward St. Louis in all good things.

CAPT. GRAY'S DEPENDENTS.

The wife and three small sons of Capt. Hawthorne C. Gray, who lost his life last Friday "in the line of duty" while making an altitude flight in a free balloon, will receive $2700 from the War Department as full compensation for their loss.

In addition, a generous Government will provide a casket, a cotton flag and a soldier's grave in Arlington Cemetery. That is probably all Gray would have asked for himself, but certainly the Government of the United States can do more for the dependents of a brave officer than the $2700 allowance, representing six months' pay, provided for under army regulations. True, Capt. Gray is said to have carried $10,000 Government insurance on his life. But that represents no gift from the Government. The premium on such policies is taken from the soldier's pay monthly, and in Capt. Gray's case the payment had extended over a period of 10 years. Payment of the $10,000 is made in monthly installments amounting to about $60 each. Capt. Gray is said to have had no other income than his pay as an army aviator. It therefore requires but slight imagination to determine how far $60 a month will go toward taking care of his widow and orphans, each monthly check serving as a reminder that the end of the fund is not far distant.

In view of the recent proposal to obtain retired pay amounting to $4500 annually for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flight hero, through a special act of Congress, it seems fitting that some similar action should be taken in behalf of the dependents of Capt. Gray, who, like Lindbergh, sought to solve the mysteries of the upper air.

THE LEAGUE IS SKIDDING.

When New York sent an Anti-Saloon League superintendent to Sing Sing, the League displayed anger but not fear. When the Indiana Supreme Court recently sentenced another League superintendent for contempt, the organization became very wrath but showed no signs of trepidation. But now that it is threatened with investigation and defeat of one of its pet measures by the Ohio Legislature, it is experiencing the first real scare of its career.

And for the best of reasons, too. Ohio is the native terrain of the League, and the town of Westerville is still its national headquarters. What is more, in Ohio it put on the statute books its own novel idea of how to enforce prohibition. Volunteer bands of spies and snipers were permitted to collect fees for getting convictions. Justices of the peace were allowed to obtain fees for rendering verdicts of guilty.

The United States Supreme Court has buried this infamous system under an avalanche of denunciation, but the League, intoxicated from its long surerality, is planning to get it back on the statute books. Apparently, the League has bitten off more than it can chew. The people of Ohio have tasted both tyranny and freedom, and there is every evidence to believe that they have learned to prefer what they ought to. They have set up a hue and cry against the millions of the League which is resounding from end to end of their commonwealth. Instead of bowing meekly to the yoke they wore so long, they are supporting the move to have the League in Ohio given a public airing by the Legislature.

So there is excuse enough for the League to display fear and trembling. It could stand the opposition which other States gave it, because it was secure in the old home fort. But when the former faithful begin to revolt, when Ohioans start turning upon it, when rebellion arises within its own stockade—why then it is time to waver.

McKECHNIE'S TOUGH ASSIGNMENT.

Bill McKechnie has his job cut out for him. His two immediate predecessors were Rogers Hornsby and Bob O'Farrell. Hornsby led the Cardinals to a pennant and world championship, the first glorious climax of its kind since Pecoschophorus Erectus led the Cave Men to victory in the Stone Age League, or some such prehistoric time. Bob O'Farrell took a team afflicted with charley horse, gonf, housemaid's knee, lumbago and acute rheumatism and finished in second place after a grueling drive, in which the afflicted Cardinals shone like the champions they were.

In their wisdom, Sam Braddon and Branch Rickey have changed managers for the third time in three years, and, to be sure, they have got a pipkin in the person of McKechnie, a bustling genie of the diamond, who has a pennant and world championship to his credit while serving as manager of the Pirates. But Bill cannot do better than Hornsby, nor do we think he could have bettered O'Farrell's performance this year. It is a tough assignment and he will have to win the pennant next year sure enough to convince the boys in the bleachers that his bosses know best.

THE SLIPPERY MR. BURNS.

The William J. Burns Detective Agency is the great and good friend and supporter of justice in the courts, according to William J. Burns. The work of the Burns Detective Agency is to protect the integrity of the jury against the prosecution by the Government. It was the prosecution who were trying to tamper with the jurors, and the detectives were trying to protect them.

The Government has had villainous support of detectives in the prosecution of defendants. This kind of support was given in the Oregon land fraud case by William J. Burns himself, who helped to pack a jury to convict Jones, the defendant, who was regarded as an undesirable person by Government officials at that time.

Unfortunately, in the oil fraud cases the facts do not support Mr. Burns' theory. His theory was punctured in the very beginning by the discovery that it was based on a false charge against an official in the Attorney-General's office and a lie. His charge that Assistant Attorney-General H. R. Lamb had followed Juror Glascock to the Potomac flying field and conversed with him was completely disproved. His statement that he had filed an affidavit concerning Lamb before Justice Siddons was denied by Justice Siddons.

Even if Mr. Burns' theory had not been knocked out of court by the facts, he would yet have to explain why it was necessary for his detectives to seek information concerning the financial condition, the habits, associates, business and character of the jurors. Shadowing jurors for protection is one thing, and spying and investigating jurors to discover their weaknesses, resources and financial obligations is quite another.

The fact is the Burns Detective Agency has been caught again doing dirty work to defeat the ends of justice. Burns is an insolent, blustering fellow and is trying to bluster his way out of another mess.

The exposure of the villainy attempted under pay of the Sinclair oil interests is wholesome, but exposure is not enough. The Government should exhaust all the resources of the law to bring to punishment every man who has been concerned in this vicious conspiracy.

The political forecasters look as dolefully upon the tenth anniversary of bolshevism as the dramatic forecasters contemplate the record run of "Able's Irish Rose."

WIDENING THE ST. CHARLES ROAD.

Progress is being made in the important matter of widening the city outlets. The Post-Dispatch revealed some days ago that narrow outlets are no longer the policy of the State Highway Commission, which is already widening a short stretch of the LeMay Ferry road, beyond the south limits of the city, to 40 feet.

Following that progressive step, the commission is now undertaking a survey to ascertain what it will cost to widen St. Charles road between Wellston and the Missouri River from 18 to 36 feet. It is thought there will be no additional cost for right of way, which will likely be donated by property owners and communities benefitting by the improvement. The approximate cost before a survey makes this more definite is from $500,000 to $600,000.

There ought not to be too much rivalry between a project which means so much to the State and lesser improvements in sparsely populated regions. St. Louis and St. Louis County supply 27.7 per cent of the State road fund, and they receive but 5 per cent of it. The St. Charles road is part of the national east and west highway through Missouri. It carries all the bus traffic between St. Louis and Kansas City. The congestion upon it has impaired its usefulness and made it an annoyance to tourists passing through the State. It should be widened with all possible expedition, and it is encouraging to know that this is the opinion of the State Highway Commission.

We presume that an investigation is unethical only if Mr. Burns does not happen to be paid for it.

WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS.

Hardly has Admiral Magruder been disciplined for speaking his mind than there is published a new and excellent biography of Andrew Jackson, by Gerald W. Johnson. Perhaps some may not at once grasp the relation of these events, but we consider them renewed proof that there really is an eternal fitness of things.

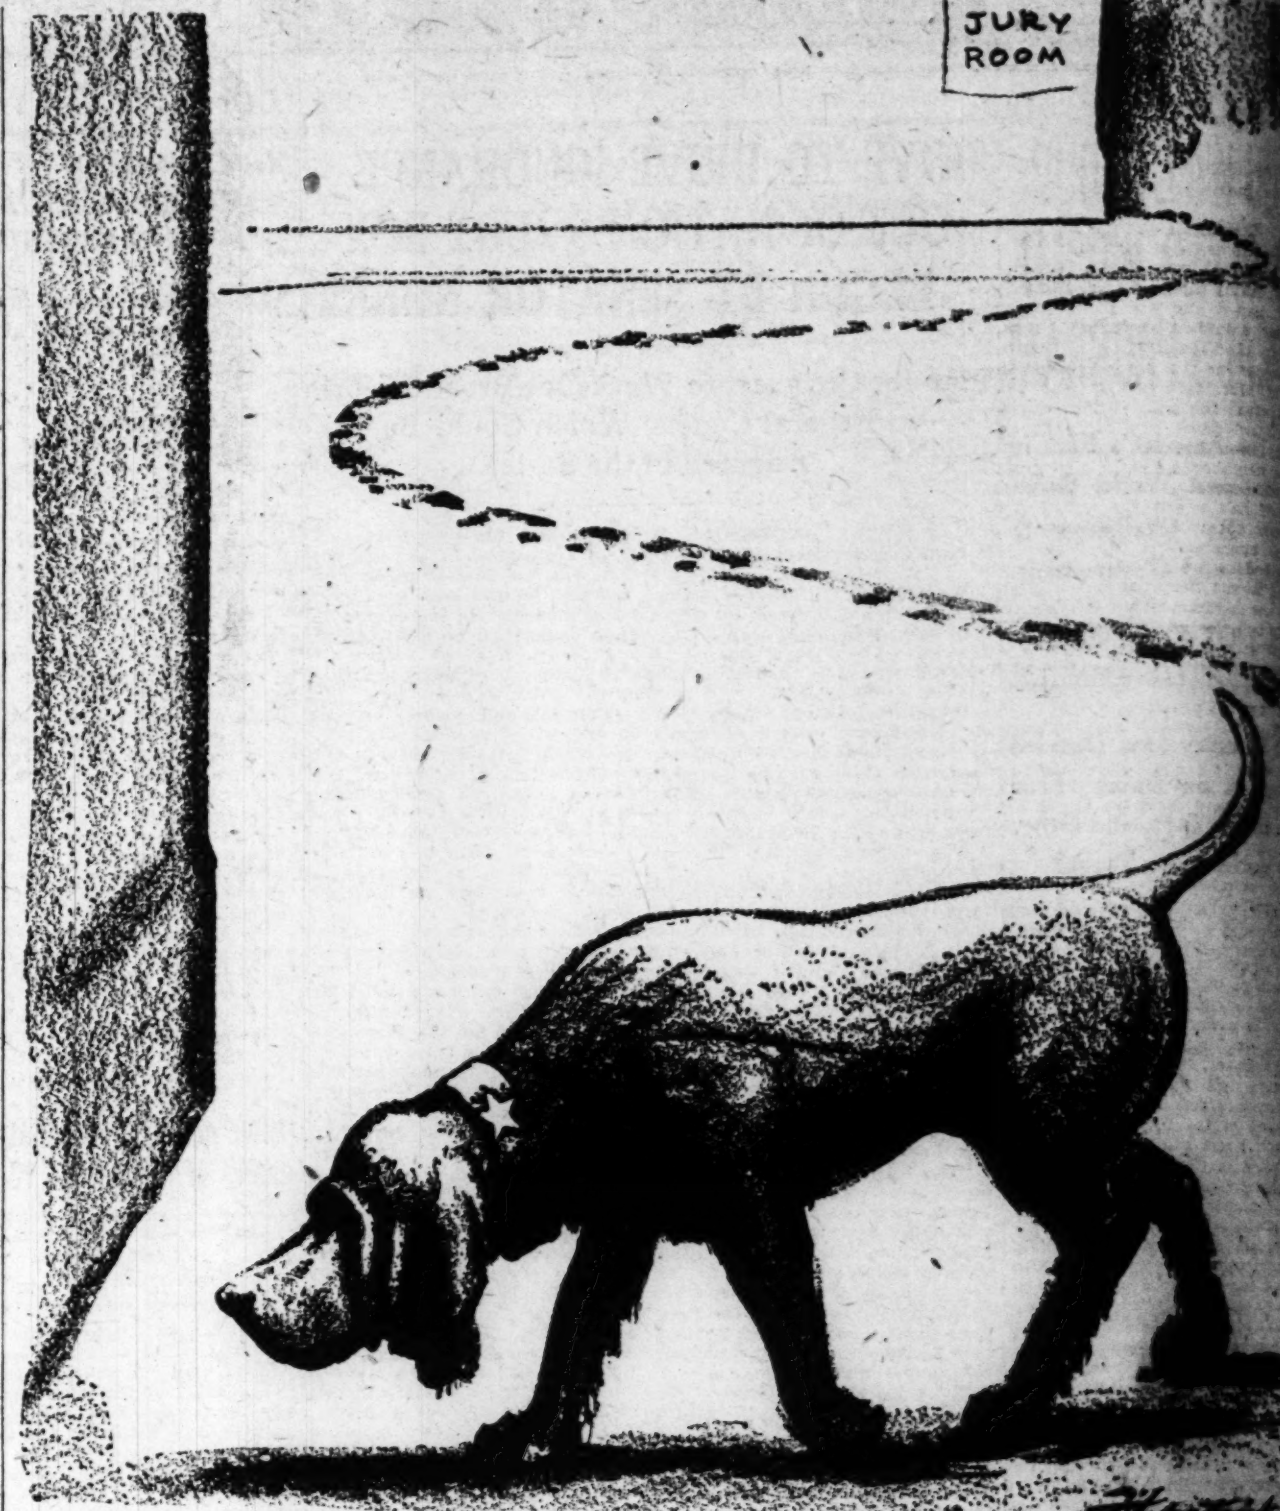

The offense of Admiral Magruder, you will remember, was criticizing our Federal bureaucracy. He said that there were too many swivel-chair admirals at Washington. He said that all these individuals did was invent new sorts of red tape, and scheme up unnecessary tasks for the men in active service. He said "because of the inefficiency of these naval jobholders the American people were annually paying $300,000,000 for $200,000,000 worth of navy."

For saying this, he was bounced from his post at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. The fact that nobody could refute his charges did not save him. The bureaucracy, by getting him punished regardless of it, proved that. It is so well entrenched as to be able to do pretty much what it pleases to those who defy it.

Just here where old Andrew Jackson comes in. Mr. Johnson shows that when he came to Washington, he found the Government burdened with a bureaucracy as all-powerful and truculent as our present one. What did he do about it? Did he accept things as they were, and let bureaucracy continue to thrive and disfigure? Hardly. Being both a believer in democracy and a first rate fighting man, he cleaned house. He restored the Government to its "fundament" by the simple device of firing the jobholders. When he got through the once triumphant bureaucracy was scattered all the way from New England to Georgia.

Admiral Magruder's trouncing showed us what was wrong with this country. Mr. Johnson's biography of Old Hickory shows us just what is needed to set things right.

A SMASHING PLATFORM.

From a leaflet issued to the press, announcing acceptance of his nomination to Congress, by S. Harrison White of Denver, Colo., former Supreme Judge.

HON. HERBERT C. FAIRALL, Chairman, Democratic Congressional Committee, First District, Denver, Colorado.

I accept the nomination to Congress: Because I believe in democracy; Because I believe in the highest and widest liberty for the individual under the law; Because I believe in the right of the people to amend any law which is oppressive or ineffective;

Because I believe in obedience to the law; Because I believe in temperance. Specifically, I believe in the modification of the Volstead act;

Because of the official failure to enforce the prohibitory provisions and because of the individual disregard of an oppressive enactment;

Because it has been and is the most demoralizing and corrupting force in American history;

Because it has produced official and private hypocrisy and has produced general disregard for all law; Because it does not prohibit; Because it is making hypocrites of adults and secret drinkers of the youth of America; Because it is breaking down the character of the American people by its false pretenses;

Because it has brought upon our people a horde of petty tyrants who, under authority of a bad law, are making outrageous invasions of the rights of citizens of this republic. As I read the platform upon which I was nominated, there is no fight against prohibition since there is no such thing as prohibition in the United States.

For the first time in eight years a national party represented in a Congressional District has come out in plain words with the truth concerning this momentous issue. We cannot have temperance while the whole land is filled with illicit manufacture and illicitly distributed intoxicating liquors.

We cannot have respect for any law while the mass of the people are guilty of or accessory to the violation of one law. The issue is not then one against a pretended prohibition, but is one of honesty, public integrity and personal morals against the hypocrisy and debauchery which threaten the economic generation with ruin.

Colorado is the leader now in a fight for national decency. I call upon all citizens who desire to maintain respect for law and who desire to cure the appalling conditions which have come upon all the communities of the United States because of the defiance of law to join in this effort for national decency.

The law is abused; it never has been enforced; it never can be enforced; it ought to be amended. I believe in observance of law but I believe in repealing bad laws and making good ones.

There is one condition which I impose upon my acceptance: It is that no one of our communities in this campaign shall solicit or accept any financial contribution whatever from any organization or person outside the State of Colorado. This is Denver's fight against hypocrisy. It is Colorado's leadership in a campaign for national decency. The citizens of Colorado can carry this campaign to whatever end they desire—either to a continuance of public hypocrisy and personal law breaking or to a respect for law and a restoration of public dignity and the safety of private life.

Yours respectfully,
S. HARRISON WHITE.
Denver, Colorado,
Oct. 17, 1927.

PNEUMATIC DRILLS.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

THIS is an age of construction (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d). One looks with wonder and admiration at the marvels (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) of steel and concrete that rise majestically (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) about him.

There is a poetry in building itself (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d). There is a rhythm in the workman's tools (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d). They seem to be singing (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) of man's conquest of matter (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d). Listening to the staccato notes (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) of the pneumatic drill (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) as it beats its way through massive thickness of masonry (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) one finds a practical lesson in (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) persistence.

The pneumatic drill is (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) persistent. It never seems to tire (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d). And so even the most obstinate material (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) yields before it. If we could only emulate the persistence of the pneumatic drill (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) what could we not accomplish (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d)? If we could only think things (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) through as the pneumatic hammer drives things through (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d) how many holes we might make in other people's intellects (b-r-r-d-b-r-r-d).

Of Making M
JOHN G. NEThe Law of Scared
Dogs

UPPER AND PIES. By Ellis Parker Butler. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

ACCORDING to Ellis Parker Butler's latest volume now of-ficed by way of alleviating the sadness of the world, one Murchison had a pup wished on him by some unknown party in a distant city. And because the expressed bid, Murchison had not the heart to refuse the gift. Under the descriptive name of Fluff, the pup very soon became prominent in the neighborhood—far too prominent. Fluff had a gift for music that seems not to have met with general appreciation. He was described as "an amateur for home" and it was the unanimous opinion of the philistines who lay awake nights listening to Fluff's recitals that he was "drawing his raw soul over the teeth of a rusty harrow" —obviously a bit of impressionism.
The musical criticism.

Fluff is said to have been a complete fief, not only as a canine singer, but even as a plain dog; for as he grew up he came more and more to resemble an amateur canine, but to make a really convincing canine, "he needed a shorter neck and more hump." Anyway one looked at him he didn't stand to reason at all, and there was much learned discussion by the local dog experts as to what he might be good for. Once, in a moment of inspiration, it was decided by the neighbors in solemn convocation that Fluff was undeut-edly an excellent bird dog. The official test brought out the interesting fact that Fluff was a pho-nomenal foot racer, for at the sound of the first gun he started back home after something overlooked in the hurry of departure, taking his master with him at the end of his chain.

This revelation led to an important scientific experiment, which resulted in the discovery of the law of scared dogs. For some time after the trial of Fluff as a bird dog, it was Murchison's custom to fire a shotgun over Fluff when he and the neighbors were becoming desperate over the sleeping proposition. Fluff would set out for points unknown at a high rate of speed. One of the more powerful thinkers of the block advised that Fluff always returned after the lapse of a definite period of time—48 hours—and careful calculation indicated that in this period the dog covered exactly 1440 miles, out and back.

It is a rather difficult matter to put the stamp of type upon
"The Cradle Song" which Miss Ernestine Gaillette's Civic Repertory company brought to the American Theater last night. Miss Le Gallienne herself is pleased to designate this little offering from the Spanish of Gregorio and Maria Sierra, as a comedy but hardly deserving the brightness and sparkle of its lines allow it to be placed in that class and its entire lack of movement precludes it being called a drama. In the generally accepted manner of other works. Rather this little play is a crooning lullaby of the theater, a spiritual as tender and sweet and as simple as the four convent wails within which its two acts are laid. The very properly unobtrusive rally of the nuns of the convent brings smiles, rather than laughter and the tenderness, rather than any note of sadness, kept last night's most appreciative audience in tears a greater part of the time.

The story of the play is very very thin and, despite the religious

REINFORCED IN COLORADO STRIKE

 Two Hundred Deputies
 Guard Jail at Walsenburg
 Where I. W. W. Leaders Are Held Incommunicado

 By the Associated Press.
 DENVER, Colo., Nov. 8.—A tense atmosphere prevailed in sections of the Southern Colorado coal fields today after a night of suspense during which special police guarded jails where strike leaders were confined, while signal flares and fires marked camps of strikers.

 With the arrest of nearly a score of strike leaders yesterday, including several officials of the Industrial Workers of the World, picketing ceased and many miners returned to work. However, strikers immediately started demonstrations protesting the arrests, causing authorities to muster scores of special officers.

 The strike leaders first were confined at Walsenburg, headquarters of the I. W. W. in the southern field. Hundreds of miners abandoned their mass meetings on mine properties, known as "legalized picketing," and took up positions in nearby hills and along highways.
 Dusk found these camps marked by fires and as darkness settled flares appeared at several points.
 An occasional rocket was set off.
 While the meaning of the signals was unknown, officers found all roads leading from Walsenburg were guarded by strikers. At midnight reports were current that strikers were mobilizing to attack the jail to liberate their leaders.
 More deputies were sworn in and armed with riot guns.

 200 Deputies Guard Jail.
 Despite the highway patrols, Walsenburg officers succeeded in transferring several prisoners to Pueblo, about 70 miles north. The sheriff at Pueblo mustered more than 200 deputies to guard the jail.
 Strikers arrested and held in-communicado included: Roger Francison, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the I. W. W. and Kristen Svanum, in charge of all I. W. W. activities in coal and metal mines. Authorities declared that they had arrested all the leading I. W. W. organizers in the Walsenburg field.
 While picketing stopped in the southern field, operations in the northern lignite area reported strike activities had increased and that many miners recently returned to work had again walked out. Gov. W. H. Adams, who recently took advantage of a State law to send police to the southern district, ordered a score of special officers to northern points.

 Machine Gun Mounted.
 Strikers near Walsenburg had more than 100 automobiles at their disposal and one large caravan formed 20 miles north of that place. It was understood they planned to invade properties where miners were returning to work.
 In addition to heavy forces of armed guards, a machine gun was placed in the courthouse at Walsenburg. It covered the entrance to the jail. A squad of State police was sent to an unknown point with another machine gun. They carried 50,000 rounds of ammunition.

 Guards of the Rocky Mountain Fuel & Iron Co. at the Columbine mine in Northern Colorado, were reinforced in anticipation of a renewal of picketing activities. More than 800 men and women were driven from the mine yesterday.
 It was the only property in that section to continue operations.

WALDMAN AND SON-IN-LAW

 Borrower on Auto Says Machine

 $100 Loan and Interest.

 Wrongful replevin of a sedan from Charles E. Hehl of 6419
 Nashville avenue is charged in a $25,000 damage suit he filed yesterday against Alderman Waldman of the Twenty-eighth Ward; Wald-man's son-in-law, Mort J. Rosenblatt of the St. Louis Discount Co., 2677 Washington boulevard, and Jack Nece, a Deputy Constable.
 Hehl alleges that Waldman and Nece are silent partners in the company, and avers the concern charged usurious interest.

 Although, he maintains, he repaid a $100 loan obtained from the company last January, Hehl alleged his car was seized at night last month, under a chattel mortgage agreement, and the commotion caused apprised neighbors of the seizure, to Hehl's humiliation.
 He asserted he had not been given opportunity to examine the papers he was forced to sign in getting the loan.

 Waldman said he was not connected with the discount business, did not know Hehl or Nece, and knew nothing of the allegations.
 Rosenblatt declared, "The suit doesn't mean anything," and denied that usury was practiced in the business.
 An aldermanic investigation is pending of an agreement whereby Rosenblatt was to have been paid $1200 for "certain services in getting certain legislation for service car drivers."

MAN SLUGGED, HIS WIFE KIDNAPED AND SLAIN

Pair in Auto Overtaken on Road Near Dousman, Wis., and Attacked.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.— Kidnaped last night after her husband had been slugged and thrown into a ditch, Mrs. Emma Greenwald of Mount Horeb, Wis., was found slain near Dousman, Wis., today.

The attack took place three miles east of Waukesha last night as the pair were returning to Mount Horeb after a visit to Milwaukee.
They were halted by a large car.
Greenwald was struck on the head and knocked unconscious and left lying in a marsh. Several hours later he staggered to the roadhouse of Frank Taol and was taken to the Waukesha hospital.

The body of Lillian Graef, 19-year-old Milwaukee girl, was taken, Saturday, from the Fox River, near Waukesha, three miles from where the Greenwalds were attacked. She had been beaten and strangled.

Greenwald told authorities they were overtaken by a large automobile sounding a siren. One of the three men got out of the machine and inquired, "What was the idea of so much speed?" Greenwald stated to get out of his automobile and one of the men drew a revolver and hit him on the head.

INCREASE IN GASOLINE TAXES

$101,250,841 Collected by States in Six Months.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Gasoline taxes were 19.2 per cent larger for the first six months of this year than they were in the same period a year ago. A total of $101,250,- 841 was paid into State treasuries for that period, the Bureau of Public Roads reported today, indicating that 4,919,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed by motor vehicles, including estimated amounts for those States not imposing the tax. Gasoline consumption was reported to show an increase of 11.4 per cent while vehicle registration increased only 7 per cent.

Gasoline taxes were imposed in all but four States and two of those have since adopted a tax so that only two States, New York and Massachusetts, do not now tax gasoline. The rate of tax on June 30 ranged from 2 to 8 cents a gallon and averaged 2.55 cents.

Crossing Watchman Shot in Shanty
Nick Ostendorf, 60 years old, a watchman, was struck in the right hip by one of three bullets fired early yesterday into his shanty at the Illinois Traction System crossing two miles southwest of Edwardsville by a passing motorist.
Ostendorf said he believed the shots were fired out of wantonness and that the motorist did not know there was anyone within range.

PLANS 12,000-MILE FLIGHT
FROM U. S. TO NEW ZEALAND

Capt. F. A. Giles, British Flyer, Plans to Start Friday and Make Three Stops.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.— Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British war ace, plans to hop off Friday across the Pacific Ocean on a three-stop solo flight of nearly 12,- 000 miles from San Francisco to Wellington, New Zealand. His Hess Bluebird biplane, Wanda, is being assembled at Mills Field here.

The perilous undertaking was described as a "purely sporting proposition," backed by W. H.
Rosewarne, a New Zealand construction engineer, living in Detroit, Mich.

Capt. Giles said he intended to fly to Honolulu, thence to Brisbane, Australia, by way of the Fiji Island group. From Brisbane, he plans to fly to Sydney, New South Wales, and on to Wellington.

Giles estimated his flight from Detroit to Wellington would take him 12,101 miles.

Capt. Giles' plane was shipped to San Francisco by train from Elko.

Nov., where he crashed recently while taking off for the coast on the last leg of a flight from Detroit, where the plane was built.
The British flyer originally planned to start his long trans-Pacific flight on Aug. 16, last, flying to Honolulu with the air racers in the Dole aerial derby, but weather conditions and repair work on his plane forced several postponements.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Ill., Nov. 8.—Fire caused by a defective stove, drove 200 pupils from the Pittsburg, Ill., grade and high school in a rain yesterday without their wraps or books. The loss, estimated at $10-000, destroyed two of the four school buildings in the little mining settlement, seven miles northeast of here.

Several of the children were burned in attempting to save books

FEDERAL JUDGE ORDERS RETURN OF $15,000 IN MALT

Rules Minneapolis Seizure Was Illegal Because of Defective Search Warrant.

LEGALITY OF SALE NOT DETERMINED

Volstead to Push Prosecution on Ground That Selling of Home Brewing Supplies Is Unlawful.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.— Inviting the defendant to move for a full dismissal of the Government's proceedings to seize his stock of malt and other materials that can be used for home brew purposes, Federal Judge William A.
Cant yesterday quashed a search warrant which was the basis of a prohibition raid, Oct. 8, on the Cleo Supply Co., Minneapolis.

Judge Cant ordered the Northwest Prohibition Department to return the $15,000 stock to Leo E.
Brill, proprietor, subject to another proceeding brought by the Government. This proceeding is a libel, in which the Government sought to attach the stock on the grounds that it was being illicitly used by purchasers.

Rules Seizure Unlawful.
In handing down the adverse decision, which blocked the Government's campaign to stop sales of malt and other materials for home brewing, Judge Cant held the seizure was unlawful because of a defective search warrant. It and supporting affidavits, signed by prohibition agents, the Court held, did not tally.

While not expanding on the Court's views on the legality of malt sales, Judge Cant passed a memorandum to the decision, in which he invited the defendant to petition for a dismissal of the libel proceeding, which was brought independently of the original seizure.

"It is a matter of regret that the ultimate questions involved here may not be determined on their merits," the memorandum said.

"The Court, however, must deal with each case, and with the questions therein as they are presented.
The presentation here was somewhat irregular. The matters set forth, and on which the plaintiff relies, were not in terms contradicted. The Government evidently rested on what it considered the insufficiency of the plaintiff's claims."

Volstead to Push Case.
Andrew J. Volstead, who gave his name to the prohibition enforcement act, and who is continuing his fight for prohibition as legal adviser to the Northwest prohibition enforcement director, said he saw no serious setback for the Government in Judge Cant's decision.

It is the Government's intention, it was indicated, to proceed with the prosecution of both criminal and libel actions against Brill.
The grounds that he is illegally selling materials for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

The raid of the $15,000 stock now set aside, did not add any important evidence to that already in the possession of the Government, according to the prohibition enforcement agents, and they expect to try for convictions without the stock as evidence.

The effort to stop the sale of malt, bottling supplies and other material for home manufacture of liquor containing more than the content of alcohol authorized by law was initiated by Volstead, who seeks to establish a precedent for national efforts along that line.

OBSERVANCE OF "WABASH DAY" President Taussig - Speaks on Growth of Road.

J. E. Taussig, president of the Wabash Railroad, told of the road's beginning and subsequent growth at a luncheon of the Traffic Club in the Chamber of Commerce dining room yesterday. The raids of the old North Missouri Railroad, predecessor of the Wabash, were bought in England and paid for in gold, being shipped up the Mississippi by steamer, from New Orleans, he said.

The Wabash system now serves 521 towns and, cities in eight states. Taussig related that St. Louis alone are 2200 employees with an annual local payroll of more than $5,000,000. Taussig's address was the Traffic Club's principal observance of "Wabash Day."

ARMED YOUTH, 17, ARRESTED

Caught Near City Hospital: Says
He Had Weapon for Protection.

Police summoned to City Hospital last night by George Helm, night telephone operator, found an armed youth who said he was Frank Kope, 17 years old, of 318
North First street, East St. Louis.
He was hiding from a man named "Blackie" who had threatened him and he carried the revolver for protection, he said. A warrant charging carrying a concealed weapon will be applied for.

STENCH BOMBS PUT INTO 2 SERVICE CARS

Policeman Shoots at Machine
From Which One Missile Was Tossed.

Stench bombs were thrown into two service cars yesterday afternoon and last night. Police think this may be another expression of racial differences between service car drivers, which were aired at the recent Aldermanic inquiry into a fund raised in an effort to obtain legislation regulating the operation of service cars.

The car of William Okenfuss, 2414 McNair avenue, was parked last midnight at High street and Lucas avenue when a stench bomb was thrown into it by two men who sped past in another machine. Patrolman Joseph Pfeiffer witnessed the incident and called on the two men to stop. When they kept on, he fired two shots at the car.

Washington avenue, was parked at Eighteenth and Locust streets at 1:30 p. m. when two men in a passing car tossed a stench bomb into it, breaking a window glass.

Youth Perishes in Dairy Fire.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 8.—
John Beah, 13 years old, formerly of Pierce City, Mo., was burned to death this morning when fire destroyed a bunk house on a dairy

"ASK ME ANOTHER" FASHION QUESTIONS

by Sarah Van Rensselaer

My dear Miss Van Rensselaer:

Could you possibly inform me when skirts will return to a decent length and when underthings will be more than shapeless wisps of silk?

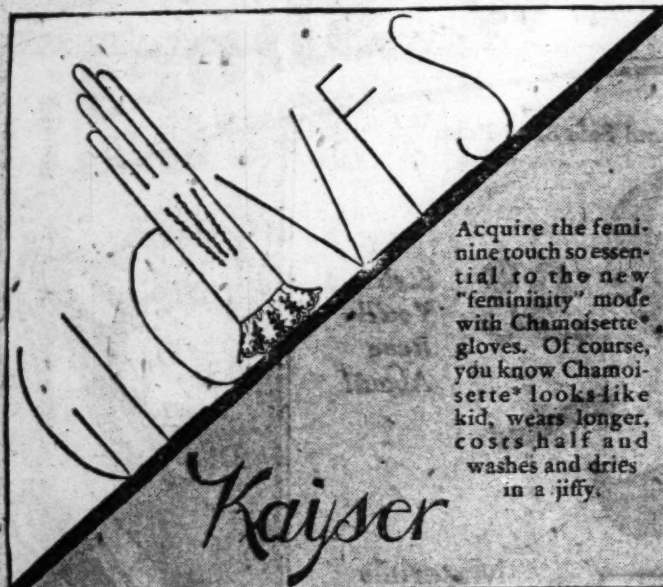

Boston, Mass.

Miss P. M.

Skirts are a decent length now—it has been proved that the present day skirt is highly moral compared with the long, swishy affair of former decades. Why not wear the Slipper Heel hosiery which slenderizes the ankle—then, you might enjoy the mode more?

Underthings are not shapeless—Kaysers employ expert designers who create the new styles on highly scientific lines to make the figure straight-lined. Perhaps you've been wearing an incorrect style. Try the Kaysers' bandeau style and you'll never want the styles to change.

S. V. R.

Acquire the feminine touch so essential to the new "femininity" mode with Chamoisette gloves. Of course, you know Chamoisette looks like kid, wears longer, costs half and dries in a jiffy.

Kaysers

Be chic and yet be wise—by wearing Italian Silk Marvelfit Bloomers. Chic because they are the very foundation for the smart costume, in colors to match, and designed to cling to the figure. Practical because the Marvelfit feature gives longer wear and allows for freedom of movement.

Kaysers

In the present day mode the knee and ankle share equally in fashion honors. It is important to have the sheer textured silk of the hose reach well above the knee as it is to have the ankle appear smartly slender and trim. Slipper Heel Hosiery, exclusively Kaysers, achieves both results.

CLEAR FIELD FOR GARDNER FOR GOVERNORSHIP URGED

Lon Sanders Asks Other Prospective Democratic Candidates to Retire.

An appeal for the Democratic party in Missouri to unite upon former Gov. Frederick D. Gardner as its candidate for Governor has been sent to five Democrats, mentioned in connection with the office, by Lon Sanders of St. Louis, himself urged as a candidate.

Those addressed by Sanders are Francis M. Wilson of Kansas City, former State Senator, who has the support of Tom Pendergast, Democratic leader in Jackson County; Dr. A. W. Nelson of Buncheon, the party's nominee in the last election; Stephen B. Hunter of Cape Girardeau, former Judge Daniel G. Taylor of St. Louis, and State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, the only avowed candidate in the group.

In his letter Sanders said: "After conferring with party leaders all over the State I am convinced that the record made by our last Democratic Governor of Missouri stands as one of the most successful business administrations Missouri has experienced for a long period. I want to suggest that each of us agree to center our efforts upon trying to induce Frederick D. Gardner to become the candidate for Governor and, if he will do so, to throw all the strength we may have to him."

"From the beginning I have made the statement that I would not oppose Gov. Gardner and that I desired to see him the candidate and the consideration of my name must be only after he has definitely decided not to become a candidate."

DENIAL OF CLAIM ON MOLL

ESTATE UPHELD BY COURT

Appellate Division Decides Mrs. May Hickey Alleged Common Law Wife, Is Not Legal Heir.

Circuit Judge Percy's action in denying the claim of Mrs. May Hickey to one-half the $150,000 estate of Frederick Moll, liquor dealer who died in 1922, as his common law wife, today was upheld by the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

A jury had heard Mrs. Hickey's claim on an appeal from the Probate Court, but was acting only in an advisory capacity to Judge Percy. The jury recommended that Mrs. Hickey be named the lawful wife of Moll. Judge Percy ruled, however, that under the law Mrs. Hickey had failed to establish her claim satisfactorily.

The Appellate Court, in a decision written by Commissioner Walter Bennick, called attention to Mrs. Hickey's unexplained failure to produce four witnesses who said had been present when Moll acknowledged her as his common law wife in an Olive street rooming house in 1922. The Appellate Court also pointed out that as late as 1917 Moll signed a deed of trust as a single man, and had never told any relative or friend he had contracted an alliance with Mrs. Hickey.

A will left by Moll gave half his estate to a grandson, Frederick Moll, and half to Siegfried Pollock, son of Moll's attorney, Philip C. Pollock. The will was set aside in June, 1924 and Frederick Moll proclaimed the sole heir.

PLAYGROUND FOR NEGROES IN TORNADO ZONE FAVORED

City Plan Commission Recommends Purchase of 12 Acres at Vandeventer and Finney.

Acquisition of two city blocks, aggregating 12 acres, bounded by Vandeventer avenue, Sarah street, West Belle place and Finney avenues, as a playground for Negroes, at an estimated cost of $478,000, was recommended by the City Plan Commission yesterday. This would involve the vacation of Fairfax avenue between Vandeventer and Sarah, but the commission says, would utilize a section where much damage was done by the recent tornado and help build up the neighborhood.

At the same time, the commission recommended repeal of the ordinance directing the acquisition of two blocks—six acres—bounded by Jefferson and Clifton streets, Randolph and Twenty-third streets, as a Negro playground, on the ground that the estimated cost, $452,000, was too great.

Engineer Bartholomew of the commission, said three children probably could use the Jefferson avenue site for every one using the Finney avenue set, but agreed with the change because he thought the cost of the former would be $200,000 more than had been estimated. Park Commissioner Pape, urging the change, said the residents of the western neighborhood would be the more likely to appreciate the playground. A swimming pool and soccer and baseball fields could be built there, he added.

1500 MASONIC LODGE MEMBERS GOING ON TRIP TO CHICAGO

Will Be in St. Louis at 12:30 P. M. Saturday.

About 1500 St. Louis members of Masonic lodges are to depart on two 10-car Wabash special trains at 12:30 p. m. Saturday to pay a "fraternal visit" to Banner Blue Lodge in Chicago, under auspices of Clifton Heights Lodge No. 520.

Three years ago members of the Chicago lodge paid a similar visit to St. Louis, with 178 persons in the party. St. Louisans, preparing to return the visit, printed 1000 tickets. The first week 900 were sold, and soon 500 additional were required.

Luncheon, dinners, a sight-seeing tour and a formal initiation are among entertainment features scheduled. They will leave Chicago on the return trip at 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

Selling More Goods—with Better Heat

(You can do it better with Gas)

A WARM store asks customers to shop a while. A cold store drives them out. Old-fashioned stoves suggest old-fashioned goods and a lack of stability.

But Clow Gasteam solves the problem.

It asks but a gas connection, not over two square feet of floor, no attention—and is handsome, permanent and up-to-date.

Each Clow Gasteam Radiator is an independent steam heating plant, to be used as needed. No basement is needed. No harm is done the radiators if they freeze.

That's the answer to store heat—and it's just as good for any other building. Convenient buying terms can be arranged.

URGES EFFORTS TO INCREASE BUYING AMONG U. S. FARMERS

S. R. McKelvie Says Agriculture Has Annual Purchasing Power of About $10,000,000,000.

Instead of developing foreign markets as outlets for the growing plants of American industry, efforts should be made to increase buying among the 30,000,000 farmers of America, Sam R. McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska, declared in an address at noon today before the Advertising Club at Hotel Statler. American agriculture has an annual purchasing power of almost $10,000,000,000 for goods and services produced by others, McKelvie said. Farmers purchase about $5,000,000,000 worth of manufactured products each year and supply about one-eighth of the total tonnage carried by the railroad systems of the nation, he declared.

"Even with the greatly improved facilities the farmer enjoys today, he still buys most of the things he needs close to home," McKelvie continued. "Rarely can a farmer be found who is willing to travel more than 20 miles to do his weekly or daily buying. For this reason, the small store and the small merchant always will fill a definite need and they must be made to prosper so industry also may prosper."

McKelvie, since his retirement from public office, has continued publication of a farmers' paper.

PITTSBURG MINERS' WAGES CUT

Second Reduction Within Month Affects 1500 Men.

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Another wage cut, the second within a month, was announced yesterday by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation. Approximately 1700 men are affected by the new scale, the company said.

The new scale provides a wage of 55 cents per ton for pick mining, compared with 94 cents under the previous scale; 55 cents per ton for machine loading, compared with 65 cents; 12 cents per ton for cutting, a reduction of 3 cents, and $4.50 to $6.25 for inside day labor, compared with from $5 to $6.50. The corporation, which operates a number of mines in the Pittsburgh district under the nonunion plan, declared the "steady decline in the price of coal without any immediate hope of improvement" had compelled it to "curtail its expenses in every particular" and necessitated "the adoption of the new wage scale."

TEXAS PREACHER INDICTED

Baptist Pastor Accused of Unlawfully Carrying Revolver.

By the Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 8.—Charged with unlawfully carrying a revolver, the Rev. Noel Snow, pastor of the Saginaw Baptist Church, near here, was indicted today by the Tarrant County grand jury.

The indictment grew out of an altercation the minister had with several youths after he had named some boys as gamblers in a sermon Oct. 4. Snow told police that a group of youth attempted to flog him, alleging they choked him and "punched" him over a fence. The boys and several witnesses reported to the District Attorney that the pastor drew a revolver and fired it in the scuffle outside the church before he was disarmed.

PACK PEDDLER OF 31 YEARS

AGO DIES A MILLIONAIRE

Joseph Abraham, Bristow, Ok., Merchant, Built Fortune on Original Capital of $10.50.

By the Associated Press.
BRISTOW, Ok., Nov. 8.—Joseph Abraham, who came to America an immigrant 31 years ago to earn a living as a pack peddler, died today, a multi-millionaire.

Landing in New York in 1896 with $10.50 in his pockets, Abraham used this sum as capital in a peddling business that was destined to make him one of the richest merchants in Oklahoma.

For several months he peddled in Eastern states. He came to Indian Territory, now the eastern part of Oklahoma, in 1898, to sell his wares. He soon started a mercantile business in Bristow. To begin accumulating wealth. In 1914 he delved in cotton and later acquired seven cotton gins and a cottonseed oil mill.

Abraham returned to Syria several years ago and endowed a boys and girls' school in his native city, Badoon.

He is survived by the widow, three sons and two daughters. The daughters, attending school in Los Angeles, arrived yesterday after making the trip from Los Angeles to El Paso by airplane.

ROYAL JEWELS STOLEN IN SPAIN

King's Personal Servants Arrested Pending Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 8.—A Madrid dispatch to the Daily Mail says that on the eve of his departure for Naples last week to attend the wedding of Princess Anne of France to the Duke of Apulia, King Alfonso of Spain found that a quantity of his personal jewelry and foreign decorations had been stolen from the palace. The theft included the insignia of the famous order of the Golden Fleece, valued at $1200 (roughly $4000), and British, French and Italian decorations. One of the King's Personal servants has been arrested at Seville as a result of police inquiry.

Kroger Coffee

Like a shining Star

A well known business man gives this recipe for success. "Hang out a sign reading 'The best cup of coffee in town' . . . and then serve the best cup of coffee in town."

Everyone knows that good coffee makes people smile. That's why fine hotels try so hard to attain perfection in the coffee they serve.

And when you come to think of it, maybe that's why so many people come out of Kroger's Stores smiling. Fine, fresh, uniform coffee . . . like a shining Star . . . guides people to his stores . . . and coffee satisfaction.

PHYSICIAN INJURED WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Dr. W. H. Spooneman Taken to Hospital—Other Motor Vehicle Accidents.

Dr. Walter H. Spooneman, 35 5031 North Kingshighway, suffered a fractured collarbone and internal injuries when his car collided with the automobile of William C. Uhr, 3 Hampton Court, St. Louis County at Lindell boulevard and Boyle avenue, shortly before noon yesterday. He is in a serious condition at St. John's Hospital.

Charles Creighton, 59, 1423 North Twenty-fourth street, suffered a fractured skull and ribs when struck by an automobile in front of 2301 Cass avenue at 6:15 p. m. The car did not stop. Fifteen minutes later Victor Blunda 2337 Sullivan avenue, surrendered to police and said his car had struck a man there when the man ran into the street.

An automobile driven by Lloyd Simmons, 215 South Taylor avenue, who was accompanied by his wife, Georgia, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Clymer, struck a street car and a telegraph pole at Vandeventer and Forest Park avenues at 5:50 p. m. Simmons suffered fractured ribs and skull; his wife possible fracture of the spine; his mother-in-law, bruises.

On the McKinley Bridge, at 4:20 p. m., William Burrows, 8945 Newby street, trying to avoid an automobile which stopped suddenly, swerved his automobile, was struck by an Illinois Traction car, and was injured about the head and body.

In other accidents in which automobiles figured, Lloyd Childs, 6 824 Chouteau avenue; John Sullivan, 56, 4613 Bulwer avenue, and Henry Jaeger, 53, 912 Utah street, suffered skull fractures.

25-MINUTE MURDER TRIAL

Chicagoan Acquitted After Waiting Two Years to Face Jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—"Peppy" Genger waited nearly two years to be tried for the murder of Michael Vinci, but it took only 25 minutes to pick a jury, hear testimony and get a verdict of not guilty.

One witness only was heard. The trial set a new speed record in murder cases here.

Fined $100 for Having Liquor.

Mrs. Josie Stein of East St. Louis, who was arrested in a liquor raid recently, today pleaded guilty of possession of liquor before Judge Weber of St. Clair County and was fined $100 and costs. Homebrew was found by deputy sheriffs when they raided the Stein home.

Here is the way to end "YELLOW MASK"

Your teeth will lose that yellowish tinge and gleam like new-found pearls—Make this delightful test.

There is now a safe and sure way to banish that unsightly yellowish tinge from your teeth.

Practically every movie star uses it and commends it to you. Likewise the stage beauties of Broadway—often whole companies.

Dentists use and endorse it. In the last six months more than a million beauty-seeking women and men have accepted it, and testify to teeth whiter and lovelier than ever before.

This new way is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. And the secret of its magic whitening powers is its base—"Tri-Calcium Phosphate." This is a substance leading dentists use to clean and polish teeth. "Yellow Mask" cannot cling to white enamel when "Tri-Calcium Phosphate" gets after it. Yet this wonderful polishing substance cannot harm the softest enamel.

Try a tube of this wonderful ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE today. You want pretty, white teeth. You can get them safely in no other way. Buy from your druggist or mail coupon below for FREE 20-Time Tube.

New York U. Star
Has Good Chance
For a New Record

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.

With three games to go, "Ten Yards" Briante, line-tracker ace of the New York University eleven, is bent on smashing the ground-gaining record Red Grange set in 1923.

In seven games this season, statisticians discovered, Briante has plunged through opposing forward walls for a total of 1161 yards for an average of 7.95 yards a plunge. He has clocked off 3.25 yards for each minute of play and has yet to be stopped for "no gain."

Back in 1923, when the galloping ghost of the Illinois backfield was performing in wonder fashion, experts set his seasonal gain at 1540 yards. Last Saturday Briante hammered ahead 167 yards in 40 minutes of play, including one dash of 50 yards.

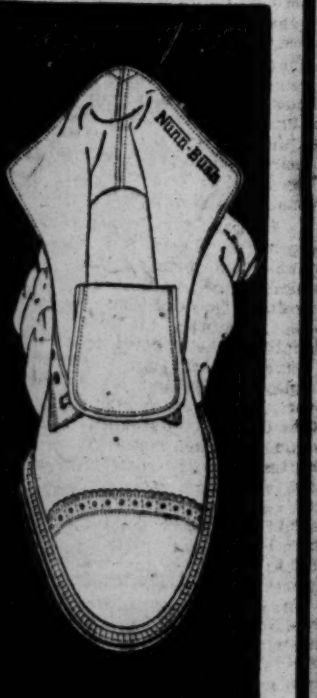

When the Bulletin's "The Yale regulation on this point declares a man from variety athletics who has ever been in their freshman or varsity athletics in the sport in question at any other college."

MAY RECOMMEND
SEVERAL DEALS TO CLUB OWNER

New Manager of Team Asserts He Plans No Radical Changes in Club Policy for 1928.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Bill McKechnie, new manager of the Cardinals, will listen attentively to offers of trade and he may recommend a few deals before the major league meeting in December, but he is pretty well satisfied with the St. Louis National League Club and expects it to continue to be an important factor in the pennant race.

"We're in pretty good shape," Bill said before catching an afternoon train for Pittsburgh, "but in baseball you always have to be on the lookout for somebody who can give you the best of it. It doesn't happen very often, but if you keep your eyes and ears open you'll run into a good one occasionally and that's the only kind of trade we'll consider."

McKechnie said he planned no radical changes in the club policy. The team traveled smoothly last year, with McKechnie as coach co-operating with Manager Bob O'Farrell and making frequent suggestions and there will be no change in the methods of getting the most out of the material.

There were many persons last year who thought that McKechnie was doing more managing than O'Farrell, but that was merely because McKechnie, as coach, was on the main lines in each game and visible to the fans, whereas O'Farrell, always of a retiring nature, kept in the background except when he was actively engaged in the game as catcher.

Not a One-Man Rule.
The Cardinals probably were directed by a board of strategy, rather than by one man. The one-man regime of Rogers Hornsby did not please the business office very much and when O'Farrell took the job of manager it was pretty well understood that there would be closer co-operation between bench and the office.

McKechnie, who kept in close touch with the office—Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey—though Breadon has stated that McKechnie is to have a free hand.

The appointment of McKechnie as manager leaves a position as coach open. McKechnie and Allan Sothern were coaches under O'Farrell and Sothern is sure to remain in that position. Sothern is a valuable man on a club. He is a tireless worker and he is a happy faculty of keeping the team in a good humor, without having to resort to any horse play that might divert the business in hand.

Sothern has developed remarkably since he was made a coach, and one of these days he will blossom into a full-fledged manager. The Cardinals are silent, naturally, their plans for another coach, but they want to have their man before making any announcement.

Prepare for Pepper.
A colorful player will join the Cardinals this spring, and as he is considered one of the best prospects since Ty Cobb and has been in the minors the legal number of times, he is going to remain with the team through the season. The player is Pepper Martin, outfielder, considered by Charlie Branch Rickey as the best baseball player in the minor leagues last year.

Martin played with Houston, batted over .350, stole a flock of home runs, and distinguished himself in the field. In polite language he is a bit eccentric. A prodigy of Arkansas, he does not believe in wearing socks, and they had to be put on his first pair of shoes. He travels light, never bothering with a suitcase and figuring that in summer a shirt and a pair of trousers constitutes enough raiment for any person.

Shotton Moves Up.
The Cardinal organization loses a valued member in the appointment of Burt Shotton as manager of the Phillies to succeed Stuffy Smoot. Shotton has managed the Syracuse club for two years and was one of Branch Rickey's most valued lieutenants. When Sam Breadon decided to fire Rickey as manager in 1925 Rickey asked Shotton to be given the job, so that he could carry out the Rickey policy and make it a Rickey victory for the team to win a pennant.

Breadon wanted no more of the Rickey regime or policies, and Shotton was barred. At that time Rickey was skating on thin ice as far as his connections with the Cardinals were concerned, but he has changed and now instead of getting the can he has a three-year contract.

Joe Schultz, manager of Topeka since 1927, probably will get the job vacated by Shotton. He, too, is a valued member of the Cardinal organization, and he worked his way up by hard work and hustle.

Browns Marking Time.
Work of reconstructing the Browns proceeds slowly. Manager Ben Rowley is still absent and ill, and preventing Bill Friel from getting the job. If the boys don't get out Phil Ball will sail away in an airplane and turn a few more miles more like the last one.

Homewood, early heat and away fast, took lead at once and after being rated to final quarter, drew out, took lead, won easily. Manchu, prominent from start, lost ground on the final turn and tiring in the drive, was run down by Albany. Albany, a game finish, won easily. Jimma was racing well at the end. Dreaness was done after six furlongs. Eleven O'clock met interference at first turn, but made a good race. Classy Lassie, a game finish, won easily. Joseph Sabbath, a game finish, won easily. Nauset, a game finish, won easily. Homewood, a game finish, won easily. Two-dollar mutuels paid: Homewood, win $6.40, place $4.40, show $3.20; Manchu, place $3.20, show $2.80; Albany, place $3.20, show $2.80.

Miss Fire, under good handling, was rated off the pace to the final quarter, when she responded well, and making resolute finish, won easily. Sweet Way in the final turn, Mary Rume was forced wide first half mile, then closed with a rush. William Penn, away fast, was poorly handled, and after being taken up on stretch turn, was unable to reach leaders. Old fellow went sluggishly in the going. Storm Signal was rated when beaten. Benching of Kurz Will Bring Schimmers and Paris to Bears' Forward Line.

A defeat that came a month late was the trouncing handed the Washington U. Bears by the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman Saturday.

A majority of the local trainers agreed yesterday the straggle at a trackout leaves few balm effects, but the Bears appear to have sensed the error of their ways. It was hinted after a long get-together of the players.

Had the general realization of what they have been failing in become apparent earlier, it was said, the scores of certain Valley contests now hung up might have been different. Some degree of determination and harmony appear to have come from the Oklahoma defeat.

In the Bear play to date, the one definite element which has been lacking has been the dogged hang-on spirit which stops a charging line and pulls down a rarin' fullback. It was freely stated.

A new spirit of life by his charges is expected to raise Coach Higgins' hopes considerably.

Collins to Play End.

Tike Collins, Bear tackle, who returns from a visit with his brother in Oklahoma City today, will find a new assignment out for him. Collins may be shifted to end to relieve Kurz, bothered all season by injuries. Higgins has announced. With Collins and Carroll at ends, Higgins plans to send two new heavyweights into the front line. Drake and Schimmer will probably complete the backfield selections.

Last Night's Fights

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA.—Tony Cannoneri, New York, knocked out Billy Henry, Chicago (2). Lew Andler, Philadelphia, defeated Vincent Forzani, Philadelphia (10). Bill Matthews, Baltimore and Ricardo Romano, Philadelphia, drew (6).

NEW YORK.—Emil Paluso, Salt Lake City, defeated Mike Molinsky, Boston (10). Pinky Mays, Savannah, Ga., outpointed Eddie Penos, New York (6). Al Walker, Jacksonville, Fla., won on a foul from Arthur DeLuhy, Italy (1). K. O. Phil Kaplan, New York, outpointed Harry Ebbets, Brooklyn, N. Y. (6).

LONDON.—Tommy Milligan, European middleweight champion, defeated "Kid" Nitran, France (20).

CHICAGO.—Eddie Shea, Chicago, knocked out Stewart MacLean, Minneapolis, Minn. (2). Red Chan, California, outpointed Walcott Langford, Chicago, (8).

PITTSBURGH.—Young Sailor, Charleroi, Pa., defeated Jack Zivie, Pittsburgh (10).

KANSAS CITY.—Larry Cappel, Kansas City, defeated Lee Wax, Australia (10). Spider Kelly, Kansas City, knocked out Bob Cox, New Orleans, La. (5). Eddie Sylvester, Los Angeles, knocked out Tom Adams, Kansas City (2).

Comstock and Paria sophomore recruit, at tackle. Scheib will remain at center.

Collins will have little difficulty handling his duties at end. He is a heady player of the old school, who believes in watching the ball and bringing down the runner. Schimmers and Paris, newcomers in a starting lineup, would bring two aggressive as well as heavy men to the front wall.

In the backfield which Higgins is prepping for Grinnell, Bud Barnett will start. Duncan, Bickel and Whittier will probably complete the backfield selections.

OLYMPIC SOCCER TEAM CANDIDATES TO START PRACTICE SATURDAY

COACHES WILL SCOUT PUBLIC PARK ELEVENS

Team Will Get Plenty of Work Before Inter-city Competition Is Started in Spring.

By Dent McKimming.

The task of selecting a St. Louis eleven to compete in the national competition for the Olympic soccer team was started last night when members of the coaching staff met with managers and officers of the Municipal League and discussed ways and means of discovering the best talent.

There will be no interruption of the regular Municipal League schedule because of the Olympic squad's selection. Starting next Sunday, the coaches, Dick Jarrett, Billy Kloss, John "King" Finnegan, John "Butch" Amman and Richard Brannigan will "scout" the games in the public parks and lay the foundation for their squad. The men they select will report the following Saturday afternoon to the practice ground at Fairground Park for trial and instruction. The personnel of the squad may be changed from week to week, depending upon the showing the players make in the practice work-outs.

To Work Out Saturday.

A preliminary list has been submitted to the coaches, being made up of players whose names were submitted by managers of seven of the 22 teams in the senior division of the Municipal League. These players will report to the coaches at Grounds Two at Fairground Park next Saturday afternoon for their first work-out.

They are as follows: John Hamma, John O'Connor, James Zimmermann, John O'Connell, Dan Zimmermann, Edward O'Keefe and Francis O'Connell, of the Finns; B. Stelmach, John Kinsman, Vince Thomas, of the Smiths; C. McConnell, E. McLaughlin and E. Gamewell, of the Shamrocks.

G. Barnes, J. Roddy and J. Kille of the Vanhoes; James Walsh, A. Duecker, Tom Kelly, Frank Neagle, William Shelby, Ollie Brancanier and W. Siebel of the Grangeboys; Harry Pink, Milton Hilkes, James Cronin, William Sullivan and Ted Klass of the Angelicas; Dave Kelly, Elmer Gaab and Irving Thuet of the People's Motors.

Many other players who are generally regarded as star performers and are eligible as amateurs, are not included in the above list only because their managers did not submit names as requested by Superintendent of Recreation R. W. Tapperson. The coaches will discover these players in their weekly scouting tours.

Those in attendance at the meeting, held at the Sherman Park Community Center, were eager to get the Olympic team selection started at once in order that the final product of the coaching and training process would be a team thoroughly qualified to represent St. Louis against the rest of the country.

The inter-city competition will not be started until February.

Cubs Will Start Training Feb. 15

Pitchers to Get Two Months of Work Before Opening of Campaign

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The Chicago Cubs' spring training schedule was moved backward another week today when Manager Joe McCarthy sent out word to his pitchers and catchers to be ready to leave for Catalina Island on Feb. 15. This will give the battery men nearly two months of preparation for the opening games of the season and ought to eliminate McCarthy's figures, some of those lame and brittle arms from which many of the Cub players suffered at the start of the 1927 campaign.

The ax is being sharpened in the Cub office, to sever a flock of last season's athletes off the C. payroll, including all the high-priced candidates for third base, who either couldn't hit or couldn't field good enough to stay in the major leagues after they arrived from the minor leagues.

STEEPLECHASE ENTRY WILL LIKELY OCCUPY CABIN ON FAST SHIP

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8.—Billy Barton, Howard Bruce's prized leaper will travel in luxury when he leaves for England soon as an entry in the Grand National steeplechase.

Negotiations are under way to procure for him a berth on the Cunard liner Berengaria despite the reported rule of the company barring animals from fast passenger liners. Billy will occupy a cabin if no other accommodations are available, it was stated.

Three-Cushion Billiards Title Play Began in St. Louis in 1906

To Jordan Lambert Who Had Untiring Interest in Game Goes Much Credit for Its Development.

By Herman Weeks.

"No three-cushions allowed in this billiard hall."

That sign, in an establishment conducted by Moses Tatter of Boston, now an official in one of the years of 1902, 1904 and 1905, shows the disfavor in which the game was held in the East during these years. Halls in other cities also looked on the game with disfavor—as one, which was just a smashing, cloth-tearing contest.

Today that same game is one of the most popular on the green cloth. And St. Louis is in the front rank. It is due mainly to the untiring interest of one man—Jordan Lambert—that three-cushions is so popular. It was here in St. Louis that championship play really started; it was this city which owned the first national amateur championship. This city has developed as many high-class players—professional and amateur—as any in the country.

As proof of this, look at the following list: Tommy Huston, a former world champion; Bob Canifax, former champion; Johnny Layton, former champion; John Horgan, former champion; Allen Hall, Western amateur titleholder at one time, who will play Otto Reisel for the world title next month; Dr. L. P. Macklin, who is defending the national amateur championship against Dr. Harris of Chicago, at Peterson's Granddort, present city titleholder, and others.

Introduced Here in 1903.

HOWEVER, it has been this way since 1903, when Lloyd Jevne, who was world champion at the time, and Charles C. Peterson, his touring partner, came to this city. That really was the introduction of the sport here. For a few years Peterson Jevne, Frank Day and John Daly struggled along in academy games without any marked degree of success. Then the amateurs started to come to the fore. There were Charles "Iceberg" Nolan, Tom Wright, Ed Adams, C. H. Hutchins, known as the "boy wonder," Alex Selkirk, the late Frank Peterson, whose record high run of 14 in a tournament has never been beaten by an amateur; Jordan Lambert and Tom Carter. Of the lot, Hutchins was one who could give all the topnotchers a real battle.

And then in 1906 came the change. It was Jordan Lambert who brought it about. Lambert thought there should be a real champion at the angle game. There must be a revival of interest, Lambert thought. So he announced that he would put up a $1000 emblem to go to the winner of the Jordan Lambert Diamond Emblem Three-Cushion Championship tournament. It was here that the first tournament was held, with the Grand, Royal and Rex halls holding the matches.

In that first world tournament, the entrants were Lloyd Jevne, then titleholder; Alfredo De Oro, the great Cuban star; Harry Cline, John Horgan, Frank Day, John Daly, Joe Capran, Jess Lean and C. C. Peterson, who later withdrew.

Title Won by Cline.

THAT tournament was won by Cline. His victory came as a great surprise. Cline was a balkline player and not highly rated as a three-cushion player. But he went on to win—and for the first time it was shown that a good 15.3 player could win at three-cushions.

"A bit later," says Peterson, "Cline was challenged by Daly and lost the championship. But it was the real start of championship three-cushion events of any sort. At that time, St. Louis was the match for all the leading angle contestants in the country."

"Those were the days of real battles on the green cloth. Most famous among these games were those between Tommy Huston, a St. Louis boy, and Alfredo De Oro. These two men met in both three-cushion and pocket billiard (then known as pool) championship matches. And each man held both titles at one time or the other."

These were the professionals. But the amateurs were coming along at such a lively clip that the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., which now handles championship tournaments and title matches, took over the competition in professional three-cushions.

"Then in 1910," continues Peterson, "another big step was made when the National Billiard League for amateurs was organized with St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Brooklyn as the entrants."

Maupome Champion.

It was in this tournament that St. Louis landed its first national amateur championship and it brought to St. Louis a man who was later to hold the world title. This man was Pierre Maupome, the Mexican star.

"I had been told about Maupome," said Peterson. "A friend told me of a player in Mexico who was a great prospect. He wanted me to bring on Maupome. But I told him I had troubles of my own—other good players here. Finally a wealthy Mexican took an interest in Maupome. He became his manager and brought him to St. Louis, asking me to help him. I told him I would but would first have to see what he could do."

"We played two balkline games and I won both. Then I beat him twice at three-cushions. But I saw he had possibilities and told his manager that within one year he ought to become a three-cushion champion, but no matter how long he practiced, he would never become more than a shortstop balkline player."

"Right there Maupome and his manager decided that it would be the angle game. It was a championship they wanted to take back to Mexico."

"I wrote on to New York to ask if I would be allowed to use Maupome in the league and was told it was permissible."

"Everything went fine in the league until Maupome opposed a New York player here. I never saw such terrible billiards. It became so bad that I was forced to substitute Calmer in the middle of the game. I told Maupome I would have nothing more to do with him unless he practiced six hours a day. I did not use him in several other matches, but he practiced."

Then came the final road trip. Eleven games were scheduled. St. Louis had a chance for the title. Maupome before going said he would win nine games and he did just that to win the first national amateur for St. Louis.

"Maupome had great knowledge of the natural angles and he was quick to pick up things. He was one of the most interesting players the game ever had and he finally went on to win the world honors."

Peterson introduced Hoppe.

HOWEVER, three-cushions jumped into popularity before this. It was right after the first national championship tournament held here that the placards mentioned earlier "came down" out of the rooms and the angle game was permitted.

It was Peterson who induced Willie Hoppe, for many years balkline champion, to take up the game. And this led to a world's record run of 25, which still stands. It was made by Hoppe at Wright's parlor in San Francisco in 1915, in a match against Peterson.

"R. B. Benjamin, who at that time managed the Hoppe tour, was against three-cushions. But I talked until we had a diversified program with balkline, three-cushions, fancy shots and a talk on the game. First we played 10 points and then increased it to 25. It was my insistence that led to Hoppe's making the world high-run record, a mark which stands. On the same tour, Hoppe made a run of 14 at Omaha and one of 15 at Denver."

That Hoppe still knows some thing about three-cushions is evinced by results of his match with Otto Reisel, the present holder of the world title, who recently defended the laurels against Gus Copulos, and is rated as one of the real shining lights of the game.

Figuring the Angles.

"A NOBLE SYSTEM," says Peterson, "has been in existence ever since they put the diamond-shaped markers on the rails of the tables. However, this style was not used a great deal because of the early disfavor in which three-cushions was held. It had been used in the academies in the 'French corner' game."

"In the first tour I made with Hoppe, Jake Schaefer and Chick Wright, I made a lecture on billiards and almost every place was asked what the diamonds were on the table for. I explained and it was on one of these tours that several of the angle stars decided it was just what they needed and the angle came into prominence. Maupome was one who figured angles perfectly and he talked angles in the amateur league. "However, it was this angle system that caused a lagging in the sport. Some players were not such expert calculators as others and the games became tiresome to watchers. However, this has improved and now the games are speedily played."

It is Peterson's idea that still further improvement can be made by the elimination of safety play. This he thinks would give the poorer player a better chance against the star.

"Eliminate safety play, thus giving the poorer player a chance," suggests Peterson, "and the game will be even more popular. Some say safety is necessary. But I think without it matches would be

600,000 Apply For Tickets to Army-Navy Game

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. ALTHOUGH the Army-Navy football classic, scheduled this year at the Polo Grounds, is nearly three weeks off, there have been about 10 applications for every available ticket. This was indicated yesterday by the mass of applications received at the office of the New York Giants.

Approximately 75,000 seats will be available for the game. A record for New York, but it is estimated that 600,000 applications have been made for them through all sources. The grandstand tickets are priced at $4 each.

just as interesting and would bring out the best shotmaker. And it is the best shotmaker who in the end comes out on top."

And all this activity in three-cushions, bringing on the later development of St. Louis' champions, was due to the efforts and foresight of Jordan Lambert, a native of this city, and players who, back in 1906, were willing to take a chance.

DR. HARRIS LEADS MACKLIN IN CUE MATCH

Local Player Must Make Up 14 Points in Today's Two Blocks of Title Event.

Dr. L. P. Macklin of St. Louis faces a very appreciable handicap as he resumes play against Dr. A. J. Harris of Chicago in the second block of their national championship amateur three-cushion billiard match at Peterson's, this afternoon. The local player lost the opening block, last night, by a score of 50 to 26. He must therefore score 14 more billiards than Dr. Harris to make up lost ground today.

Both players were plainly below their best form in last night's opening block, which was contested before a packed theater. Dr. Harris had a high run of 5 and Dr. Macklin could gather only 4 for his best count in one inning. The game went 70 innings.

The most spectacular shot of the match was made by the Chicagoan in the twelfth inning, when he scored on a four-cushion cross-table bank shot, in which he made use of reverse english.

Fifty points will be played this afternoon, starting at 5 o'clock, and the concluding block of 50 points will be played this evening at 8 o'clock. No admission is charged to the games. Dr. Macklin is the present titleholder under the rules of the Amateur Billiard Association of America.

GRANGE STATES HE WILL NEVER SERVE AS COACH

Mentor of College Football Team Gets Too Much Abuse, Declares the 'Galloping Ghost.'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Red Grange today turned thumbs down on the idea of ever becoming a football coach.

"If there's anybody in the world who takes more grief in the form of criticism than the President of the United States," said Red, "it's the coach of a college football team. None of that for mine."

With his fiery hatch on a pillow while the coach and trainer of his "New York" Yankees wrapped steaming woolen blankets around his right leg, Red allowed he'd stay in the professional game a few years more. This year he expects also to make another movie or two.

"Of course," the recumbent "galloping ghost" went on with a glance at the woolen blankets under which lay one of his greatest assets now slightly impaired by a stubborn case of water on the knee, "it all depends on how a man takes care of himself and whether he gets hurt."

To keep faith with his public and, incidentally, to increase the gate receipts, the leader of the Yankees expected to play today at the Polo Grounds against the Chicago Bears despite his bad knee. It was in a game with the league-leading Bears three weeks ago that Grange suffered the injury which has kept him off the gridiron since.

REISEL AND HOPPE MATCHED FOR CHICAGO BILLIARD EXHIBITION

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, champion three-cushion billiardist, and Willie Hoppe, former holder of the 15.3 balkline billiard title, were matched yesterday for a three-cushion exhibition here starting Nov. 14.

They will play 750 points, in 80-point blocks. Hoppe defeated Reisel, 720 to 631, in a match at New York last week, but because he did not participate in the last three-cushion tournament at Washington, Hoppe was not eligible for the title.

CHARLESTON TEACHERS TO PLAY CARBONDALE IN HOMECOMING GAME

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, Ill., Nov. 8.—Eastern Illinois Teachers' College will celebrate its eleventh annual homecoming Saturday when alumni return for the football game between the Teachers and Carbon-dale. A banquet, student vaudeville show and a dance are part of the program.

GRANGE STATES HE WILL NEVER SERVE AS COACH

Mayor of College Football Team Gets Too Much Abuse, Declares the 'Galloping Ghost.'

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Red Grange today turned thumbs down on the idea of ever becoming a football coach.

"If there's anybody in the world who takes more grief in the form of criticism than the President of the United States," said Red, "it's the coach of a college football team. None of that for mine."

With his fiery thrust on a pillow while the coach and trainer of his team, Grange wrapped himself in a blanket around his right leg. Red allowed he'd stay in the professional game a few years more. This ear he expects to make another movie or two.

"Of course," the recumbent "galloping ghost" went on with a glance at the woolen blankets under which lay one of his greatest assets now slightly impaired by a sudden case of water on "he knee," "it all depends on how a man takes care of himself and whether he gets hurt."

To keep faith with his public and, incidentally, to increase the gate receipts, the leader of the Yankees expected to play today at the Polo Grounds against the Chicago Bears despite his bad knee. It was in a game with the league-leading Bears three weeks ago that Grange suffered the injury which has kept him off the gridiron since.

REISELT AND HOPPE MATCHED FOR CHICAGO BILLIARD EXHIBITION

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Otto Reisel and Philadelphian, champion three-ball billiardist, and Willie Hoppe, former holder of the $12,000 billiard title, were matched yesterday for a three-ball exhibition here starting Nov. 14.

General Motors Seeks Site in West.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—The Examiner says today that General Motors Corporation has secured options on two tracts of land in the Long Beach Harbor district, with the intention of entering the local field with a large manufacturing plant. One site comprises 600 acres and the other 300 acres.

MOTHER

A Cross, Sick Child is Constipated!
Look at Tongue

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of California Fig Syrup, and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels with out griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

FALL 'MARKEDLY IMPROVED'
Barring Setbacks, Doctors Say He Can Go Home Soon.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Albert B. Fall has so "markedly improved" in health that, barring setbacks, he will be able to depart for his home in New Mexico late this week, physicians announced following a consultation today.

The former Interior Secretary has been confined to his bed with congestion of the lungs since last Friday, two days after the declaration of a mistrial in the case of conspiracy in leasing a naval oil reserve to Harry F. Sinclair, in which they were defendants.

81 INDICTED IN CLEANERS' TRADE WAR IN MINNEAPOLIS Corporations and Individuals Are Charged With Fixing Prices and Intimidation.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—Eighty-one corporations and individuals, all members of the Twin Cities Cleaners' and Dyers' Association, have been indicted by the Hennepin County grand jury as a result of investigation of a trade war. They are charged with restraint of trade in fixing prices and using intimidation and violence to force independent merchants into their association.

Twenty tailors told the grand jury stories of violence, which included physical assaults, throwing of stench bombs and spraying of acid on clothes. They told of receiving threats to "bump you off" and to "blow you joint."

The indictment charges that gangsters were hired to carry out a conspiracy to eliminate price-cutting and other forms of competition. Virtually all the leading cleaning and dyeing establishments are included in the indictment. Conviction would bring prison sentences from three to five years, and fines of $500 to $5000.

FORMER BANK TELLER PLEADS GUILTY OF $9100 THEFT
Edward W. Benz, Former $130-a-Month Employee, Sentenced to Two Years in Prison.

Edward W. Benz, 32 years old, former $130-a-month teller at the International Bank, Fourth and Olive streets, pleaded guilty today to a charge of embezzling $9100 of the bank's funds and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Killgren. Benz confessed after his arrest last April he had been making false entries on his books over a period of two years. He always made the bank the loser in twisting his entries so as to net him about $100 a week from customers' accounts, he told the police. Gossip that he had been living high led the bank to investigate his books.

$2000 STOLEN IN BANK HOLDUP
Depository at Minden, Mo., Robbed By Two Men.

By the Associated Press.
MINDEN, Mo., Nov. 8.—Two unmasked men today held up and robbed the bank of Minden of about $2000 in money and escaped in an automobile. They headed west, toward Pittsburg, Kan. E. Bunce, cashier, was tied, and Mrs. Greta Polston, bookkeeper, was locked in the vault. They freed themselves in about 15 minutes and notified authorities.

RUMANIA HONORS BOY KING

By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, Nov. 8.—Rumania put on its gayest national colors today in honor of little King Michael, whose name-day was celebrated throughout the country. Closely guarded by secret service men and accompanied by his mother, Princess Helen, Michael was the central figure in an elaborate service at the national cathedral. The tiny sovereign, dressed in a Lord Fauntleroy blue velvet suit, seemed utterly oblivious of the elaborate ceremonial, the majestic music and the huge congregation. After the ceremony members of the Cabinet called upon the 5-year-old monarch to congratulate him.

White House Birthday Party.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Frank W. Stearns, close friend of President Coolidge, celebrated his 71st birthday at the White House today. He came from Massachusetts at the invitation of the President, who has invited eight or ten of Stearns' close friends for dinner this evening.

A Statement to the Public by L. W. Baldwin, President of the MISSOURI PACIFIC LINES

"Ask a Missouri Pacific Man"

ASK a Missouri Pacific Man whatever it may be that you want to know, especially if it is something pertaining to Transportation—and if the individual to whom the question is addressed doesn't know the answer or can't get it quickly, he or she will direct you to someone in the Missouri Pacific Lines' organization that can and will gladly supply the desired information.

This is what has made the Missouri Pacific Lines a genuine "SERVICE INSTITUTION." The public has come to realize this and as a result of it—and employees of the Missouri Pacific Lines are justly proud and happy as a result. And the Missouri Pacific Lines are justly proud of the army of men and women who have made the System a synonym for Service.

When the most disastrous floods in history swept down the Mississippi Valley and the tributaries of that river, as one writer has said, "the rushing, roaring waters destroyed the roadbed in places, but the morale held fast and never weakened nor wavered." Incidentally, largely as a result of that same splendid morale, all records were shattered by the speed and completeness with which the physical property was restored and normal service resumed.

The same spirit that prompted Missouri Pacific Lines men and women to heroic achievements throughout the floods is the spirit that has actuated the organization and made the entire System known throughout the country for aggressiveness, dependability, courtesy and refined service.

This is the same spirit behind the various special development departments. It is the spirit that has made the Missouri Pacific a Service Institution with a Soul.

It is with pleasure and pride, therefore, that we call attention to the desire and willingness of all the individuals in the organization to give to the public the utmost in special attention of every description.

And that is the reason we can advise everyone, regardless of what it is that may be desired or what information is sought, to

"ASK A MISSOURI PACIFIC MAN."
We solicit your co-operation and suggestions.

It's Sonny's Turn to Smile

"SPREADING HAPPINESS" among children is a task that has its own reward in the doing.

When we recently purchased a large lot of dolls and arranged a plan whereby you could secure one of them for your little girl at 99c instead of the regular retail price of $3.00, we knew our customers would appreciate it. And they did. Thousands of our little girl customers have been made happy.

We felt very glad when we saw happy, smiling "little sister" walk out of a Piggly Wiggly store with one of these dolls held proudly in her arms.

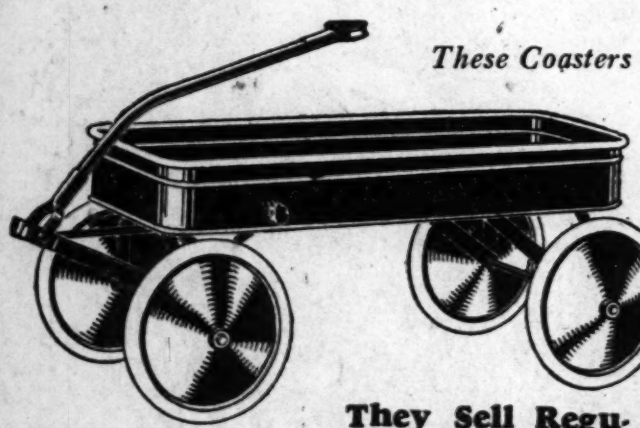

But we want to see that same smile on little "Sonny's" face. We want him to be happy, too. And he will be—tremendously so—in the possession of one of these splendid

WHOLESALE PRICE

Christmas is near and "Sonny" will be so delighted with one of these Coasters. And what fun he will have helping mother by hauling her household supplies!

These Coasters are strong, full-size, with channel steel undergear and easy running, roller-bearing wheels equipped with durable rubber tires.

They Sell Regularly at Retail $3.39 for $6—You Can Secure One for Only $3.39 BY OUR SPECIAL PUNCH CARD PLAN

OUR PLAN—Just obtain a punch card at any Piggly Wiggly store in Greater St. Louis. Every time you make a purchase at any of our stores, have the amount punched on the card. Then, when the amounts have totaled $10.00 you can buy one of these Coasters for only $3.39. It is not necessary to purchase the entire ten dollars' worth at one time.

MISSOURI TEACHERS GATHER FOR SESSION

Executive Meeting Precedes
Opening of 65th Convention Tomorrow.

The executive council of the Missouri State Teachers' Association was in session at Hotel Statler today, preliminary to the opening of the sixty-fifth convention of the association with a public program at the Coliseum tomorrow night.

Miss Genevieve M. Turk of Kansas City, president of the association; E. M. Carter of Columbia, secretary, and other officers and members of the council are here for the executive meeting, in which the work of the three-day convention will be outlined.

Of the 23,000 teachers registered in the State, 22,000 are members of the association. About half of the membership is expected to attend. Schools will be closed to permit teachers to attend the convention.

Many prominent speakers are on the convention program, including Will Durant of New York, author of "The Story of Philosophy"; Bertrand Russell, English philosopher and essayist; and Prof. Manley O. Huder of Missouri.

Miss Turk, as president, will open the convention at the Coliseum. She is head of one of the largest elementary schools in Kansas City, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Federated Clubs and a member of the Kansas City Bar Association. The speakers will be Dr. C. E. Germane of the University of Missouri, who will discuss "The Development of Personality," and Prof. George C. Blakeslee of Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., who will present an illustrated lecture on recent photographic studies of the heavens.

General sessions will be held in the Coliseum and group and business meetings at Hotel Statler. The St. Louis district will be host to the visiting teachers Friday night at a musicale at Scottish Rite Cathedral, Lindell boulevard near a victim of cachexia (run-down condition)

That boy of yours—is he thin, listless, sallow, underweight and understrength—at work or at play always lagging behind the other fellows?

Give him yeast: pure yeast in tasty little tablets that he'll like—Yeast Foam Tablets. Let him eat all he wants. Then watch the youngster come into his full mental and physical powers.

So for the daily supply or 50c for the big 10 day bottle.

Eat Yeast Foam Tablets for cachexia (run-down condition). Loss of appetite. Indigestion. Constipation. Boils—Furuncles.

CORNS off in 3 Minutes

Why suffer with corns or callouses when you can take them off in from 3 to 5 minutes with Shur-off? No irritation or soreness as with old-time preparations—no waiting several days—no soaking of feet. Simply apply Shur-off, keeping the corn or callous wet for about two minutes—then take it out, root and all. Pain stops the instant Shur-off is applied and the full directions enclosed with each package enables anyone to remove painful corn or callouses easily. Shur-off costs only 50 cents at any drugist; positively will not irritate the healthy skin and satisfaction is guaranteed or you can have your money back.

If You Are Afflicted With Rupture "Lowin Non-Surgical" TREATMENT

Dr. Lewin, who has been practicing this method with absolute success in St. Louis the past 35 years, invites you to investigate and convince yourself of the efficiency of this cure.

The treatment causes no pain and no delay from business. No charge for consultation.

Hours: 10 to 12 and 2 to 4, Saturdays 10 to 12 and by appointment.

What Some of the Notables Of New York Are Wearing

By Belle Brummel.

WITH the advent of autumn and the return to town of smart folk, come the formal openings of fashionable supper clubs. "First Night" at the Club Lido last week proved a brilliant affair. Tables and dancing space were crowded with people we have not seen since the close of the season last spring.

Just in front of us, as we enter, are Mrs. Frank V. Storer and her two daughters. The Storers have but recently returned from the Continent, and Mrs. Storer is wearing a new and gorgeous chinchilla wrap and her famous emeralds.

White and silver satins and brocades flash and shimmer beneath the colored lights at the Club Lido as the dancers drift past our table. Ordinarily we do not quite approve of a deep décolletage, perhaps because all shoulders are not beautiful, but we find Mrs. Camille's dress very alluring in her low-cut gown of mother-of-pearl sequins. With her is Alexander Moore.

Speaking of the neckline, we hear that evening gowns in Paris are cut only moderately low in the front, but with a deep U at the back and that many of them have the décolletage veiled by a hip length capelet.

The lure of Indian summer has beguiled not a few of the smart set into remaining in the country till after Halloween. At Tuxedo we run across the Wagstaffs, the Bradleys and the Coits. Grey, said to be one of the shades featured for spring, is chosen by Mrs. Samuel Coit Jr., for her frock of crepe satin which she wears at the club for tea.

Bishop Manning and the parish of St. John the Divine turned out en masse for the Cathedral Home Show held last week at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club. Broadcloth shared the honors with tweeds among the materials worn. Krimmer, natural lynx and fox led in fur, rosy browns, beige and greys in colors, and needless to say, felts predominated in hats.

Leaving the club for the show grounds we encountered Margaret Stokes in one of the country light-weight woolen plaids, and found her, because of the warmth of the sun, discarding her wrap for a pointed fox scarf.

Also on the Ile de France is the Princess Cantacuzene garbed in a fine twilled black ensemble. The coat is straight, plain and reaches the hem of the plain skirt, over which she wears a simple blouse of heavy white silk. Accessories are a r. e. medium-brimmed black felt hat, pointed fox scarf, gardenia boutonniere, black silk hose and kid slippers.

NOISING her way up the river in the driving rain last Tuesday, steamed the Ile de France. Watching the crowds on the pier as the tug guides the big liner to the dock, is Anne Morgan, dressed in bright golden brown from her velvet tam to her four strap leather slippers. Miss Morgan's ensemble is developed in broadcloth, a full-length straight-line coat, colored by dyed fox, and plain skirt. With it she wears a broadcloth velvet blouse. Accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Vanderbilt, Miss Morgan is met at the pier by Herbert Satterlee and his family.

There are two distinct types of fur coats, new in outline and material, which we have encountered these past two weeks. The first is the Cosack silhouette usually developed in Krimmer or pony. It gains its name from the wide suede belt which holds the coat in at a normal waistline and causes it to flare from the hips down.

The second model is of Indian Sarunduk, always cloth lined, and sometimes designed with a full length vest developed in Rodier material of novelty weave. This model may also be belted, but with a narrow belt that comes just above the hip line.

Joining the Jimmie Howards, Konrad Bercevic and the Ernest Boyds at the boat party on the Mauretania in honor of Theodore Dreiser and Joe Anthony, we see that fur coats are worn by the smartly dressed women. But always flat, fine furs, such as gnu and antelope. We noticed one gray broadtail wrap and several pony skin straight line coats.

Lustrous black satin cut in a one-piece frock is worn by Harriet Camac at the annual luncheon given for the patronesses of the Fall Mall Supper Club at the St. Regis. The model selected by Miss Camac is from Vionnet. It is trimmed with diagonal rows of hemstitching, and the short skirt is circular. Accompanying the dress is a skull cap of black velvet, ornamented with an amethyst pin, and emphasizing the ensemble idea is an amethyst ring and bracelet on Miss Camac's left hand.

AMBER velvet banded in lynx fashions Marilyn Miller's evening wrap, and black velvet her dinner gown. We meet her with Eddie Graham, Mary Eaton and Jack Warburton dancing at George Olcott's. We see that sheer black marquette sprinkled with silver dots forms Miss Eaton's sleeveless dinner frock, as she charismatically with Mr. Warburton.

The soft graciousness of clinging silk shawls was high-lighted in the evening wraps worn at "The Belt," which opened Wednesday night at the New Playwrights Theatre.

Ivory crepe patterned with sprays blue flowers and bordered by a heavy cream silk fringe fashioned the shawl worn by Ruth Warfield, and long pendant earrings of aquamarines mounted in silver repeated the note of blue used on her wrap.

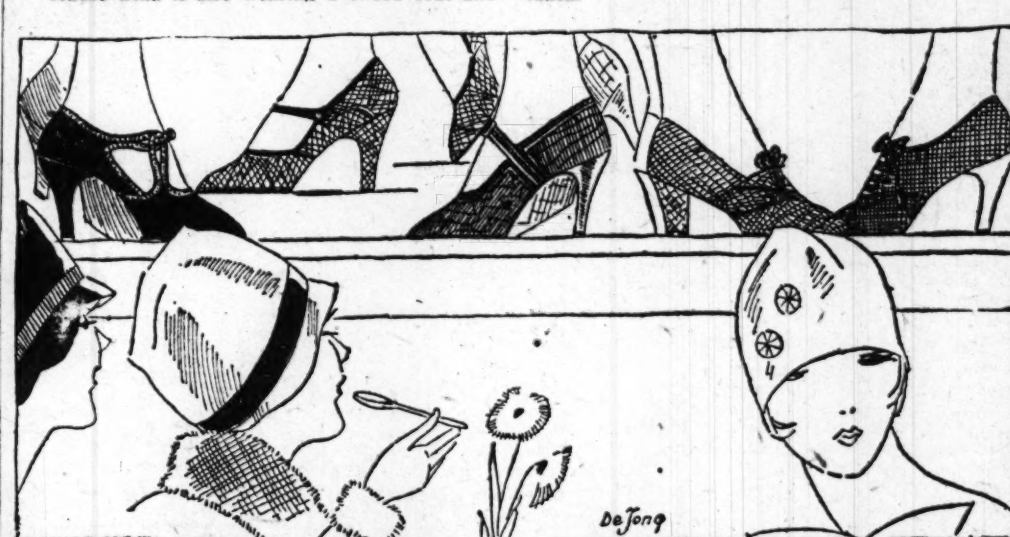

Strolling up and down the little winding street in front of the theater between acts, we observe Otto Kahn, the center of a group, talking very animatedly about the play.

CHIC CHERIE

Shoe View

Cherie and Dina are feeling low, though they don't look it. They don't look it because Cherie is wearing an English coat of tweed—the light weight, very soft tweed that is smart this year, comically trimmed with just the scraps of fur hat are most modish. And they don't look it because Dina is also wearing a tweed coat and

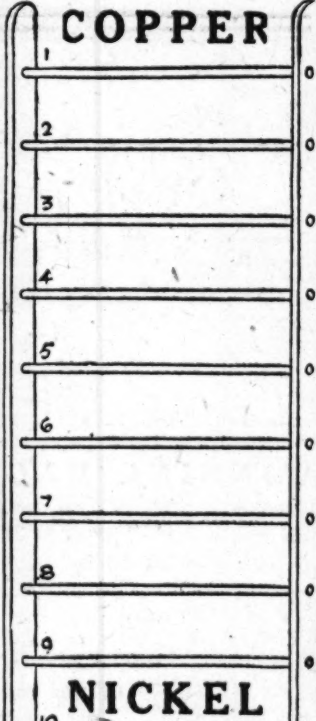

It's a most peculiar sensation. "I'll bet there'll be more brown ones than black ones within ten minutes," says Cherie. "I'll bet there'll be more reptile leathers than any other kind," says Dina, and in the meantime the shoes walk past—left brown suede trimmed with a novelty strap of lizard, next high-heeled lizard skin, next brown moire, next black alligator, last of all a pair of black lizard oxfords. "I wish they weren't in such a hurry," says Dina, and Cherie says nothing, but looks her contempt of the young woman with the felt helmet with two blue buttons who has no interest in this spectacle!

SHOWING Smart Shades—The latest silk hose are stressing gracie and bronze nude, two dusky tones that blend well with the velvet and satin frocks now appearing for daytime wear.

Laurel leaves for leadership have always been significant; for, in the olden days, the conquering hero was always crowned with them. Laurel leaves, made of metal in gold, silver and gun metal effects, are molded into a solid hoop bracelet that is among the leading novelties in costume jewelry. Each group of leaves is soldered to fit so close into the next group that the color contrast is most attractive.

Vails of Great Avail—In restoring the feminine note to current millinery fashions, the boyish mode of the last few years is now giving way to the more flattering one of womanly allure and nothing could be more helpful than the return of the face veil. Partial veils, reaching to the tip of the nose, are embroidered along the edges and also have embroidered sections that, placed against the front of the crown, serve to trim a plain hat. A new type of nose veil shows ear tabs that hang over the ears in a most decorative way. In the exact shade of the hat, the veil is one of the most stunning accessories of the up-to-the-minute costume.

LAUGHING AROUND THE WORLD

with IRVIN S. COBB

Fresh From the Land of Cakes. IF YOUR stories deal with frugality they must likewise deal with the Scotch. That's the rule and no teller of anecdotes would dare to defy it. He might lose his card in the international story: "Mars' union."

For proof thereof we have here a massed collection of short, snappy ones. To wit:

Number one: A visiting Highlander is walking down the main streets of a certain lowland city. Over his arm he carries a pair of baggy-kneed, wrinkly trousers. He halts a constable and asks directions. He is seeking the establishment of the Aberdeen Free Press.

Number two: A sympathetic friend escorts a convulsed fellow-Scot to the nearest doctor's. The sufferer's jaws hang agape and there is a look of intense agony in his eyes. The physician takes a quick glance at the patient. "Great Heavens!" he exclaims. "How did it happen? Why, this poor fellow's tongue is stuck full of splinters."

Number three: A Scot and a Hebrew are playing a golf match for 10 shillings a side. Coming down the home stretch the score stands even, but on the eighteenth green, owing to the nervous strain, the Hebrew has a paralytic stroke and the Scot counts it against him and wins, one up.

Number four: It seems there were two Scotchmen named Jock and William, both being expert swimmers and divers. Jock bet William half a crown that he could go under water and stay under water longer than William could. Together the two contestants flipped off the diving float. At 13 accounts y were still dragging for both bodies.

Number five: One Scot was boarding with another Scot at the latter's little farmhouse. The fare was simple. On Wednesday the landlord told his guest he wasn't quite sure of it, but he rather thought there would be roast chicken for Sunday dinner. On Friday he repeated the tentative promise. The present prospects were, he said, that there would be roast chicken for Sunday. But on Sunday there was boiled mutton.

"I thought ye said there'd be chicken the day!" said the disappointed boarder.

"So I told ye, laddy," said the host. "And so I was hopin'. But ye see, laddy, the hen I was meanin' to feed ye on, got well."

That even for the most confirmed Scot-baiter, should surely be enough for one dose. (Copyright, 1927.)

Children's Bedtime Confessions

"BEDTIME STORIES," popular in American homes, have been replaced by "bedtime confession talks," in the home of Dr. David Katz, professor of psychology in the University of Rostock, Germany.

He holds that through the time chats desirable motives will power are established in the minds of the children, good qualities mobilized and a critical attitude toward their own actions developed.

This method is far more practical, Dr. Katz believes, and interesting to the child as the customary American bedtime story.

He reported that the children grown to like the chats so much that they refuse to go to sleep unless the talk has been conducted. For "NotSoYoung" Women

For all the out-of-door sports that make autumn a season of sport and of black and white, it has a shawl collar and long ends reach to the hem of black seal.

The bedtime talks attempt to bring out the day's experiences of the children, said Dr. Katz, and that many experiences which the day can be discussed in the night.

Dr. Katz, who told the results of his experiments at the world conference of psychologists at Springfield, O., is the founder of the new German school on child psychology. He is considered Germany's greatest authority on the subject.

Dr. Katz and his wife talk with their two children every night in the "confessional hour" while the boys are lying on their bed ready for slumberland. "Three hundred such talks have been recorded word for word and analyzed by the German psychologist."

Dr. Louise Stanley Is Chief of the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture, Whose Influence for a Higher Standard of Farm Living Extends Into a Million Homes.

WASHINGTON.

THERE is an old story to the effect that the Pilgrim fathers don't deserve so much credit for braving the pioneering hardships. The real praise, the story points out, should go to the Pilgrim mothers because they endured the same hardships—and had to put up with the Pilgrim fathers as well.

Twenty-five or even 15 years ago, the story might have been paraphrased to apply to the American farmer and his wife. When crops were bad, money scarce, the farmhouse snowbound or mudbound, the children cross and the husband grumpy, the lot of a farmer's wife was considerably lacking in gaiety and leisure.

With the mechanization of the farm, however, which has made the farmer something of an engineer and a scientist, the wife has had an opportunity to keep pace with her husband. Improvements in farm management have been matched with improvements in the home, particularly in the kitchen, where the farm wife used to spend most of her waking hours.

In 1923 the Government recognized this condition and brought a measure of farm relief to the wife by establishing in the Department of Agriculture a Bureau of Home Economics. Dr. Louise Stanley, then dean of the home economics department at the University of Missouri, was made its chief. Her work in this field has established her as one of the notable women in Washington.

Dr. Stanley—she too her Ph. D. at Yale in 1911—has had one goal in mind in her governmental work: To raise the standards of farm living by a wise utilization of farm products. The Department of Agriculture estimates that her influence now extends into more than a million homes and is rapidly increasing.

SHE is eminently qualified for her responsible position both by early experience and later training. Born on a farm near Northfield, Minn., Dr. Stanley still retains the farm viewpoint. She was graduated from the University of Nashville and took her degree as Bachelor of Education at the University of Chicago in 1906. From Chicago she went to Columbia University, New York, where she received an M. A. degree for her work in chemistry.

In 1907 she went to the University of Missouri at Columbia as an instructor in home economics, and after going through the successive steps as assistant professor and associate professor, she was made dean of the department. "She took a leave of absence in 1909 to continue her work in physiological chemistry at Yale, and during another leave of absence after the war she acted as a special agent of the Federal Board of Vocational Training, studying home economics methods in the South and Pacific States. She is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Home Economics Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences, the Child Hygiene Association and the Association of University Professors.

With all of her many degrees, Dr. Stanley is decidedly not "high-brow," when she discusses the technical aspects of her work. Her aim is to help solve the problems of the farm wife and to explain the solutions in plain, every-day language. The solution of the problems may carry Dr. Stanley and her assistants into the higher realms of biochemistry, physics and mathematics, but the explanation, if they are to be understandable, must be understandable to the farm wife.

To carry on her research work, Dr. Stanley has transformed one of the old government buildings near the Union Station Plaza into a series of laboratories. There is an animal laboratory filled with hundreds of white rats and guinea pigs which are used in the food nutrition experiments. There are a chemistry laboratory to determine food composition, a model canning kitchen, a baking kitchen, a textile laboratory, a sewing room, an interior room, a washing machine room, an ironing room and a library, in addition to the usual administrative offices.

IN EACH of these laboratories, trained experts, usually women, many with Ph. D.'s, carry on delicate experiments with meats, vegetables, textiles, kitchen utensils, iceless refrigerators, washing machines. The results of their studies are incorporated into farmers' bulletins, circulars, leaflets, news releases and radio addresses.

The work of the Home Economics Bureau, although devoted primarily to the needs of the farm wife, really has a secondary function important to agriculture as a whole. This is to extend the use of American farm products. Since its establishment in 1923, the bureau has been experimenting with cotton textiles, first because the farm wife uses more cotton than silk, wool or linen, and again because cotton is an American crop and the wider its use, the more prosperous the cotton planter will be.

Shake Up Health.

WAKEFUL NIGHTS can be traced almost unfailingly to a too slow digestion of a heavy supper.

Nature, in its own peculiar way, has put into malt an element that quickens, or pre-digests food. It is known as diastase.

Therefore, to shake up a Loft Chocolate Malted Milk just before retiring is to insure sound, restful sleep and an abundance of energy for the next day.

For in this delicious drink you get pure malted milk—and this food-dissolving diastase—plus the known values of pure milk which offset your daily fare lacks.

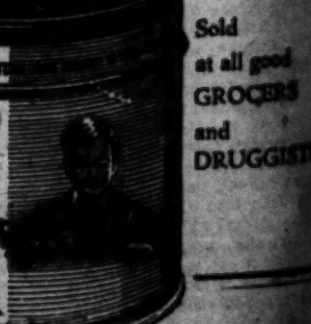

Try it! Get a tin of Loft Chocolate Malted Milk at your grocer's—mix and shake as directed—and drink piping hot or cold as desired.

be. The bureau is showing the American housewife how attractive cotton goods can be made, for clothes and home decoration, and is co-operating with the manufacturers to produce the kind of product the housewife will use.

As the bureau has been gradually enlarged, other studies have been started. Experts are now studying why the American housewife seems to prefer Japanese rice and imported almonds to the American products, why American lentils are discriminated against and even why many children balk at eating spinach and other fresh vegetables.

DOCTOR STANLEY has been successful in getting the co-operation of the "trade" that supplies the farmwife with products. One large room of the Home Economics building is filled with various brands of iceboxes and refrigeration machines. Another is filled with washing and ironing machines. A third has the most modern canning equipment. Most of the appliances have been furnished by the manufacturers.

It is a great delight to Doctor Stanley to explain what her bureau is doing. In her capacity as chief of the bureau, she must know the fundamental problem of each experiment and study.

"Here is where we conduct our experiments to see what is the most economical form of refrigeration," she told the writer as she took him through the Home Economics Building. "Some of the iceboxes were filled with ice, some are half full, others only a third. We are trying to find out which way is the most economical. That is something that even the trade doesn't know. We are making comparisons between the iceboxes and the iceless refrigerators. When the experiments are finished, we shall know which type is the most economical in the long run for the average housewife.

"With the iceless refrigerators we have another problem. We are getting reports that some of the desserts won't freeze as they are supposed to do. We are experimenting with various products to ascertain their freezing points, using varying amounts of cane and beet sugar and honey. This is a problem that has become important during the last few years. Our physicists in the Agriculture Department didn't have the answer when we asked for it. That is the reason we are doing this research work."

STEPPING into the steaming washing machine room, Dr. Stanley pointed out that the competent-looking young woman sitting beside a widely advertised product couldn't be introduced because she was too busy with a stop watch and a chart. The young expert was ascertaining the effect of overboiling on cotton textiles. In another room textiles were being subjected to artificial sunlight to learn about their color-retaining properties. Close by was a complicated machine to test the strength of various fabrics.

The Jewel of Consistency

By Lucy Lowell.

CHANGE your mind if doing this means fuller expression of yourself to you. Do not hang stubbornly to consistency; do not fear the charge of fickleness.

For it is inevitable that the viewpoint should shift with experience and development of the mind. What pleased you at 20 might seem wholly unpleasing at 30. Your belief at 30 might be your disbelief at 35.

Nor does this changing of thought ideals and ambitions mean vacillating character. Your character is you; it should not be shut away from the chance to grow by a vain clinging to outworn beliefs.

"A foolish consistency," says Emerson, "is the hobgoblin of little minds." With consistency a great soul has simply nothing to do. He may as well concern himself with the shadow on the wall. Out upon your guarded lips! Else, if you would be a man, speak what you think today in words as hard as cannon balls, and tomorrow speak what tomorrow you think in hard words again, though it contradict everything you said today.

"Ah, then," exclaim the aged ladies, "you shall be sure to be misunderstood!" Misunderstood! It is a right fool's word. Is it so bad, then, to be misunderstood? Pythagoras was misunderstood, and Socrates and Jesus and Luther and Copernicus and Galileo and Newton, and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood.

I suppose no man can violate his nature. All the sallies of his will are rounded in by the law of his being as the inequalities of Andes and Himalaya are insignificant in the curve of the sphere. A character is like an acoustic; read it forward, backward or across, it still spells the same thing.

Fear never but you shall be consistent in whatever variety of actions, so they be each honest and natural in their hour. For of one will the actions will be harmonious, however unlike they seem.

Your conformity explains nothing. Act singly, and what you have already done singly will justify you now.

growing young girl should wear. Dr. Stanley emphasizes that the activities of the Home Economics Bureau are in nowise "paternalistic," or, as it might more properly be called in this instance, "maternalistic."

She points out that there is nothing compulsory about the suggestions made by her bureau. Direct requests from farm women come to her office with an average of 150 letters a day. She says that there is no accurate way in which to check up the effects of the bureau's work and that its success must be tested by the reports of county agricultural agents, volunteer observers and grateful letters of appreciation from farm women.

Dr. Stanley said that there had been some criticisms by newspapers to the effect that her bureau was "paternalistic," and she is proud of an editorial from a Boston paper, which, after commenting about a news release on school lunches, concluded, "If this is paternalism, we want more of it."

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The Luck of Mrs. Peter.

It nothing takes from grit and pluck To say there's such a thing as luck. —Old Mother Nature.

WHEN little Mrs. Peter stamped the danger signal up there in a clover patch in the Old Pasture, things happened. They happened with great suddenness and some unexpectedness. That signal was to warn Mrs. Peter, the modest young rabbit of whom Mrs. Peter had become so fond. Now, Mrs. Peter showed at once that her training had been of the very best. When that danger signal was stamped, she didn't wait to find out what the danger was or where it was. She bounded away at full speed, lipperty-lipperty-lip, straight for the protection of the nearest bushes.

Now, like all rabbits, Mrs. Peter could look behind her as she ran. She rolled her eyes back now. She saw Mrs. Peter going at full jump for the bushes on the other side of the open place and she saw Reddy Fox leaping to his feet and bounding after Mrs. Peter. You see, Reddy had understood that danger signal just as well as she had. Because Mrs. Peter was nearest him and also because of a was headed toward her, he bounded after her. Now, Mrs. Peter had done a very brave thing, for even though she reached the bushes ahead of Reddy Fox, she would still have to do some smart dodging before she could reach a bramble-tangle. She is a good dodger, but so is Reddy Fox. So you see it really was a very brave thing that Mrs. Peter had done.

Some people think there is no such thing as luck. Perhaps there isn't, but it certainly looks as if there is sometimes. When Mrs. Peter thumped that loud, hard thump with her hind feet, she didn't know that she was right over a yellowjacket's nest. She was so intent on watching Reddy Fox and on planning her escape that she didn't notice the yellowjackets going in and out of a hole in the ground close by her. So when she thumped and ran she was quite innocent of any intention of disturbing those yellowjackets.

But she did disturb them. In fact, she made them very angry. They came pouring out of the little hole in the ground just as Reddy Fox reached that spot. They were angry as only yellowjackets can be. They promptly blamed Reddy for disturbing their nest and they didn't take time to talk the matter over. One landed right on the end of Reddy's nose and Reddy almost turned a somersault as he yelped with pain and suddenly rubbed his nose on the ground.

Meanwhile, others were whirling about Reddy's head and stinging whenever they got a chance. My, my, my! such a lively time as there was right out there in the Old Pasture. Reddy knew just what the trouble was. He had had experience before. He pushed his face

Place for Books In Living Room

HOW books make a living room more attractive is shown in the October issue of McCall's. Both the city apartment and the California villa are described in the following examples:

"In the living-room of most city apartments there is apt to be at least one long blank wall. Why not use it for books? If it seems inadvisable to build permanent shelves, sectional bookcases of good design with or without glass doors, fill the space admirably and provide a background for the reader's easy chair.

"A California living-room has a recess partially fitted with shelves painted a Chinese red and serves not only as a book case, but provides a gay decorative note. Another suggestion would be to tint the plaster back wall and sides of the recess red, Adam green or robin's egg blue to contrast with the walls which are a pale gold color.

"The corner beside the fireplace is a favorite place for books. Shelves fitted into the recess of the chimney jamb can be treated architecturally—paneled in wood, to appear like part of the mantel decoration even when the other walls of the room are plastered or papered."

WOULD END WAR BY GOOD WILL INSTEAD OF GUNS

World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches Opens Its Congress.

PLAN IS CHRISTIAN BUT NOT SECTARIAN

The Rev. W. P. Merrill of New York, President, So Defines It in First Address of Session.

The World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches opened its Good Will Congress at Hotel Chase this afternoon. The sessions to continue through Friday. Several hundred delegates are here for the gathering.

The president of the Alliance, the Rev. Dr. William P. Merrill of New York, in his opening address, said that co-operation and conference are good in themselves, aside from the results attained; that co-operation is "in itself a power, possessing a sort of sacramental grace." The World Alliance, he hoped, may "provide the oil of good comradeship for various vehicles that bear humanity onward toward the goal of natural and permanent peace."

Dr. Merrill said the movement was a religious one, and that he must emphasize this point, even at the risk of being misunderstood. "This movement is not and cannot be Christian in any theological or technical sense," he said. "But it is and must be Christian in that it confidently identifies its spirit and aim with the spirit and aim of Jesus and of His church, in its highest and noblest moments. We are happy when friends from the Hebrew faith come and work with us. But we know that they are with us when we say that we confidently fly the banner of the Messiah of Jesus and the prophets, and that when we sound the note of Christian faith and the Christian spirit, we shall not use the word 'pedal.' We are and must be a movement that works 'through the churches' in the spirit of religious faith and devotion."

Good Will Instead of Guns.

Dr. Frederick Lynch, educational secretary of the Alliance, said: "There has been a feverish endeavor on the part of various defense groups and so-called patriotic societies to discredit all attempt to supplant war by peaceable methods of settling disputes, and all attempt to find a security based on judicial process and good will instead of guns. This endeavor has been so frenzied that some of the groups have published lists of organizations which are endeavoring to subvert the Government and sell it out to the bolsheviks, and they have included the churches and pretty nearly every organization in the country engaged in any religious or social work. The Federal Council of Churches is in the group, as well as the Church Peace Union and the World Alliance. The Trustees of the Church Union include Taft, Morganthau, Bishop Brent and Archbishop Glennon. It is interesting to learn that in the judgment of the militarists these men are secretly at work undermining the United States Government."

"But every other statement of these groups is just as silly. Practically everybody who does not believe that God has based his world on guns is taboo to them. If your name is not in their list I am afraid you have not yet got beyond that stage where men believe that the chief and normal outdoor sport of men is war. I am not greatly worried by the movement. It will defeat itself by its own stupidity, and perhaps it is encouraging as being a sign that the movement to banish war from the earth has really assumed such headway that its champions are thoroughly scared."

The Movement in Europe.

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary of the World Alliance, told in his report of work done in European countries. The organization is being extended to South America, through formation of new councils in Brazil, Argentina and Chile. In Norway, he related, a conference for the Scandinavian countries was held, and it was supposed that these countries were free from perplexing hostilities. But it was learned that there was a serious difficulty in Finland over the question of using the Swedish language. The conference took steps to ease this situation.

Another conference was held in Sofia, Bulgaria, early in October, when high tension had been created by the killing of a Serbian of-
